One Second of History.
Alas, Poor Bears!
Not How Big, But WHAT?
Big Texas, Big Wells.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(Copyright, 1927.)

THE earth turns around once, that's another second in history, and the newspaper, Schopenhauer's "second-hand of history," reports as follows:

Thirty insurance companies will insure people in the air, fliers, pilots, passengers. The price is excessive now. Soon there will be no additional risk in flying, which will be safer than railroad travel.

A VIENNA surgeon restores speech to John Emerson, husband of Anita Loos, after twenty-nine doctors in three American cities had failed. The same doctor cured Miss Loos' headaches.

THREE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS is bid for a New York Stock Exchange seat. The price moved up $120,000 this year, only a beginning.

Stock Exchange seats go up with stock prices. The public is always a bull.

Poor Wall Street bears!

VIRGIL JORDAN, chief economist of the National Industrial Conference Board, tells the Railway Business Association:

"A great industrial boom is coming that will make 1925 and 1926 look like a depression.

"Business expansion in 1928 and later will strain our transportation facilities and credit resources to the limit, and put the powers of the Federal Reserve system to a real test."

The average citizen will say:

"Amen, let the expansion expand."

NOT how big are you but WHAT are you is the question as proved by Napoleon Bonaparte.

In Belgium yesterday prime ministers, French senators and deputy-generals accompanied to the University of Lille a 6 foot 4 French grenadier carrying a burden weighing one-fortieth of an ounce. It was a little glass tube containing a particle of radium.

OUR descendants are more interested in radium than we, for this earth's predicted life of several hundred millions of years depends on the sun's radio activity. No radium, no sun heat or light, a few millions years hence.

TEXAS, so big you could lose European nations in a corner of it, produces an oil well worthy of Texas, spouting 65,880 barrels a day.

AMERICAN business reaches out. The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company undertakes group insurance in Great Britain on a gigantic scale.

JUDGE T. N. GREEN, of Illinois, says "Those that advocate putting poison into liquors deserve the electric chair," sentencing a man to fifteen years in jail for killing a boy while drunk on "moonshine."

What about bootleggers that sell whisky poisoned with wood alcohol making men commit murders, scarcely knowing what they do? What should be done to these bootleggers?

NEW YORK'S Zoo monkeys will look at a moving picture, showing a gorilla moving about among human beings. The idea is to watch the monkeys and see if they notice any difference between the men and the gorilla—an evolution experiment.

One thing is certain. The smaller monkeys would object to being told that either men or gorillas are their relatives. And the smaller the monkey, the more violently he would object.

HANS LANGSETH, who died at eighty-two with a beard seventeen feet long, had claimed the world's long beard championship. He did something better than anybody else, yet no one made "a beaten path to his door" on this earth.

However, when Gabriel calls us all, his beard, longer than anybody's, will probably attract attention and amaze the beardless angels.

MAN, queer animal, is strangely indifferent to the welfare of his body "fearfully and wonderfully made." A student at Maryland University, to settle arguments about tobacco, smoked cigars steadily for eight hours and made himself seriously ill. Had you asked him to run his automobile steadily for eight hours without oil he would have said: "I am not crazy; I take care of a good machine.

GOV. SMITH proposes for New York a gasoline tax to build roads. California and other intelligent states have that tax. Those that use the roads should pay for them. They save the tax in diminished automobile and tire wear.

GARDNER PROBES FAKE

Prosecution of Citizens League investigators—whose admissions of faking evidence were made public last night by the league, together with a notice that it would drop all its vice cases—depended today on decisions to be made by District Attorney Samuel Gardner and Federal District Attorney John D. Meyer. The league itself does not intend to prosecute W. L. King, ex-director, or Abe Weinberg and Sol Rosenberg, investigators, so far as Ralph H. Smith, league counsel, who informed the organization of the faulty evidence, is aware.

The faking, according to confession statements of King and several of his Pittsburgh investigators, was the representation of whisky purchased elsewhere as samples of "buys" made in resorts which had

Here's How King "Cleaned Up" in Pittsburgh

Outstanding features in the debacle of 100 prosecutions filed by the Citizens League against alleged bootleggers, gamblers and resort keepers are:

Abe Weinberg, star league investigator, perjured himself when he swore to liquor "buys" at various resorts, and that he added to this perjury by initialing faked labels later pasted on liquor bottles purchased by other league investigators, at the request of William L. King, resigned director of the league.

That Sol Rosenberg filled out the faked labels in the presence of King, Ralph W. Kemmerling and A. E. Morgan, league investigators.

That King turned this faked evidence over to federal prohibition officials for use in prosecutions.

That, on the recommendation of Ralph H. Smith, attorney for the league, and with the approval of District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner and United States District Attorney John D. Meyer, every case against the alleged resort keepers filed by the league will be nolle prossed as a result of these disclosures.

Gas-Blast Victim Fined $100 for Having Liquor

Felix Semask, 37, of 1267 Ridge avenue, gas-blast victim, was routed out of bed this morning to hear Magistrate E. M. Hough say "$100 fine." Arrested yesterday in his saloon when police confiscated a pint of liquor, Semask furnished bail and failed to appear for a hearing today. An officer cut short his slumbers and produced him in court. Semask exhibited his blast wounds to the magistrate, but the wounds did not lessen the fine.

Lost New Home

BUT THEY ARE NOT WORRIED

Moving from a ruined home in the gas blast district, Henry and Jack Dapper, 9 and 8, respectively, started out today with "Daddy" to get light globes, got separated and couldn't find their way to their new home. Their mother and a baby brother are explosion victims in a hospital. They read the comics while waiting for Howard Dapper, father, to call for them at Allegheny Police Station.

SHOT FELLS BURGLAR IN HOME

William Logan or William Lowe, a Negro, of 10 Formosa way, his body riddled with shot, is near death in the Pittsburgh Hospital from shotgun wounds suffered early this morning when he was blown from a second-story window through which it is alleged he was attempting to enter the home of Orlando Alucino, 507 McDonald street, East Liberty.

Awakened in his bedroom by a noise, Aulicino saw the form of a man entering the room through the window. He challenged the Negro and when he received no reply, discharged both barrels of a shotgun and the intruder fell backward to the ground below. The Negro had one foot in the room at the time he was shot.

Aulicino called police, who removed Lowe to the Pittsburgh Hospital. The left side of his jaw is shot away and he is suffering from fractures of the left leg and right ankle.

ALL BUT TWO OF BLAST VICTIMS BELIEVED FOUND

All but two bodies in the fatal North Side gas tank disaster have been recovered, it is believed by Coroner W. J. McGregor, Equitable Gas Company officials and state investigators, who made a close inspection of the ruins in a downpour of rain this morning.

The two victims of whom no trace has been found are Riter-Conley Company men who were working on the big tank when the explosion occurred. It is believed they were either blown to bits; blown into the Ohio River or entangled in the twisted mass of steel wreckage which is still being explored.

ONLY SEVEN MISSING

All of the Pittsburgh Clay Pot Company employes have been accounted for but seven. Men who escaped without harm or with minor injuries have been reporting to company officials the last two days until the list of 32 missing Tuesday has dropped to the present total. Home addresses of the men still unaccounted for have been turned over to police and efforts are being made to ascertain if they are all right.

Frank F. Schauer, general service manager of the Philadelphia Company, escorted the official inspection party through the Clay Pot Company ruins and the Equitable property this morning in a heavy downpour. Coroner McGregor, accompanied by two assistants; W. A. Allison, gas engineer of the Pennsylvania Public Service Commission; John S. Spicer, of the State Department of Labor; A. P. Huckenstein, supervising inspector of the Department of Labor; Charles E. Green, inspector of the Department of Labor, and A. J. Gleason, of the Riter-Conley Company, composed the inspection party.

They delved into every possible hole in the lower part of the Clay Pot Company, where it was feared as many as 30 bodies might be uncovered, and they went down into the cellar where two men were found,

4th Dying In Strange Poisoning

BALTIMORE, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—To the cycle of death in which a druggist, his wife and their best friend yielded to a powerful and mysterious poison, police today believed a fourth victim would be joined.

Coroner Horton, in announcing an investigation of the fourth strange death was under way, said the victim—a man whose name was not revealed—frequented the drug store several nights each week.

Mrs. Helen McCloskey Curran, wife of the druggist, and first victim, died on Monday night. Albert A. Curran, her husband, fell into convulsions from which he never rallied Tuesday night.

Near him, in the store, stood Merril Stevens, the friend, who had seen the druggist drain a colored liquid from a wine glass, and to whom Curran had administered some drug for a cold.

2d Respite Granted Winter

HARRISBURG, Nov. 17.—(INS.)—Gov. John S. Fisher today issued a respite for Raymond Winter, Allegheny county slayer, staying execution from November 28 to January 9. The respite was issued to permit the board of pardons to make a further investigation of his sanity.

The Winter appeal was considered at the September meeting of the board and since that time has been held under advisement.

CHURCH TO TEACH DANCING

Pittsburgh boasts a church which will conduct a dancing school.

St. Peter's Protestant Episcopal, Forbes street at Craft avenue, will hereafter be the gathering place on Friday evening of all the young people in the neighborhood, to learn all the latest dances under the instruction of "competent professional teachers."

Rev. Waldo Amos, rector, made this announcement today. He said that it is part of the parish program of "making the church interesting for the young people." Nominal charges, to defray cost of the orchestra and instructors, will be met by membership dues in the "Friday Evening Club".

The church choir, 18 members, will have dinner in the parish house tonight and will, in a body, attend this evening's performance of "The Spider" at the Pitt Theater.

"The church owes a duty of providing clean entertainment to the community," Rev. Amos said, "and our dancing school is part of our program. We believe it will be popular."

Today's Disclosures

Direct connection between the Bolshevist governments of Russia and Mexico is established for the first time today in the fourth article of the series now being published in The Sun-Telegraph, revealing secret anti-American activities of the Mexican government.

Today's article, based on original documents taken from the most carefully guarded files of the Mexican executive and published textually and in facsimile, show:

That on Armistice Day, November 11, 1926, President Calles paid $25,000 to the Russian legation in Mexico City to defray expenses for Communist propaganda to be conducted under direction of the legation.

That Calles ordered no receipt should be required for the delivery of this money and no entry of it be made on the government's books.

That the Mexican government teaches communism in their public schools.

That on December 15, 1926, Calles ordered $5,000 be given secretly to Pablo Palovichi, a Communist propaganda expert connected with the Russian legation, for the printing of propaganda-filled text books for Mexican children.

That on January 5, 1926, Calles ordered paid to this same Palovichi $25,000 to conduct a propaganda campaign among the Indians of Guatemala.

These disclosures will be continued in tomorrow's Sun-Telegraph.

Ban Strikers' Singing

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., Nov. 17.—The most drastic injunction ever handed down by a court in this state was given by Judge Langham of Indiana county against the union miners of Rossiter and is now in effect. The injunction was asked by the Clearfield Bituminous Coal and Coke Corporation.

It prevents miners from interfering with men going to and from work in any manner. The union must not post signs warning incoming miners that there is a strike at the Rossiter mine or speak to them in such a manner as to deter them from going to their work.

Picketing is forbidden and the miners are restrained from singing. In fact the slightest sign of intent to interfere with the men is prohibited.

Philip Murray, international vice president of the United Mine Workers of America, on his return from Harrisburg today, would not comment on the injunction.

Murray, together with William Green, of the American Federation of Labor, yesterday visited Gov. John S. Fisher and laid before him many instances of the alleged misuse of power of the state coal and iron police in the present conflict. This was done at the direction of the meeting of the federation held here Tuesday. The same committee will visit President Coolidge in Washington Monday morning.

The local leader remarked that the outcome of the conference with the Governor was about as expected; that plans are under way in Western Pennsylvania to carry out the action of the federation in organizing the unorganized coal fields, but that for the present he had nothing to say regarding the future course of the miners' organization.

COMMUNIST BOOKS FOR SCHOOLS BOUGHT

Anti-American Propaganda Further Disclosed in Documents Held By Hearst Papers.

By JOHN PAGE

(Copyright, 1927, by The Washington Herald.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—The secret conspiracy existing between the governments of Russia and Mexico to convert the Mexican and Central American people to Communism and set up a Bolshevist stronghold next door to the United States is exposed by the Hearst newspapers today.

The Hearst papers are fortunate in having conclusive proof of the existence of this conspiracy in the form of official documents bearing the signature of P. Elias Calles, President of Mexico.

These documents include an order issued by the Mexican executive on his Treasury Department, directing the payment of money to the Russian Soviet legation in Mexico City for the specific purpose of conducting Communist propaganda, and another order for money with which to print school books filled with propaganda, for distribution in Mexican "Communist Schools for the Young."

Proof at Last

This is the sort of proof demanded by Senators and others during the Mexican-American controversy over Nicaragua last winter, but which the State Department could not supply, though it knew very well what was going on in Mexico.

This campaign of pro-Bolshevist propaganda was undertaken by President Calles, with the close co-operation of the Russian government, in order to win the support of his own people and of Central Americans generally for the Liberal revolutionary movement in Nicaragua, headed by Dr. Juan Bautista Sacasa, a Calles tool. The object of this movement, explained in the preceding articles of this series, was the overthrow of the Conservative Nicaraguan government, which was friendly to the United States and favored early American construction of the proposed transcontinental canal.

$25,000 to Aid Reds

While Armistice Day was being celebrated by millions of Americans on November 11, 1926, President Calles was ordering his Treasury Department to pay the sum of 50,000 pesos ($25,000 in American money) over to Pablo Palovichi "for Communist propaganda, expenses directed by Mr. A. B., secretary of the Russian Legation in Mexico."

The original order is in the possession of the Hearst papers and is reproduced in fac-simile elsewhere in the Sun-Telegraph, with its translation. The English text follows:

To the Citizen Secretary of the Treasury and Public Credit:

You will please direct the Citizen Treasurer General of the Nation to order the issuance of a pay-warrant in favor of Pablo Palovichi, for the sum of fifty thousand pesos, national gold ($25,000), for Communist propaganda expenses directed by Mr. A. B., Secretary of the Russian Legation in Mexico.

Order that this sum be paid in gold by the Bank of Mexico, without the usual signed receipts, and that no entry of this payment be made on the books of the Controller's Department.

Secrecy!

The reproduction of this original document must command the attention of the people of many nations. Americans are most vitally concerned, for it is proof of the efforts of the Chief Executive of the next-door neighbor of the United States, to convert his own people to the Russian brand of Communism, with the direct co-operation of the Russian Soviet Legation.

President Calles, it will be noted, ordered that even more than the usual precautions to maintain the secrecy of this payment be observed, going so far as to direct that no entry of it should be made on the books of the Controller General.

American officials in Mexico City frequently have wondered why the Russian Legation found it necessary to maintain a larger staff in the Mexican capital than has been maintained by the United States or any other nation of the world. They have suspected that the large staff, composed of regularly listed attaches and unlisted employes of various categories, was engaged in the propagation of Communist Doctrine, not only in Mexico but in Central America, Venezuela, Columbia, Cuba, Porto Rico and the United States, but proof has been lacking. The first tangible evidence of such activities, which the United States cannot regard without disquietude, is that published in The Sun-Telegraph today.

The Russian Legation in Mexico City conducts its Communistic propaganda campaign skillfully, invading every avenue available.

Free Love!

Following are some of the methods used:

Free love is advocated.

Religion is attacked.

Strikes are fomented.

Russian agitators are taught Spanish, to enable them to address Mexican labor gatherings.

Mexicans of radical tendencies are instructed in oratory and Communist doctrine.

Weekly and monthly pamphlets of ultra-radical type are subsidized.

Social gatherings are held almost nightly at which the hand-picked guests, with champagne-heated imaginations, never fail to pluck a few feathers from the American Eagle's tail.

A night restaurant is maintained, where revelers make easy conquests of attractive women who rob them, not of money, but of secret and sometimes valuable information. Men not suspected of knowing anything are not so fortunate with the female habitues of this place.

President Calles and his Secretary of Education, Jose Manuel Puig Casaurane, are paying much attention to the teaching of Mexico's school children, taking care that they are taught the tenets of Bolshevism while their minds are yet in a plastic condition.

Lenin Made Idol

While American school children are reading of Washington and Lincoln, those of Mexico are told of the beautiful lives and examples of Lenin and "Red Rosa" Luxembourg. A kindergarten and grammar school reader containing idealized accounts of the careers of these and a dozen other ultra-radical men and women has the official approval of the Mexican Department of Education and is published with Mexican government funds.

Many Mexican institutions of learning are hotbeds of Communism and their number is increasing, as teachers of conservative tendencies are being forced from their positions by the simple expedient of withholding their salaries until they are starved out.

The Mexican Students' Communist Association has the benevolent approval of the government and extended a warm welcome to Madam Kollontay, the Russian Ambassadress, upon her arrival in Mexico.

Direct proof that the Mexican government is teaching Communism to its school children is contained in a document in the possession of the Hearst papers. It is an order issued by President Calles on his Treasury Department for $5,000 to be paid to Pablo Palovichi for "expenses in the printing of books of Socialist Propaganda for the Communist Schools for the Young," of Mexico City.

The order is published in facsimile elsewhere in these columns. The English text follows:

Dr. Gustave Petrovichi, one of the propagandists imported from Soviet Russia by the Mexican government, did such effective work among the adolescents and adults of Mexico during 1926 that he was sent into the neighboring republics of Gautemala by Calles on a similar errand early this year. Reports from Guatemala City are that Petrovichi made many converts to Communism among the Indians in the Peten district.

The Mexican Executive's order on the Treasury Department for funds to finance Petrovichi's propaganda trip was unusually liberal, even for Calles. Twenty-five thousand dollars was the sum provided. The original order is reproduced photographically elsewhere in these columns, the English text follows:

To the Secretary of the Treasury and Public Credit:

MEXICANS DENY, AS EXPECTED

(The Sun-Telegraph herewith publishes various dispatches giving the expected denials of the facts, supported by authentic and official documents, which are being brought out from day to day by this newspaper.)

By JENARO ESTRADA,
Acting Secretary of Foreign Relations of Mexico.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 17.—The publication in the Washington Herald of certain documents on activities of Mexico in recent Nicaraguan case has aims calculate scandal and are inopportune. They are scandalous because these papers were manufactured some months ago and an attempt was made to blackmail the Mexican government with them.

These papers were offered to our consulate in Los Angeles on August 24 through a Dr. Cutberto Hidalgo for the sum of $25,000. Instructions were given to our consul, even before the contents of the papers were known, because of the certainty of their lack of authenticity, to reject the offer and make clear to the would-be salesman that the Mexican government was not interested in them and had no objection to whether they were published or not.

The apocriphal documents are the same, which, after a few months, and after blackmail schemes had failed, are now being published by some American papers. Publication was inopportune because it was merely intended to hamper agreements which the governments of Mexico and the United States may arrive at on questions now pending.

By International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—The Mexican embassy here made public a statement from the foreign office, in Mexico, saying that revelations now being published in the Washington Herald and other Hearst newspapers are false.

The statement declares the documents are forgeries and were at one time offered for sale to the Mexican consulate in Los Angeles.

The statement follows:

"The publicity given to the fake documents regarding Mexican activity in the recent case of Nicaragua is nothing but shameful opportunism.

"It is shameful because those are the very same faked documents with which certain parties tried to blackmail the government of Mexico.

"They were offered for sale for $25,000 to our consulate in Los Angeles, August 24, last, through Dr. Cuthberto Hidalgo; and even before knowing the text of the documents, so sure were we of their lack of authenticity that our consul was ordered to refuse the offer and to inform the sellers that the Mexican government was not interested in them, nor did it care whether they were published or not.

"Now, some American newspapers are publishing these very faked documents, after some months have elapsed, the blackmail having proved a failure.

"The shameful opportunism of this publicity clearly aims to hinder an accord between the two governments in matters at present under negotiation."

Robbers Hit Hill Top

An automobile tour of the Mt. Washington district was conducted yesterday by burglars. Five houses were robbed within two hours. Jewelry, clothing and furs totaling approximately $1,500 were stolen.

The places reported entered, according to a report to detectives, were the residences of Mrs. Minnie Kelly, 335 Grace street; Richard Gibson, 617 Andeley street; Roos Lewis, 120 Dilworth street; George Houston, 431 Augusta street, and John McGinley, 5841 Carnegie avenue.

Burglars also entered the residence of Mrs. Della Walker, 7 Wilkinsburg avenue, and took jewelry and clothing valued at $350.

Dr. U. F. Rohm, 836 Washington avenue, was awakened by the flashlight of a Negro burglar early yesterday and ordered to turn over his money. The physician complied and the Negro escaped with $100 in cash.

Sam Dang, a Chinese laundryman of 3565 Butler street, was bound and robbed of $80 in his laundry by four Chinese youths yesterday. They then tried to open a trunk containing the bulk of Dang's money, but fled when a customer entered the laundry.

treatment. Leaving the hospital with the statement that he felt "all right," he was seized with convulsions last night and died 10 minutes later. Police believe he knew he had been poisoned.

Dr. Maldeis, city post-mortem physician, said in the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Curran showed no traces of alcohol.

These deaths came after 10 deaths in two weeks in the city in which alcoholism had played a part. Police seized alleged liquor and alcohol with coloring matter in the drug store.

Splendor Dominates at Mellon-Scaife Wedding

THE DINING HALL

CLOSEUP OF THE BRIDE

SETTING FOR BRIDE'S TABLE

IN WEDDING GARB

SOCIETY'S LEADERS ATTEND

By MADELINE YOUNG LOVE

There have been weddings and weddings in Pittsburgh, but never, I am sure, has there been one to equal in exotic beauty that at which Sarah Mellon became the bride of Alan Scaife last night in the East Liberty Presbyterian Church. The Richard Beatty Mellons provided for their only daughter's marriage a setting that swung from the severe simplicity of the church decorations to the gorgeous medievalism of the marquee where the reception was held.

At the church a drapery of orchid velvet hid the choir loft from view and against it was shadowed a huge cross. The prie dieu was covered with cloth of gold, over which an ermine robe had been flung, and the bride and bridegroom knelt before it on a cloth of gold cushion. Huge standards of white chrysanthemums against a background of magnolia leaves were the only floral decorations used.

ORANGE AND GOLD DOMINATE

Sarah has always had a predilection for the varying shades of orange and gold, and she carried out that idea in the gowns of her attendants. The bridesmaids were all dressed alike in transparent velvet of coral orange, with draped skirts and long, wing-like drapes falling from the shoulders. With these frocks they wore small, close-fitting hats in a deeper shade of the orange, and their slippers were in a matching color. They carried huge bouquets of orange and bronze pompoms, chrysanthemums and yellow daisies. The maid of honor wore a gown made in a similar fashion, but in a deeper shade of the coral orange—the same color, in fact, as the bridesmaids' hats. She, of course, wore a hat of the same shade and carried chrysanthemums and pompoms to match.

Eleanor Chalfant, as you recall, was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Anna Knevals Childs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Howe Childs, of Fifth avenue; Mrs. Charles Denby, Jr., of Philadelphia, who is, you know, the daughter of Senator and Mrs. David Aiken Reed, and was, herself, a bride last February; Mrs. C. A. Griscom III, also of Philadelphia; Margaret C. Perkins, of New York, who made her debut in Pittsburgh about two years ago; Mrs. Carnes Weeks, of New York, the former Margaret Shoemaker, daughter of the Charles Sumner Shoemaker, of Termon avenue, and Mrs. Austin Dunham, of Hartford, Conn.

BRIDE WEARS WHITE SATIN

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and she had chosen white satin for her wedding gown. The dress was made in straight-line effect with an uneven hem line, short in front and sloping down in back. The neck-line was embroidered in pearls and the same embroidery decorated the bodice. The long, full court train of satin was edged with rose poitn lace, and over it fell the tulle veil, also edged with the lace, and caught at the head with a coronet of pearls. She carried an armful of orchids, white bouvardia and lilies of the valley.

James Verner Scaife was his brother's best man and the ushers included Benjamin Franklin Jones III, Walton Scully, Moorhead B. Holland, Thomas M. Jones III, A. Rex Flinn, Richard K. Mellon, John Ricketson III and Malcolm McGiffen, of Pittsburgh; Thomas Symington, of Baltimore; Lawrence Jones, of Louisville; Dr. Carnes Weeks, of New York, and Paul Mellon, of Washington, cousin of the bride.

At the house, the wedding supper was served in the marquee and was followed by a ball. The bridal table was placed in the crystal room of the marquee, and was in triangular

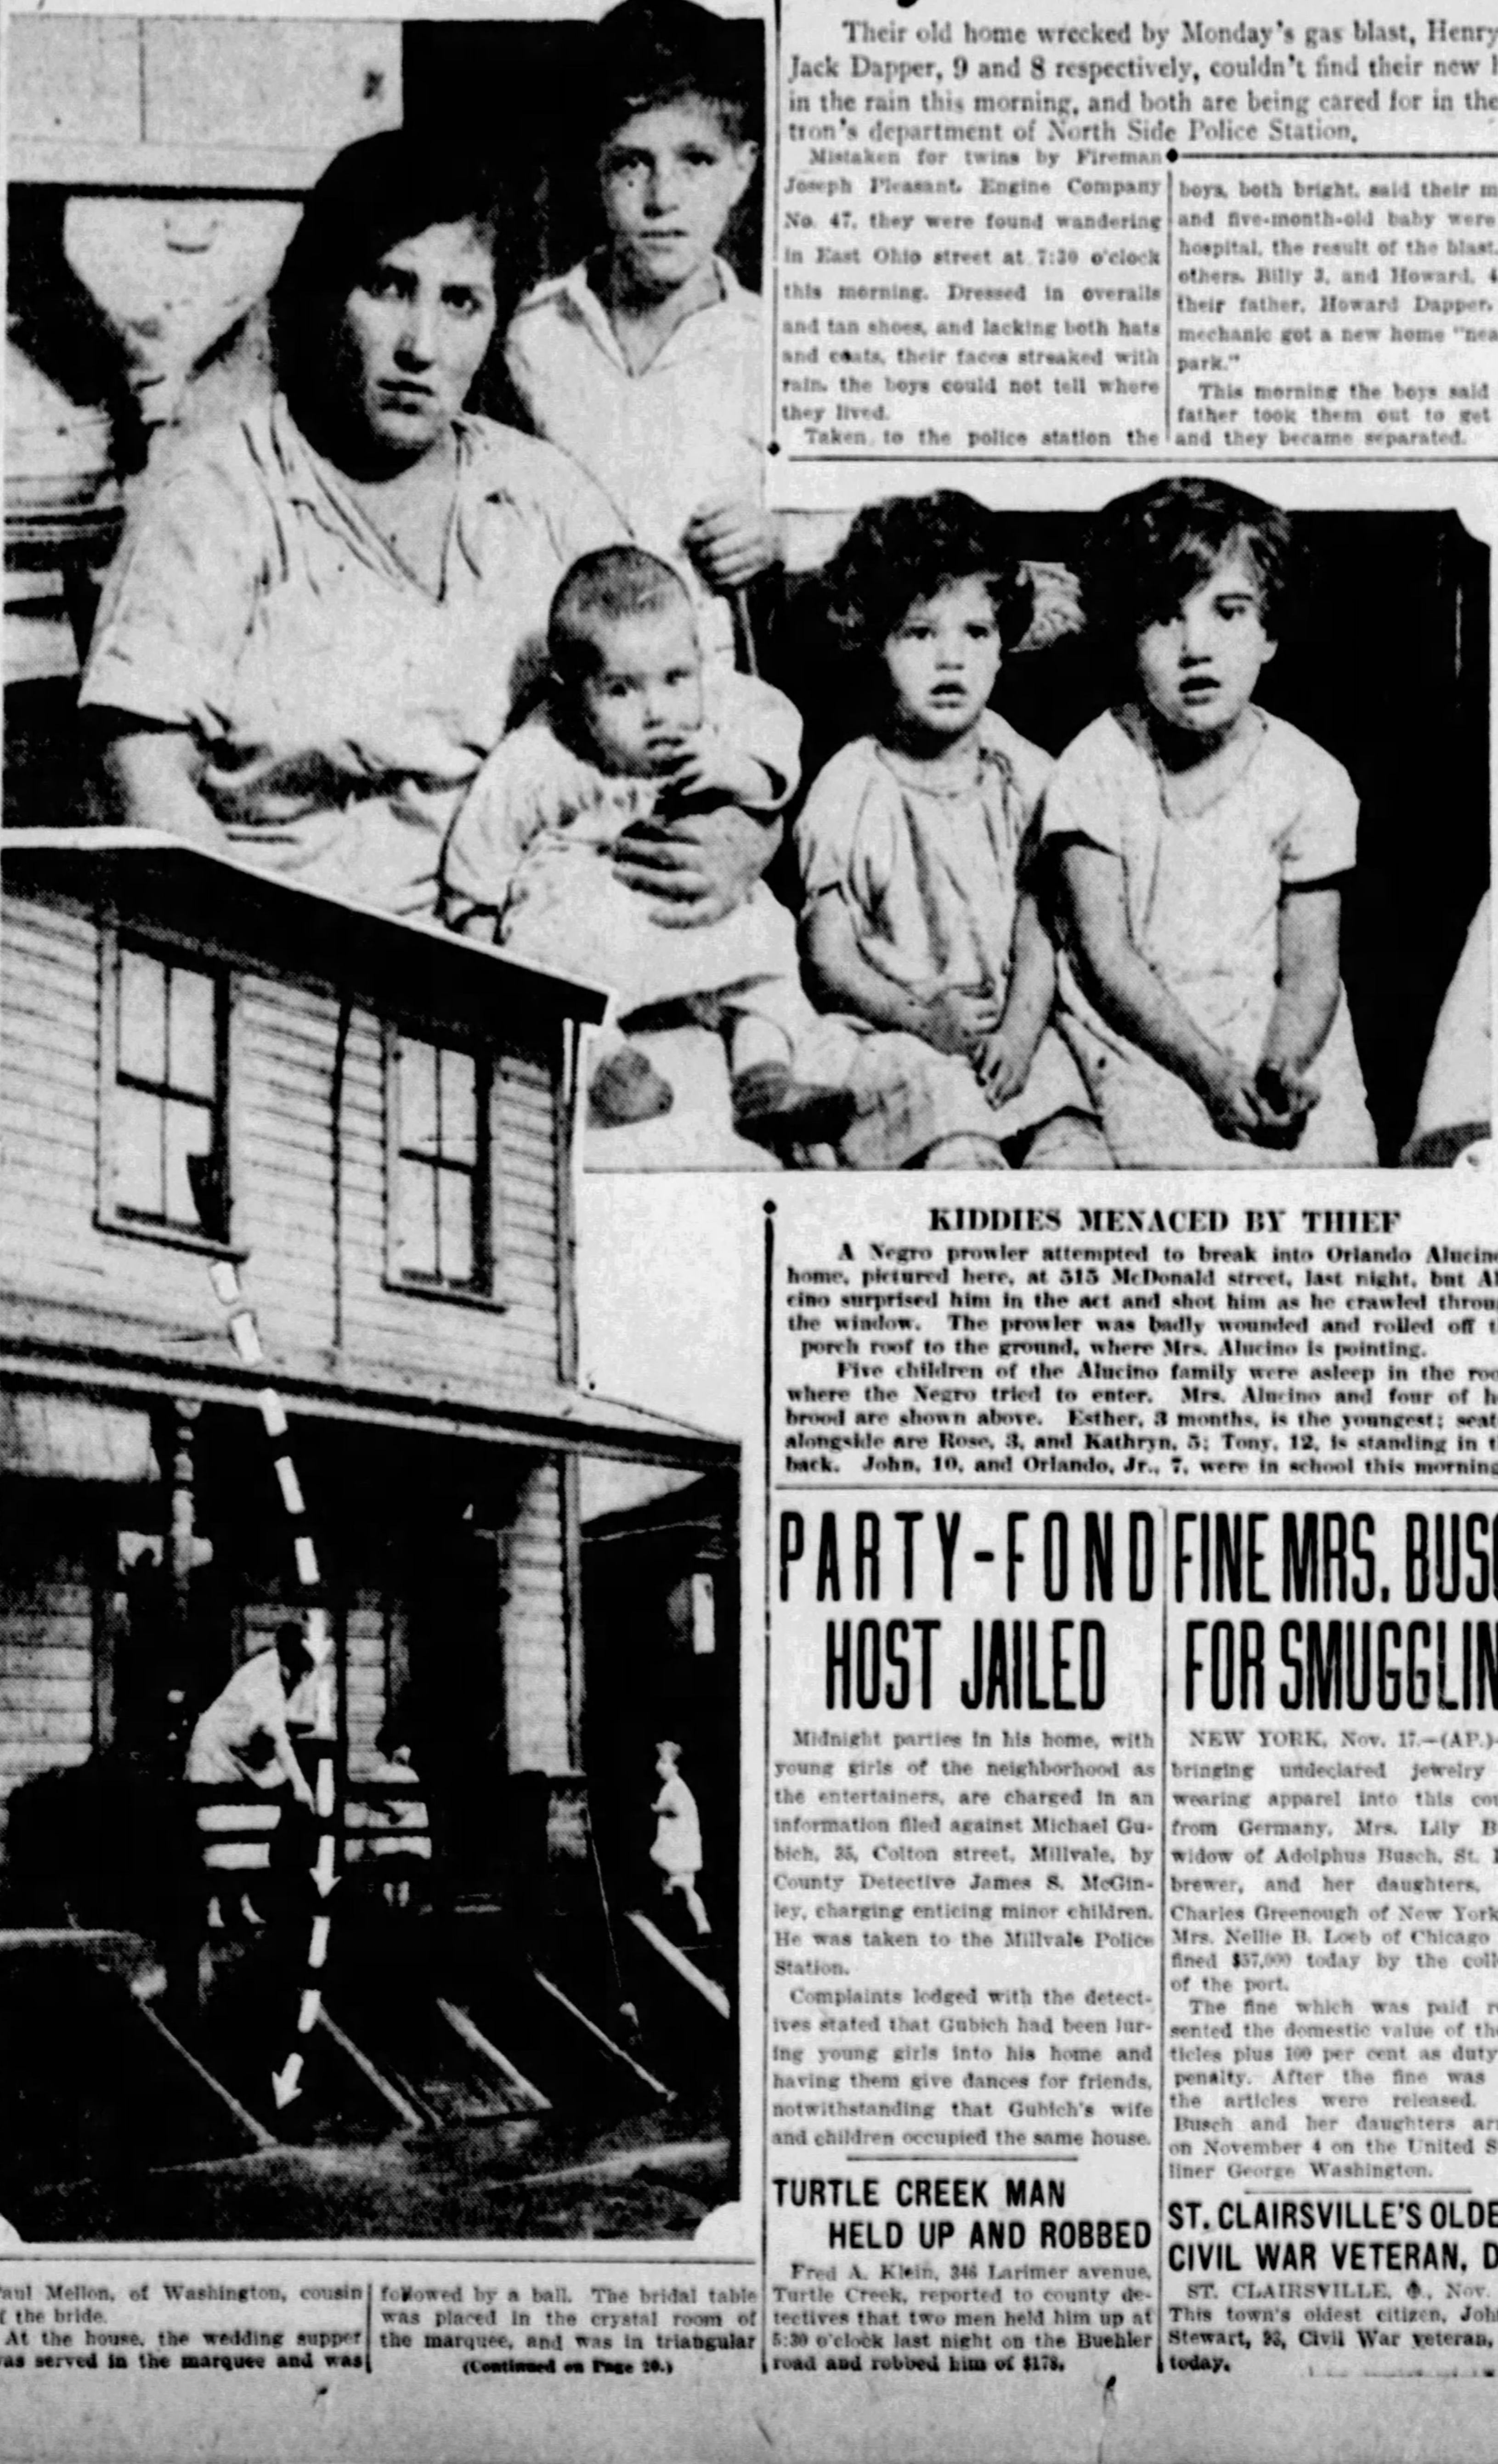
BURGLAR IS SHOT



KIDDIES MENACED BY THIEF

A Negro prowler attempted to break into Orlando Alucino's home, pictured here, at 515 McDonald street, last night, but Alucino surprised him in the act and shot him as he crawled through the window. The prowler was badly wounded and rolled off the porch roof to the ground, where Mrs. Alucino is pointing.

Five children of the Alucino family were asleep in the room where the Negro tried to enter. Mrs. Alucino and four of her brood are shown above. Esther, 3 months, is the youngest; seated alongside are Rose, 3, and Kathryn, 5; Tony, 12, is standing in the back. John, 10, and Orlando, Jr., 7, were in school this morning.

Home Ruined by Blast, Boys "Lose" New One

Their old home wrecked by Monday's gas blast, Henry and Jack Dapper, 9 and 8 respectively, couldn't find their new home in the rain this morning, and both are being cared for in the matron's department of North Side Police Station.

Mistaken for twins by Fireman Joseph Pleasant, Engine Company No. 47, they were found wandering in East Ohio street at 7:30 o'clock this morning. Dressed in overalls and tan shoes, and lacking both hats and coats, their faces streaked with rain, the boys could not tell where they lived.

Taken to the police station the boys, both bright, said their mother and five-month-old baby were in a hospital, the result of the blast. Two others, Billy 3, and Howard, 4, and their father, Howard Dapper, auto mechanic got a new home "near the park."

This morning the boys said their father took them out to get food and they became separated.

PARTY-FOND HOST JAILED

Midnight parties in his home, with young girls of the neighborhood as the entertainers, are charged in an information filed against Michael Gubich, 35, Colton street, Millvale, by County Detective James S. McGinley, charging enticing minor children. He was taken to the Millvale Police Station.

Complaints lodged with the detectives stated that Gubich had been luring young girls into his home and having them give dances for friends, notwithstanding that Gubich's wife and children occupied the same house.

TURTLE CREEK MAN HELD UP AND ROBBED

DAY SEEKS $15,000 SLICE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Henry Mason Day, associate of Harry F. Sinclair and under conspiracy charges in connection with the oil jury-tampering case, failed today in an effort to have his $25,000 bond reduced to $10,000.

The reduction, sought by Day's counsel before Chief Justice McCoy of the District of Columbia supreme court, was opposed by Neil Burkinshaw, assistant district attorney conducting the jury tampering investigation. Justice McCoy set Monday for argument on the motion.

Bond of $10,000 was fixed for Sheldon Clark, another Sinclair Oil official, when he was placed under similar charges, after complaints had been made against Day and Sinclair.

REFUSED TO ANSWER

The complaint against Day, who is vice president of the Sinclair Exploration Company, and against the others, charged violation of statutes forbidding attempts to improperly influence jurors.

He was placed under bond after he had refused to answer questions before the grand jury inquiring into the jury tampering charge, on the ground of possible self-incrimination.

M'KEES ROCKS TROLLEY LINE ASKS DISSOLUTION

The stockholders of the McKees Rocks and Allegheny Street Railway Company have presented a petition in Common Pleas Court before Judge Thomas J. Ford asking for a decree in dissolution. The company, incorporated December 5, 1902, built and operated a railway line from George street, Stowe township, across the Ohio River to Edison street and Preble avenue, North Side. The line was operated until March 1, 1920, and abandoned then because there was no further demand for it.

Ladies Envy Ruth Sending Hubby to Panama---Will

DODGE CITY, Kans., Nov. 17.—Headline in papers today said "Ruth Elder bids goodbye to husband and sent him back to Panama." More women envy Ruth over that than anything she has done. Thousands of women wouldn't care to brave the Atlantic but would love to send their husbands to Panama.

BLAST BROKE ONE PENITENTIARY WINDOW

The breaking of a small pane of glass in a library window constituted the sole damage to the Western Penitentiary in Monday's blast at the Manchester gas plant, it was stated today by Warden W. F. Ashe upon the completion of a searching investigation by the prison officers. The thick, buttressed walls of the penitentiary were unshaken by the explosion of the giant tanks.

"The prisoners showed no alarm," said Warden Ashe, "and continued their routine duties without showing much interest in what had happened. The prison was in the danger zone, but the construction is such that the minimum force of the shock was felt. The prisoners knew that an explosion had occurred in the vicinity, but that was in another world in so far as they are concerned. However, they were no less sympathetic when they learned the facts."

TECH TO HONOR ANNIVERSARY OF FOUNDER

Students and faculty of the Carnegie Institute of Technology will forsake classes for a few hours tomorrow to commemorate the birthday of the founder at the fifteenth annual celebration of Carnegie Day. The exercises are scheduled for 11 o'clock in Carnegie Music Hall, where a special program will be conducted under the direction of President Thomas S. Baker.

Simeon D. Fess, United States Senator from Ohio, will deliver the principal address. In connection with this year's observance of Carnegie Day, it is announced, a growing tendency to make the recognition of high scholarship at the institute of technology synonymous with the Carnegie Day exercises, will be crystallized with plans to give the 230 scholarship holders special recognition. According to the plans, the students who are holding scholarships for the first semester will have a place of honor in the procession from the campus to the Music Hall, and at the exercises they will sit in a group to receive public recognition.

The exercises will be preceded by a procession which will leave the campus at 10:30 and will include the Kiltie Band, the R. O. T. C. and colors, members of the executive board, the faculty, and the undergraduates.

FLEE FIRING SQUAD

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE HEVIA

A friend of the late General Gomez and the revolutionist cause, which opposed the Calles government, George Garcia Hevia, husband of the former Miss Aileen Bricker, widely-known Atlanta, Ga., society girl, was named a general in the revolutionist army. The couple arrived in Atlanta the other day after a narrow escape by Hevia from probable death in Mexico City, similar to that meted out to his personal friend, General Gomez. A timely warning from a friend of General Ooregon, saved Hevia from death at the hands of a firing squad.

Police Order Smoking Taxis From Streets

A crusade against drivers of taxicabs who operate in city streets with open exhausts was begun today when Public Safety Director James M. Clark notified all owners of public cabs and taxicab companies that 60 days from today would be given them to adjust their cars and discontinue the practice.

The Director said many cab drivers "lay down a smoke screen" through open exhausts and warned that if the practice continues they would be arrested, charged with violating a city ordinance. According to the Director, a city ordinance governs the driving of public conveyances in regard to the open exhaust on automobiles. A fine not exceeding $10 can be imposed on persons arrested for this offenses.

Police Superintendent Peter P. Police Supt Peter P. Walsh said that at the conclusion of the 60-day period he would issue orders for all patrolmen to arrest every driver violating the ordinance.

"Persons walking behind some cabs as they pass by are enveloped in a screen of smoke which causes them great annoyance," the Director said. "The odor of the smoke is both obnoxious and disagreeable.

"I have sounded this warning and if the companies or drivers fail to heed it, wholesale arrests will occur."

'ALL BUT TWO OF VICTIMS

but it was the consensus that the debris could hide no more bodies.

INSPECT PLANT RUINS

The investigators looked over all of the valves on the Equitable property and guards were placed to make sure of no one tampering with the equipment until a more thorough probe could be made.

Mr. Allison, who has been on the scene of the blast since Monday, declared this morning: "We are getting at the point of investigation now. Until we were reasonably sure that all the dead were out, every effort was made in this direction, but now we are ready to go ahead without undue haste and with both feet on the ground.

"The Equitable Gas Company officials have been more than anxious to get to the bottom of this sad affair and they are just as anxious as we are to fix responsibility for the blast. However, we are not going to rush into the thing without giving every possible explanation serious consideration."

The finding of fragments of bodies near the tank and in the Ohio River at Avalon yesterday has not altered the death list, morgue attaches declared. The pieces were identified with other bodies already accounted for.

A. W. Robertson, president of the Philadelphia Company, today called on Mayor Kline and complimented him on the efficient work done by city forces in the Manchester gas tank disaster.

Rate Marie, Ford And Lindy as "Best Copy"

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Mussolini is not the most important man in world news, nor Ruth Elder the most important woman, journalism students at Northwestern University have voted.

The distinction instead has been given to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and Henry Ford among the men, and to Queen Marie among the women.

Ranking below the flyer and the motor car maker were President Coolidge, Mussolini, the Prince of Wales, Mayor Thompson, Thomas Edison, Gene Tunney, Al Smith and Babe Ruth. Mrs. Coolidge, Ruth Elder, Helen Wills and Jane Addams received several votes to rank them just below the Rumanian Queen.

CLOTH SHREDS EXAMINED

Shreds of clothing, picked up in the ruins of the plants in the vicinity of the Equitable Gas Explosion's storage tanks, following the blast of Monday, were taken to the morgue today to be used in making identifications or fixing the fate of some of those reported missing.

Supt. John P. Black, of the morgue, on duty continuously since the explosion occurred, with Deputy John T. McQuaide, examined every bit of clothing for laundry marks or makers' labels. Each piece was catalogued. They have kept a list of persons who are believed to have lost their lives in the explosion and will obtain a description of the clothing worn by the missing.

RUNAWAY AUTO WHEEL LAYS TWO LOW

A runaway automobile wheel rolled half a block along East street this afternoon, bounded over a sidewalk and felled two pedestrians, a woman and a girl, before crashing into a fence.

Mrs. L. Lafaber, 22, of Creek street, was knocked to the sidewalk in East street in making an effort to stop the wheel which continued to roll and struck Evelyn Dingfelt, 9, of 419 Milroy street. Both were taken to the Presbyterian Hospital.

The wheel came off a rear axle of a truck owned by the Ward Baking Company, being driven south in East street, by William E. Walter, 21, of Mt. Troy road. He brought the truck to a halt and escaped injury as it lurched sideways.

A Plain Statement

Only the very best of the world's foremost instruments, from the most inexpensive to the more pretentious are sold at the Piano Store of the C. C. Mellor Company of Pittsburgh.

Sounds like a pretty stiff claim, to be sure, but when analyzed it resolves itself down to two simple factors—experience and responsibility.

As for experience—Mellor's have been in the business of selling pianos and other musical instruments in Pittsburgh for ninety-seven years.

As for responsibility—no one questions the fact that the C. C. Mellor Company is one of the strongest piano stores in the United States enjoying the patronage and confidence of probably a greater number of thoroughly satisfied customers than any other similar enterprise.

Logically, therefore, Mellor's is the store you should visit before any other when you are inclined to select a piano, talking machine or Radio for Christmas—and at Mellor's you'll be sure to get the maximum values, the most convenient terms, considerate attention, plus satisfaction. Call and let us prove it.

Tear Gas Guns to Stop County Jail Breaks

Any prisoners in the county jail who are thinking of pulling a "fast" one on the warden in the future, and departing without giving their future addresses as did Paul Jaworski and John Vasbinder, convicted murderers, last August, will have to wear gas masks before they pass through a gas barrage. The County Commissioners yesterday awarded a contract to the Federal Laboratories, Inc., for supplying tear gas guns for guards at the jail.

Following the daring escape of Jarowski and Vasbinder, it was decided to arm the guards with weapons other than "shooting irons." Tear gas was looked upon as the thing that would stop any disgruntled "boarders" at the jail, and accordingly Warden John McNeil asked the Commissioners to authorize him to purchase the gas guns. The contract for the weapons amounts to $860.

The Commissioners also awarded a contract to the Van Dorn Iron Works for erecting steel cages and grills around the interior entrance to the jail. The contract was $992.

RUSH AIR MAIL ROUTE LIGHTS

By Universal Service

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Commerce department workers are racing to install lights on the section of the transcontinental air route between Colfax, Cal., and Reno before snow and cold weather make operations in this mountainous region impossible.

It is planned to install lights only three to five miles apart. Low hanging clouds compel pilots to fly through narrow canyons.

HAIR SEWN IN TO CURE BALD

By Universal Service

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Miss Peggie Tudor has 100 more hairs in her titian head than she had yesterday. They were sewn in by Prof. Christian Askhaven, of Oslo.

She claims to be a descendant of the Tudor family of English history. The Tudors always did have trouble with their heads.

Prof. Askhaven says that he has sewn hair on the bald pates of several prominent Europeans and made it stick. The process is slow, he says, as only a small patch can be covered in a day.

MINERS' HOMES DYNAMITED

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Nov. 17.—Two miners' houses at Enterprise were dynamited early yesterday, the occupants of both homes being hurled from their beds. They escaped with slight injuries. The houses were occupied by the families of Roane McDougal and Andrew Cadillac, non-union miners. State police and deputy sheriffs are investigating.

VOTE RECOUNT FUND REFUSED BY COUNTY

A request for $1,500 additional funds to carry on the recount of ballots by the special board headed by Ward Bonsall was turned down yesterday by county commissioners, who stated that no further expenditures would be authorized without a court order. It was reported that $2,500 have been spent by the committee.

Four election boards were brought before Judges James B. Drew and Harry H. Rowand sitting on the returning board to straighten out minor irregularities in their returns from the November election. The boards affected were the Twenty-fourth District of the Fourteenth Ward, the Twelfth District of the Fifteenth Ward, and the First and Nineteenth Districts of the Seventeenth Ward. In all cases a missing return sheet had been locked in the ballot box or given to the minority inspector. The board finished about half of the districts of the Eighteenth Ward when the session closed. The judges expect to have the city votes canvassed within a week.

'DOLLAR DAY' TO AID TECH FUND

Alumni of the Carnegie Institute of Technology will make their first organized contribution to the endowment fund on Friday of this week when "Carnegie Dollar Day" for the alumni will be combined with the annual celebration of "Carnegie Day" for the students and faculty.

A campaign has been conducted during the past few weeks under the direction of Clarence Overend, executive secretary of the Alumni Federation, to make the first "dollar day" a successful inauguration of what, he hopes, will be an annual feature of Carnegie Tech activities. At the exercises Friday morning in Carnegie Music Hall, the federation will make its report of the total contributions already made by the alumni, although complete returns will not be available for several days following.

WIFE, SPANKED, ASKS DIVORCE

"He turned me over his knee and spanked me. He told me I was 'too young a snipe' to tell him what to do and that he would show my parents how to raise me." Margaret May Wood so testified in her divorce proceedings filed against Charles A. Wood on grounds of cruel and barbarous treatment. Mrs. Woods was 19 when she married three years ago, and her husband was 47. She said he drank, and, intoxicated, threatened her life.

Mrs. Wood lives with her parents in Verona Road, Penn township.

Libels in divorce were filed as follows: Adelaide Gertrude Brown against Addison D. Brown; Margaret Riley against Edward Riley; Joseph Kahn against Cecilia Kahn and David S. Lavis against Wilma B. Lavis.

Eczema Formed Water Blisters Cuticura Healed

"Eczema first made its appearance with a redness of the skin and irritation. It was on the inside of my little finger on my left hand, and soon spread to the finger next to it. It formed water blisters and became almost unbearable. The irritation caused me to scratch, and after the blisters would break they would scale over. Many nights I was awakened by the irritation.

"I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. The curative and healing results were so noticeable that I purchased more and in about three months I was healed." (Signed) W. A. Edwards, Apt. 51, 434 Convent Ave., New York City, March 26, 1927.

The features which make this group of coats so desirable, are: Suede-finished and broadcloth-like fabrics. Long-haired and flat furs, in shawl and ample mushroom collars, and cuffs. John Erskine's "Adam and Eve"

In the opinion of many competent readers and critics this is the best work of the author of "Helen of Troy" and "Galahad." Certainly it is an interesting story, presenting in Erskine's inimitable style Adam's experiences with the women, Lilith and Eve. $2.50.

—Horne's, Main Floor—

Women's Silk Umbrellas

Smart New Silks

Designed for Scarfs and Mufflers

Heavy corded silks—favored for both men's and women's scarfs, in fashionable designs and color combinations.

They're plaids, mostly, of various sizes. Some have border designs outlining huge squares which have only to be hemmed on two sides to be complete. Occasionally two girls select a square together and split it diagonally, so that each has a smart triangle.

Red, blue, black and white are the predominating colors, although there are many other combinations. The silks are 33 and 35 inches wide. $3.50 and $4.95 yard.

—Horne's, Main Floor—

Little Women's Dinner and Evening Gowns

The swathed hipline and graceful front movement, in the Paris manner; the simple, wrapped effect which shows the Greek influence, and dipping draperies which give an illusion of greater length—these points are featured in new dinner and dance gowns, in our Small Women's Dress Section.

They are fashioned of gleaming satin, of lame with its metal threads combined with white or color, and of chiffon—in light or bright colors or all black. And of neatly patterned black lace.

In sizes 33½ to 41½. Priced $39.50 to $65.00.

—Horne's, Second Floor—

SCHOOL MAM TO BE FILM STAR GUARDIAN

By Universal Service

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 17.—Miss Mildred Campbell, assistant school supervisor, has given her consent to act as guardian for Virginia Lee Corbin, 17-year-old film actress, Attorney Nathan O. Freedman, representing the actress, stated today.

Application for appointment of Miss Campbell as guardian, which action has been delayed several days, will be filed in court today, Freedman said.

He stated that the petition would recite that the actress has no legally appointed guardian and requires the "care and attention of a fit and proper person" for herself and her property.

The petition, he said, would not go into the status of Miss Corbin's mother, who is now in a sanitarium. Mrs. Corbin recently was removed to a hospital suffering from drugs taken, according to the police report, with suicidal intent after a quarrel with her daughter. The actress signed, and later dismissed, an insanity complaint against her mother. The actress' earnings are said to have been a cause of difference between mother and daughter.

INJURED RAIL EMPLOYE WINS $5,000 VERDICT

Henry Pearson, 45, was awarded $5,000 damages by a jury in the Federal District Court in a suit for $30,000 damages from the Union Railroad Company. Pearson testified he was seriously injured while making a coupling on a train. He charged the coupling was defective.

Piles Disappear Without Salves or Cutting

Thousands who have piles have not learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with internal medicine. Neither cutting nor any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will remove the cause.

Bad circulation causes piles. There is stagnation of blood circulation in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt found the remedy and called his prescription HEM-ROID. Dr. Leonhardt tried it in hundreds of cases with a marvelous record of success, such a wonderful record that HEM-ROID is now sold by druggists everywhere under a rigid money-back guarantee.

Don't waste any more time with outside applications. Get a package of HEM-ROID from May Drug Co. today. It has given quick and lasting relief to thousands and must do the same for you or money back.

Fred Stone and His Daughter Tell How Story of Conversion Started From Going to Church

By GEORGE SEIBEL

George Seibel

RELIGION was the main topic of our talk. The man with the serious face was Fred Stone, one of America's great laughmakers. The girl with the thoughtful eyes was Dorothy, his daughter, one of America's daintiest dancers. Yet these stage people, whose main interest might be supposed to be mirth and revelry, were discussing the soul and faith and life to come—just as if they were missionaries come to Pittsburgh to convert the heathen.

Some years ago the story went out that Fred Stone had been converted. It wasn't very clear what he had been converted from, or what he had been converted to. As he is in town with his new musical comedy, "Criss Cross," here was a chance to get the facts. But there are no facts. Fred Stone himself does not know what he was converted from, nor what he was converted to. His family were Methodists, and he always counted himself an adherent of that church, though his wandering life in circus and theater gave him no opportunity to affiliate. He would generally go to church if he was in any town and had Sunday free. That was his habit for years, until some one out West saw him in church and started the story of his conversion.

That story grew to fantastic proportions. Admirers of Fred Stone began to wonder whether they would have to go to a revival tabernacle to see him again. Those who knew him best wondered whether any religion could improve him as a gentleman and a good fellow. His chief vice was hard work, and he had no idols except his daughters and their mother.

But he saw in the papers that he had been converted, and many preachers came to the stage door to find out about it. He told them there was nothing to tell, but they became his friends. That is easy. Fred Stone is one of the friendliest and wholesomest of men. Perhaps some of those preachers have been converted by him from any notion they may have had about the stage as a den of evil and a haunt of vice.

"I've always tried to be a Christian," said Mr. Stone in our talk. "I always tried to do what was right, and I suppose that's real Christianity. I've never hated anybody who didn't think as I did—never forced my opinion on any one else—never thought I had a first row seat in heaven. Just a humble student, that's all I ever was. I couldn't preach any more than my friend, the Rev. William Stidger, now in Kansas City, could walk a slack-wire. Every man to his own calling.

"But we folk of the theater also have our opportunities to help and uplift. When we spread joy and laughter, we're doing missionary work, it seems to me. People tell me some performances are running to more profanity and less clothes. I've always tried to please and amuse, never to shock. That seems to me to be good taste and good business, aside from any religious sentiments."

"Father likes to read books on serious subjects," declared Dorothy, "and we're now studying Christian Science together. It interests me exceedingly—I'm almost tempted to say that C. S. stands for Christian Science and for Common Sense."

That started an argument in which Plato and Plotinus, Berkeley and Spinoza were "among those mentioned." Whether the table between us was real wood or only an idea, whether mind came first or matter, these were some of the light and frothy arguments bandied, till Fred Stone himself came to the rescue:

"Do you remember my performance in 'Tip-Top?' " he asked.

"Very well—how you were blown up through the stage by an explosion of home-brew—how you popped up all covered with foam."

"That's what I was thinking of just now. That foam gave me much trouble. I tried a well-known soap first, and it burnt my eyes. Then I hit on soap-tree bark, which we used in the circus to put the foam on the pink lemonade. Now it seems to me you two are getting a good deal of soap-tree bark into your argument."

So the debate was adjourned.

Greta Garbo Gets Brown for Director

By Universal Service.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 17.—The graceful, slow-moving Greta Garbo will try her charms in "Heat," a colorful drama of the South Seas, written by John Colton. Greta is in luck, for not only does she draw the screen play written by the man who authored "Rain" and "The Shanghai Gesture," but she gets Clarence Brown for her director as well.

Now you know when Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer combines the alluring Greta and Clarence Brown, one of their prize directors, it means a big picture. Mr. Brown directed Miss Garbo in "Flesh and the Devil" and he made such a sensation that he was at once handed "The Trail of '98," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's prize package for 1927. He has been working on that these many days and is just now finishing it.

JOHNSON TO ADDRESS EAST LIBERTY LEGION

Post No. 5 of the American Legion will hear Roswell H. Johnson tonight in the post quarters of the East Liberty Presbyterian Church. Prof. Johnson, member of the faculty of the University of Pittsburgh, devoted his summer vacation to a visit to the Soviet Republic.

Opera Singer in Concert

LAWRENCE TIBBETT, Metropolitan Opera baritone, makes his first Pittsburgh appearance in a concert tonight in Syria Mosque, an attraction in the May Beegle series.

In Prison 6 Years Too Long, Ordered Freed

Holding that the eight years Joseph Sarappa had served in the Western Penitentiary were six too many, Judge Ambrose B. Reed in Common Pleas Court yesterday issued an order releasing the man. Sarappa had served almost eight years of a 10 to 12-year sentence on a charge of accessory after the fact of murder, six years more than than maximum provided by the law for such an offense.

Sarappa was indicted for helping the murderers of Tony Cardelle, Westmoreland county, escape, and was sentenced by Judge H. C. Quigley after a trial in the Westmoreland county courts. In the petition presented in court here asking for Sarappa's release, it is claimed that under the law he could be imprisoned in this case not more than two years, and the court concurred in the contention.

FLORIDA PIRACY TRIAL OPENS

NASSAU, Bahamas, Nov. 17.—The piracy trial of "Pop" Nesle, picturesque figure of the Florida Keys, was expected to open today.

As the only piracy case in recent history, the trial has aroused world-wide interest.

Nesle was arrested recently in connection with the alleged theft of liquor in British waters off Cat Cay, north of the Island of Bimini. The prosecution charges that Nesle, while on an American Coast Guard cutter, took the liquor cargo of another boat and cached it on Cat Cay. When the British government found the cache, it arrested Nesle.

A day later he broke jail at Bimini where he had been imprisoned. However, he surrended within 24 hours.

Marceline's Sister, Alice, Gets Role With M. G. M.

By Universal Service.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 17.—The days stand pretty well at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Time was when Marceline was not in such favor but now that her troubles have all been ironed out they are not averse to signing Alice Day, her sister. Alice, for many months was Mack Sennett's leading comedienne. Then she tried free lancing, with the result that she has been engaged to play opposite Billy Haines.

Billy Haines' next is a polo story. It's now the fad to make pictures without titles. It saves confusion, especially when names are changed so frequently. Hobart Bosworth has been signed to play Miss Day's father. Since he appeared in "The Blood Ship," he has been more in demand than ever.

This polo story was written by Byron Morgan, and will be transferred to the screen by Jack Conway.

Curfew Noisy, So Kickers Have It Silenced

Freedom, Pa., Nov. 17.—Council has voted to save the nerves of adults rather than curb the liberties of the juveniles. Curfew will not screech tonight nor any other night this winter. Nightly at 9 o'clock the fire siren has bellowed, and complaints piled up thick and fast. Brought to the attention of council that body decided to dispense with curfew for the winter.

MUSICAL PLAYS ARE COMING

Norma Terris will play the part of Magnolia in Florenz Ziegfeld's newest American musical play, "Show Boat," which will appear in the Nixon next week. There will be three matinees—Wednesday, Thursday (Thanksgiving Day) and Saturday. Seats are on sale in the box office today.

The public ticket sale for George White's "Scandals," next week's attraction in the Alvin, opened this morning. This is the first "Scandals" production to be seen here in two years, and indications, based on the mail order reservations, that the engagement will break records. The cast includes Ann Pennington, Willie and Eugene Howard, Frances Williams, Buster West, John West, Tom Patricola, Williams Sisters, Rose Perfect, Harry Richman, Jane Seis and others.

Hardeen, headliner on the Keith-Albee vaudeville program in the Davis next week, will present a maze of mysteries. Sammy Cohen and Ted McNamara will be seen in "The Gay Retreat" in the screen.

Due to the success of "The Spider," the mystery play now in the Pitt Theater, it is being held over for another week beginning Monday night, with the usual matinees Thursday and Saturday. The sale of seats for next week began today. William Courtenay plays the lead in this entertainment.

Opening with the usual Sunday midnight show, "Perfect 36" is coming to the Gayety next week. It is the latest production of Morris Wainstock for Columbia burlesque.

Thanksgiving vaudeville in the Harris will be headed by "Compance Attention" depicting the trials and tribulations of the Marines of China. The screen presentation will be "Hook and Ladder No. 9," featuring Dione Ellis.

Vaudeville in the Sheridan Square next week will include Lloyd Ibach and his entertainers; Smith and Barker, in "The Faker." Photoplay features for the week will be Ted McNamara and Sammy Cohen in "The Gay Retreat" and Irelene Costello and Clyde Cook in "Good Time Charlie."

Miss America will appear on the stage of the Grand next week. Charlie Murray is featured in "The Gorilla," the screen attraction.

Jackie Coogan in "The Bugle Call," his new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer vehicle coming next week to Loew's Aldine, is supported by Claire Windsor, Herbert Rawlinson, Sarah Padden, Harry Todd and Tom O'Brien in a historical romance of the Great Plains.

"The Garden of Allah," with Alice Terry and Ivan Petrovitch, in the leading roles, comes to the Penn next week. Others in the cast are Marcel Vibert, Claude Fielding, Gerald Fielding, Armande Dutertre, Ben Sadour and Michael Powell.

During the engagement of "High Flyers" in the Academy next week there will be a midnight show Tuesday and Wednesday and another at 2 o'clock Thanksgiving morning.

John Barclay, on the Vitaphone program in the Olympic next week, will give operatic characterizations. Adolphe Menjou will be on the screen in "A Gentleman of Paris."

GIVES CONVENTION TALK BY PHONOGRAPH RECORD

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—A speaker who was not present was applauded here by delegates to the National Commercial Forestry Conference. Several hundred persons heard Lewis E. Pierson, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, urge development of commercial reforestation by means of a phonograph record he made of his speech at Washington.

Collection For Sufferers In Blast

An arrangement has been made by the management of "The Spider," now playing in the Pitt, and "My Maryland," in the Alvin, to take up a special collection Friday night between the first and second acts for the families who were affected by the explosion last Monday. This collection will be under the auspices of the Red Cross and members of the Boy Scouts will pass through the audience for donations.

Big Hearted, That's Doug; He Gives Shirt Away

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 17.—To give one's shirt has always been considered the very height of generosity. Consider then the nobleness and liberality of nature which prompted Douglas Fairbanks to give his shirt so that Don Alvarado might wear it in "The Drums of Love," D. W. Griffith's forthcoming United Artists production.

The truth of the matter is that two of the shirts especially made for Alvarado's use in the picture had become soiled and an unthinking wardrobe mistress had sent both of them to be laundered. The director, D. W. Griffith, was in a quandary. Alvarado was shirtless. The wardrobe woman was apprehensive. The all-star cast of Mary Philbin, Lionel Barrymore, Tully Marshall and William Austin stood idly by. What to do?

Then came Fairbanks. He saw the situation. Got one of his own gaucho shirts, gave it to Alvarado and, like life, the picture went gaily on.

Old Stories Find New Chance on Screen

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 17.—Many of the pictures produced five or six years ago have taken on an added valuation because of the possibilities contained in their stories, and good stories are scarcer than hen's teeth. Do you remember "Thy Name Is Woman," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production with Barbara La Marr and Ramon Navarro, directed by Fred Niblo? It was always poor Barbara's favorite picture—a colorful, excellent part for a woman. Paramount, eagerly searching for better stories for Pola Negri, tried to purchase the rights from M. G. M. Ernest Lubitsch, who is also waiting for a story, said if Paramount could buy the rights of "Thy Name Is Woman," he wanted to direct Pola. Everyone was all excited over the idea—but M-G-M refused to sell. They, too, had seen the possibilities. Pola, by the by, will be urged by Paramount to reconsider and sign again. The foreign sales on her pictures evidently are not to be ignored.

GRANDDAUGHTER DIES, WEDDING IS POSTPONED

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—The wedding of Nathan T. Folwell, 60-year-old millionaire, and Miss Bertha Walther, daughter of a former business associate, scheduled for this week, has been indefinitely postponed because of the death yesterday of Mr. Folwell's granddaughter, Katrina Folwell, 15.

Miss Walther, whose home is in Erie, Pa., is many years younger than her fiance.

History Repeats Itself On Fox Lot With Filming of New Novel By Jack Bethéa, Newspaperman

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
Motion Picture Editor of Universal Service.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 17.

SOME years ago, the Fox Company made a stirring and profitable drama called "The Honor System," starring Miriam Cooper, the former Mrs. Raoul Walsh. The convicts in the South who are loaned to the coal barons of the North and have their salaries paid to the state was the subject—a system described as far worse than that of the days of slavery before the Civil War.

History will repeat itself with the same Fox Company making a picture called "Honor Bound," based on a novel written by Jack Bethea, editor of the Birmingham News. Alfred Green, who will direct Bethea's literary denunciation of this wholesale rental of human beings, will go South to obtain further data.

Graham Baker, one of the Warnerites now being farmed out, will do the story. Speaking of Warners, I hear Fox tried to borrow Monte Blue, but the price asked for him is prohibitive. Listening in where I wasn't supposed to listen, I gleaned that $4,000 is the minimum Warners will accept for Monte. Phew! Some salary, but he is probably worth it.

Hollywood has treated Dudley Murphy right. He came out here to write and hoped to direct. He has written and sold several scenarios, one "The Skyscraper" to De Mille and the other "The Stocks and Blondes" elsewhere. Now comes a chance for him to direct H. C. Witwer's "Alex the Great." It's a show-off story with plenty of good comedy and Skeets Gallagher, the blonde young leading man who has made many friends out here, will play Alex. I thought maybe Alex was a take-off on our old friend Alexander, he who had the golden era back in Rome. Shows how dumb I am. Yet I did once win a prize for Roman history back in the long ago when long hair and trailing skirts were in style.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" is giving Sam Jacobson a trip to New York. I have heard of Harriet Beecher Stowe's classic doing much, but this is the first time there was a visit to New York in the offing. Let me elucidate (a very good word). Sam is acting as nurse, chaperone, or what have you for Mona Ray and Virginia Grey, ages respectively 12 and nine. Both girls will dance in the prologue—and Virginia who was the angel Eva—will prove that she didn't really go to heaven by letting her public take a good look at her at the Central Theater. Uncle Tom, they tell me, in spite of theme, etc., is going over with the New York public.

The two youngsters, Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell, are doing a little chafing at the bit. Money is the cause. When hasn't the root of evil produced dissatisfaction? Both claim they are being underpaid. Farrell is said to receive only $250 a week, which he claims is insufficent to maintain him and give him the things he needs as a screen actor. Little Miss Gaynor's salary is not known, but it is said to be much less than other stars are receiving. Both players are working in "Cristalinda" and it is doubtful if they will make any move until this picture is finished. Perhaps by that time everything will be smoothed out. Troubles in the film business end as suddenly sometimes as they start.

There is considerable speculation in and around the Warner studios whether or not contracts that expire now and up to the first of February will be renewed. Alan Crossland, the director, is one who finishes at Warners the middle of December. While there is talk that he may move over to the Fox studio, nothing is definite. Being at Warner Brothers these days is something like now you see us and now you don't. No one quite knows where they are going to be at and when.

been raided. In other words, it is charged, Weinberg and Rosenberg said they have made purchases but, after raids had been made, failed to deliver. This pair had sworn they made the purchases. When they failed to produce the samples, King had other liquor bought and represented it to have been whisky mentioned in the informations. District Attorney Gardner said today that none of those concerned were liable to prosecution for perjury under the state laws. "I am considering, however," he said, "whether they are liable under other laws for manufacturing evidence.

Federal District Attorney Meyer said: "The question of whether or not any federal law has been violated by these investigators is a matter to be given consideration in this office and to be decided later."

Mr. Meyer deplored the manner in which federal search warrants were obtained from the United States commissioner by the false statements made to a prohibition agent by an investigator of the league, and declared that his office did not propose to present in court cases which are based on fraud, falsehoods or reckless disregard for facts, and in order to carry out this idea, his office proposes to nolle prosse every case brought into the Federal Court based on the evidence of the investigators and employes of the Citizens League to date.

Disheartended but not yet ready to admit defeat, the Citizens League announced last night that it will continue its work of law enforcement here under the direction of their new leader, William J. Kane.

Last night's disclosures have shaken the faith of many of the league's backers, but the league officials, believing that there is still a great need of the work of such an organization, are planning to "carry on."

TO DROP CASES

After the presentation of affidavits pretaining to the "framing," and a confession of King, letters asking that all league cases be nolle prossed were sent to Attorney Meyer and to Attorney Gardner. Neither will the league have any of their witnesses appear before the grand jury tomorrow when a score of cases are to be presented. This will mean that the cases will be thrown out.

League's Statement

The league gave out its position in a statement, together with a statement from its attorney, one from King and three from the former investigators. The documents, beginning with the league's own, follow:

"Within the last few days information has come to the board of directors of the Citizens' League which indicates grave dereliction on the part of employes of the league and seriously affects cases now pending on which these employes are material witnesses. Our attorney, Mr. Ralph H. Smith, has placed in our hands certain statements and affidavits (copies of which are attached hereto) made to him by W. L. King, since his recent return, and by A. E. Kemmerling, Ralph W. Kemmerling and A. E. Morgan, confessing and acknowledging that certain evidence in some of these cases was deliberately faked by some of those making the statements and by others, and is, therefore, false and not as represented. This faked evidence consists of bottles of liquors delivered to the Federal authorities and purported to have been original buys made by Sol Rosenberg on the basis of which cases prepared under Mr. King, whereas they now allege the liquor thus offered in evidence was not so purchased, but was prepared and submitted by W. L. King, Ralph W. Kemmerling and A. E. Morgan from purchases of liquor made in other places. Furthermore, that the said substitution was made in the presence and with the co-operation of Sol Rosenberg and with the knowledge and connivance of Abe Weinberg.

"Inasmuch as the above named persons are essential witnesses in many of the other cases prepared under the direction of Mr. King, and inasmuch also as the league would, of course, not for a moment consider prosecuting anybody on the basis either of faked evidence or of testimony of witnesses whose honesty and reliability is thus self-confessed or impugned, we have instructed our attorney, Mr. Ralph H. Smith, with the approval of County District Attorney S. H. Gardner and Federal District Attorney J. D. Myer, to take the necessary steps to secure the nolle prossing of all cases now listed which may in any way depend on the testimony of any of these witnesses and to drop further proceedings in any other cases in which their testimony may be involved.

"It should also be stated that, while the substitution named seems to have been made in the early part of last June and was, of course, fully known to all those participating therein and all were in the employ of the league, yet none of them told any officer of the league anything about it, nor was anything thereof known by any officer of the league until very recently. Our first information came some few weeks ago in the form of some statements mae by Ralph W. Kemmerling, but which appeared to be so full of discrepancies and improbabilities that nothing could be determined as to their value till the return of Mr. King. It was only after the return of Mr. King on the 7th inst. that the above named statement from him and our other employes were secured by Mr. Smith and the knowledge of this situation came to the directors of the league.

"On the other hand, for reasons that he can best furnish himself, A. E. Kemmerling now confesses that he had been giving to certain persons, including officials, this vital information which he was withholding from his employers.

"The board of directors greatly regrets this perfidy on the part of trusted employes, every one of whom had come to us with fine recommendations and apparently reliable record, and appreciates the embarrassments resulting therefrom, but this falldown on the part of these men should not be allowed to obscure or minimize either the importance or the wide extent of protected criminal practices, which prey on public welfare and are, therefore, of first public concern. That these practices existed as charged even in the joints where the alleged faked evidence of original buys was offered, was proved by seizures made by Federal and state authorities at the time of the raids. These disappointments we have experienced only show the extreme difficulty of the work being undertaken by the league; they in no way exculpate the evildoers against whom the proceedings have been instituted.

"There was never more evidence of the need and importance of the work being undertaken by the league, and the desire on the part of the public that it shall be continued under the leadership of our new director, Mr. William J. Kane, whose experience and high standing in the community are ample guarantee that his work will be conducted on the highest plane of honesty and efficiency. We, therefore, plan to go right on in our work with zeal unabated.

"BOARD OF DIRECTORS, CITIZENS' LEAGUE,
"WM. H. SCHUETTE, Acting Chairman."

King Says

This statement was made by W. L. King to the league:

"When we had Rosenberg and Weinberg in getting evidence on the places downtown and when Rosenberg, Kemmerling and Morgan were arrested and Weinberg was picked up at the William Penn Hotel, he, Weinberg, told me that all of his liquor buys were in his trunk and they had been shipped to New York. I had no reason to disbelieve him at the time. After the various raids had been made, Weinberg did not produce the liquor at any time, but told me on different occasions that he would get it back from New York just as soon as he could.

"At the hearing before Commissioner Knox, in which Rosenberg testified, Rosenberg told me on different occasions that Knox was getting very impatient because the liquor was not being produced and when it actually got down to the place where the liquor had to be produced, Weinberg was not coming back here and he was afraid to send it, so, in complete desperation as to how to square myself not only with the public, but with the Federal officials, I take the entire responsibility of asking Ralph Kemmerling and Morgan to get the liquor for me.

"Weinberg sent the labels from New York with his initials on them and with the liquor that Kemmerling and Morgan got for me, they helped me preparing different bottles for the places in which the raids had been made.

"This occurred the day before they were delivered to Mr. Pennington's office, or about three or four weeks I judge, after the affidavits had been made as a basis for the search warrants. There were about 10 buys—all cases of Rosenberg and Weinberg. I had all the reason to believe they were getting the evidence—they were getting thousands of dollars. I know I'm wrong as the devil."

Perjury Evidence

Pittsburgh, Nov. 15, 1927.

Dr. J. Alvin Orr,
President Citizens' League of Pittsburgh and Allegheny county,
Pittsburgh, Pa.

Re-cases prepared by agents in the Citizens' League working under the direction of William L. King.

Dear Sir:

Information was brought to me some two months ago by Henry J. Lenon, clerk in the office of the District Attorney of Allegheny county, that Arthur Kemmerling, former agent of the Citizens' League, had made certain statements to him in which the evidence in certain Citizens' League cases was questioned. Similar reports were given me by Samuel H. Gardner, district attorney, Allegheny county, and William Duffy, chief narcotic agent of the United States government. Investigation was immediately instituted and these facts developed:

"A series of liquor seizures were made by Federal officers after search warrants had been issued by United States Commissioner Roger Knox, upon affidavits of prohibition agents who made their affidavit on information contained in affidavits by Sol Rosenberg, former agent of the Citizens' League, concerning alleged buys.

"These buys were never made by Rosenberg. Preliminary hearings were held before the United States Commissioner, and at that time the evidence of the buys was not produced. Investigation by King, executive director of the Citizens' League, brought the statements from Weinberg (another agent) and Rosenberg that the samples of these buys were in Weinberg's possession in New York, and that they would be forwarded.

"After some delay, during that time, repeated promises were made by Weinberg to produce the samples to King, it appears that King became cognizant of the fact that no buys had been made, that no samples were in the possession of his agents and that the affidavits which were used as a basis for search warrants had been perjured.

"On or about June 7th, King appealed to Ralph Kemmerling, agent for help, and suggested that liquor be purchased. Whisky and moonshine was purchased by Glenn Kemmerling, another agent, on several different occasions until he had purchased and delivered to King a sufficient number of pints to make good the samples required, to conform with the affidavit already made. The money for the purchase of the liquor was furnished by King in funds of the Citizens' League and the liquor was purchased from a hotel in Frankstown avenue, City of Pittsburgh.

"The night before these several bottles of liquor were delivered to Mr. Sheridan, agent of the prohibition department in the House Building, Pittsburgh, Mr. King called Sol Rosenberg, Ralph Kemmerling and Eugene Morgan to his room in Webster Hall.

"After they had assembled, King took from his pocket a letter which he stated came from Weinberg in New Jersey. Without reading that letter, he took therefrom a number of small labels, each bearing the initials of "A. W." for Weinberg.

"These labels were given to Sol Rosenberg, who wrote thereon, sufficient data to indicate the various places and dates on which several bottles were to be alleged to have been purchased. Then Rosenberg washed the manufacturers' and bottler's labels from the bottles and placed the prepared labels on them. The bottles thus labeled were returned to King's trunk for safe keeping until their delivery to the prohibition department, where they were submitted as bona fide samples of buys allegedly made by Rosenberg."

All the facts herein set forth are substantiated and confirmed by signed statements of Ralph Kemmerling, Glenn Kemmerling, Arthur Kemmerling, Eugene Morgan and William L. King, such portions of which affidavits as refer to this subject matter are attached hereto, made a part hereof and marked for the purpose of identification Exhibits A, B, C, D.

Consideration of the facts herein set forth makes it evident that:

1—The case in which Rosenberg and Weinberg appear are based upon a deliberate perjury, and should, therefore, be nol prossed.

2—That a vast majority of the remaining cases in which indictments have been returned and others which are yet pending before the grand jury, there is genuine evidence of law violation.

3—That the active part taken by the former director and agents of the Citizens League in corruptly manufacturing evidence, throws upon them discredit and makes them undesirable witnesses.

It is, therefore, recommended that the Board of Directors of the Citizens League request John D.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

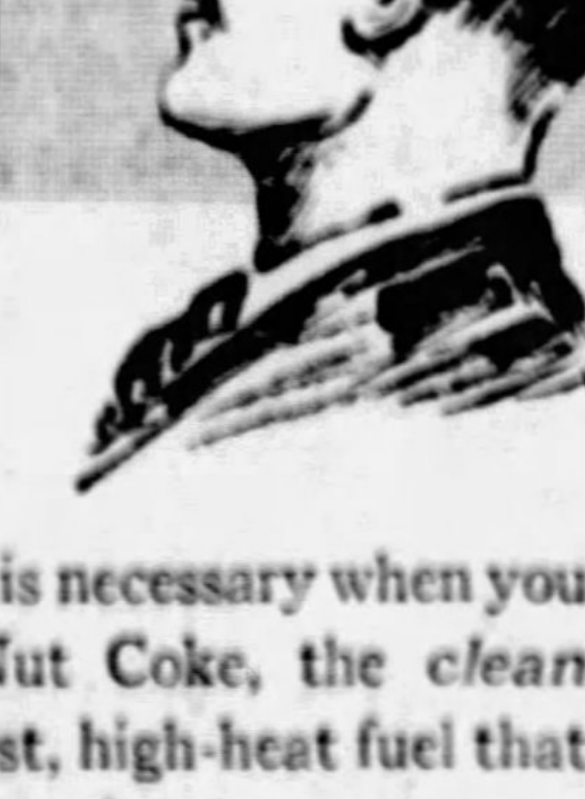
Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

Away with Soot, Dirt, Smoke, Ashes!

Burn Clairton Nut Coke the Low-Cost Fuel



DOES winter mean more black walls and ceilings, soiled curtains and draperies, soot laden furniture?

Does it mean another long siege of back-breaking shoveling, lifting and feeding tons of heavy lumps of coal into your furnace?

Does it mean ashes, ashes and more ashes, paying for hauling it out and cluttering up your cellar?

None of this is necessary when you use Clairton Nut Coke, the clean fuel, the low-cost, high-heat fuel that thousands are turning to every year. It is coal with the dirt burnt out. It is real heat—all heat. No soot, no dirt, no smoke. Light, porous, easy to use.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c and 60c.

Six Agents at Work

STATEMENT OF RALPH KEMMERLING

Made October 31, 1927, at the United States Attorney's office in the presence of Eugene Morgan and Ralph H. Smith:

"I was first employed by Mr. King, executive secretary of the Citizens League, Pittsburgh, on or about April 6, 1927, as investigator. We were to investigate liquor violations, disorderly houses and gambling establishments, etc., in fact all violations pertaining to vice in the city of Pittsburgh and vicinities. Other agents working at the same time were Eugene Morgan, Herman Newman, H. Steubenrauch, Sol Rosenberg, Abe Weinberg (Arthur Kemmerling did not start working until May); James Veach and Glenn Kemmerling some two weeks later).

"On May 7, I was living at Webster Hall, in company with Morgan, Rosenberg and King. Morgan and I prepared our evidence, which we turned over to Mr. King. On May 7, 1927, there were four raids, Carlisle Club, 123 South Highland avenue; Diamond Club, 546½ Smithfield street; Progressive Club, 523 Penn avenue, and Maxie Freidberg, 5601 Baum boulevard. Two of them were ours (Diamond Club and Carlisle Club) and the other two (Progressive and Maxie Freidberg) were made on alleged buys of Sol Rosenberg.

Asks for Whisky

Several additional raids were made the next Saturday, May 14, and on May 21. King came to me on or about the week of June 7 and asked me if I knew some good honest person who could get some good whisky, and I recommended my brother Glenn, and he said he would be fine, the best fellow we could get; and the following day Glenn went to Homewood and purchased four pints of whisky, four of which were Carstairs. These were purchased at a hotel on Frankstown avenue, paying $5 for a pint of the liquor.

Glenn came to Webster Hall and gave it to me. Previously I had given him $25 which Mr. King had furnished me to buy the liquor.

The liquor was taken up to my room, 751 Webster Hall, and Mr. King came into the room and said, "Did you get that?" and we (Eugene Morgan, Glenn Kemmerling and myself) showed him the bottles, which were kept under the bed. He opened the package and said, "Looks pretty good," and then he took the whisky in the direction of his room.

Before he went he gave me $6 to give Glenn for his trouble in getting it, and then the next evening Mr. King asked if Glenn could get him some more whisky, and I said he could, and I got in touch with Glenn and he came down to Webster Hall and Mr. King said he wanted two pints of whisky. (Glenn, Eugene and I were present.) This was one Carstairs and one Sam Thompson, which were purchased by Glenn which he turned over to Mr. King.

This was purchased at a Homewood hotel. Glenn was given a $10 bill for these purchases, by King. He turned these two pints over to King in our room.

Some two days elapsed before he asked for more. Then he wanted one pint of moonshine and one pint of good whisky. I think this good whisky was Sam Thompson. (At the time this request was made, Eugene Morgan and I were present).

Two pints of whisky were purchased at Hotel —— again. This liquor was turned over to Mr. King and was taken by Mr. King to his room and locked in his trunk in my presence and in the presence of Sol Rosenberg and Eugene Morgan.

The next evening Mr. King told Glenn that he wanted two more pints and Glenn went to the hotel and purchased two pints of moonshine, which were turned over to Mr. King.

None of this liquor was changed or altered until the night before the samples were turned over to W. B. Murray, office of the Prohibition Administrator, Pittsburgh. That night Mr. King, phoned my room about 9 o'clock, while Arthur Kemmerling and a newspaper reporter were there, and we were told to come to his room.

I went first, followed by Eugene Morgan, who came about five minutes later. When we got there King and Rosenberg were there. Mr. King then opened the trunk, after locking his door, and started to pull out bottles of whisky.

Mr. King had received a letter from Weinberg that day.

Evidence Framed

He pulled this letter out of his pocket in the room that evening and took some small gummed labels out of the envelope, and said, "Well, why didn't Weinberg buy good labels, these are too small?" and Sol Rosenberg borrowed Morgan's fountain pen and he put his notes on these labels. The labels already had been signed by Weinberg's initials.

Then, after the labels had been all fixed up, Sol proceeded to wash the manufacturers' labels off of some and then Sol got the sealing wax and started sealing the bottles over the corks and then he got two bottles of moonshine that had been bought by Glenn, mixed the two bottles of bonded whisky with this moonshine.

One of these bottles of mixed whisky was labeled and used for evidence against the place at 33 Elmore street. I believe a pint of Carstairs was labeled for Maxie Freidberg's place, 110 Penn avenue.

The labels were placed on all bottles and all bottles were sealed, indicating they were evidence connected with the several places which Rosenberg had investigated. After this was done, they were shy one pint of whisky.

Then Sol says, "I still have a pint I got from one of these newspapermen," and so they broke this pint of whisky up and they all took a taste of it and put water in its place and this bottle was sealed and labeled and put with the rest of his whisky in Mr. King's trunk. There were between 11 and 13 samples altogether.

We were cautioned by Mr. King when he left the room to keep our mouths shut. Rosenberg said, "This is the only way we can get these places; we have to get them."

They got into an argument about the samples to be used for Maxie Friedberg's place, 110 Penn avenue, because Sol said he had to have good stuff for this place. They had some Carstairs wrapped in tissue and this tissue was torn off. I don't know whether Sol or King said that the tissue should have been left on and sealed right over the seal of the tissue.

Next morning these samples were taken by Rosenberg and Morgan and me as guards, accompanied by Mr. King as far as town, then the three of us went to the House Building, to the main office of the prohibition department and saw there Mr. Murray and Mr. Sheridan and several agents.

The liquor was turned over to Mr. Murray and Mr. Murray told Mr. Sheridan to put labels on the bottles and Sheridan objected and there was an argument in which Mr. Sheridan said, "I'm not supposed to do that." Mr. Murray says, "You'll do it if I tell you to," and Sheridan did. The liquor was taken at the prohibition department from my valise which had been used to bring them down and the valise was returned to me, and then we returned to Webster Hall.

All of these purchases were made after search warrants had been issued and executed upon affidavits of alleged buys made by Sol Rosenberg and Abe Weinberg, who was a witness in all cases made by Rosenberg. The liquor was purchased, labeled and substituted as evidence, to substantiate claims of buys set forth by Rosenberg and Weinberg, in their various affidavits.

The evening of the day that the buy samples were turned into prohibition headquarters, Rosenberg, Morgan and two newspapermen were in my room. Conversation was turned toward the evidence and Morgan lifted a glass and mockingly gave this toast, "Here's some of your evidence, Sol." Rosenberg was visibly embarrassed and flushed red. The next morning, King, having been told of the incident by Rosenberg, called Morgan to the carpet, and dressed him down for his careless talk in the presence of the two newspapermen.

This statement is made of my own free will, without solicitations from any one and without any hope or promise of reward, but with a firm desire to have the truth established so that justice may be done.

Wanted Whisky

STATEMENT OF ARTHUR KEMMERLING

[Made November 1, 1927, in the United States Attorney's office in the presence of Eugene Morgan, Ralph Kemmerling and Ralph H. Smith.]

While I was working on the investigation following the discovery of a bottle of nitro-glycerine in Dr. Zahniser's office, upon one occasion, when I was going out of town, Mr. King asked me, in the lobby of Webster Hall, if I could secure three quarts of Carstairs whisky. I stated I supposed I could and after a few moments he said, "Never mind. I'll have somebody else get it."

At one time, Rosenberg told me that Maxie Freidberg never sold any liquor, that he gave it away to his patrons. These fellows, Morgan and Ralph, complained to me the latter part of May or the first of June, that they didn't believe in the kind of work King was doing, stating that they were afraid it would cause some trouble. Then they related the "frame-up" case to me. We were desirous of keeping our reputations as clean as they had been up until that time.

One night Ralph Kemmerling told me to go out to the house and bring in some whisky that Glenn had out there; King wanted it that night.

This was about 12 o'clock (that was the early part of June), and I went out to the house. Glenn didn't have the liquor there and when I came back to the hotel, there were a few police officers in plainclothes sitting in the lobby, and the hotel detective pointed me out to them as one of King's investigators. They marched in a circle and examined me quite closely, and I was glad that I didn't have the liquor on me.

At various times parts of this incident were related to Samuel Gartner, Charles Gregg, Henry Lenon and Bill Duffy.

This statement is made of my own free will, without solicitation from any one and without any hope or promise of reward, but with a firm desire to have the truth established so that justice may be done.

ARTHUR KEMMERLING.

[Statement of Glenn P. Kemmerling made November 3, 1927, in the United States Attorney's office in the presence of Eugene Morgan and Ralph Kemmerling.]

Called on 'Phone

Sometime during the month of June, 1927, I was called on the 'phone by Ralph Kemmerling and asked to come down to Webster Hall Hotel. When I got to the hotel I was asked by Ralph if I could get some good liquor and I said I could. He asked me if I would get him four (4) pints. I asked if there was any particular kind he wanted and he said no, just four (4) pints of good stuff. I was given $25.00 by him to purchase this liquor and I went to a Frankstown avenue hotel and purchased these four (4) pints of liquor, labeled "Carstairs."

I was asked by Ralph to deliver the liquor to Mr. King's room. Mr. King was not in so I took it up to the boy's room, Number 751. I opened the package and showed them what it was. I think one of them located Mr. King in Rosenberg's room and he came in in about five minutes, looked at this liquor and remarked that it looked all right and asked me if I had been fixed up for my trouble. I told him partially.

He gave me several dollars taxi fare and told the boys to put the liquor away.

It was several days later that I was down at Webster Hall and I was asked by Ralph if I could get several more pints, and to see what other kind I could get besides Carstairs.

King Wanted Mooney

I went out and purchased a pint of Carstairs and a pint of Sam Thompson at a hotel in Frankstown avenue. I took it to Webster Hall and took it to Room 751, and delivered it to Mr. King who was in the room. All this liquor cost $5 a pint.

Then I was asked (I think, the next day, although I am not certain) by Mr. King if I could get some "mooney" and he asked me what it would cost. I gave him a price of what they would charge for it. I went to the hotel and purchased a pint of "mooney" and a pint of Sam Thompson and delivered it to the boy's room, 751. King was not present at the time.

Then several days later I was called on the telephone and asked to stop at Webster Hall Hotel. I said I could not stop as I did not have the time because I was going away. It was Ralph who called and he told me that Mr King wanted two (2) pints of "mooney" and that he would pay me for it when I brought it down. I delivered the two (2) pints of "mooney" to Webster Hall in their room. On another occasion several days later, I was called on the 'phone and asked to bring a pint of Sam Thompson down to the Hall. I brought it down and delivered it to Mr. Morgan. A friend of mine, Mr. Marlin, was with me when I made this purchase and when I delivered it.

This statement is made of my own free will, without solicitation from anyone and without any hope or promise of reward, but with a firm desire to have the truth established so that justice may be done.

Life actually prolonged!

By keeping the system cleansed of poisons

MEN of science are constantly working on a problem vital to the human race—longevity! They find that one of the surest ways to increase your span of life is to keep the intestines cleansed of poisons due to wrong habits of living and eating and to delayed elimination. They find everybody in danger of this condition—everybody suffering from it at times.

Many of our foremost scientists recommend the use of Nujol as a harmless corrective and preventive. For Nujol does both things for you because it has the peculiar quality of not being absorbed by the system at all. But Nujol does absorb body poisons. Carries them away right out of the system. Corrects internal difficulties. If taken faithfully Nujol makes impossible delayed elimination and the absorption of poisons into the blood. Thus it acts as a preventive. Your whole system will benefit if you learn to use Nujol whenever you feel the need of it. Nujol is so safe that babies, old people, and sick people can take it too. Ask your doctor about it. He'll tell you it can't hurt you. It's not habit-forming, contains no drugs or medicine. Perfected by the Chemical Products Division of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

Nujol contains no drugs or medicine. It is different from anything else. Absolutely pure and safe to take under any conditions.

COOKING SCHOOL ECHOES

My three favorite cup cake recipes

I AM sure you will find these cup cakes a dainty treat for Sunday supper desserts or when a few good friends drop in for luncheon or tea.

I make them with Crisco, the pure, snowy-white, vegetable shortening, and hardly anyone who eats them can tell they are made without expensive butter.

Cup Cakes

⅓ cup Crisco
1 cup sugar
3 eggs
1¾ cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cream Crisco and sugar. Add beaten eggs and mix well. Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt and add alternately with the milk to the first mixture. Add vanilla and beat thoroughly. Pour into greased muffin or cup cake pans and bake in quick oven (425 degrees F.) 15 to 20 minutes.

This recipe makes 15 to 20 cakes.

Filled Cup Cakes

Follow recipe for Cup Cakes. When cool split in halves crosswise and remove portion of the cake. Fill center with stiffly whipped cream, flavored and sweetened. Put halves together and ice all over with Creamy Chocolate Frosting.

Creamy Chocolate Frosting

1½ cups milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
4 squares unsweetened chocolate
1½ cups powdered sugar
Few grains salt

Cook milk with chocolate, cut in pieces, over a slow fire, stirring until thick and smooth. Add sugar and cook again until very thick, stirring constantly. Cool and add vanilla and salt.

Filled Chocolate Cakes

⅓ cup Crisco
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
⅔ cup milk
3 squares unsweetened chocolate
1½ cups flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoons vanilla

Cream Crisco and sugar together. Add beaten eggs and mix well. Cook the milk and chocolate, cut in pieces, over a slow fire, stirring until thick. Cool. Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt and add alternately with the chocolate to the first mixture. Add vanilla and beat thoroughly.

Bake in small, greased cup cake pans in a quick oven (425 degrees F.) 15 to 20 minutes. While hot remove a square from the top of each cake and substitute a marshmallow in place of the cake removed. Ice with Boiled Frosting.

Boiled Frosting

1¾ cups sugar
2 egg whites
½ cup water
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cook sugar and water together, stirring until the sugar is dissolved. Boil without stirring until the syrup forms a soft ball when tested in cold water (238 degrees F.) Pour over the stiffly beaten egg whites and beat constantly until the mixture holds its shape. When cool add vanilla.

2 REFORMATORY BOYS HELD AS ROBBERS

A career which broadened from milder forms of burglary to substantial highway robbery was planned by two boys at Pennsylvania Training School, Morganza, the boys—Henry Carey, 19, of 26 Penelope street, and Steve Koranic, 17, of Uniontown—admitted today in Morals Court.

All but the last step they planned. And that last step confronted them today when 17 witnesses appeared before Magistrate E. M. Hough to testify in 10 charges against the boys—breaking and entering, robbery, highway robbery, malicious mischief and carrying concealed weapons. They were held for court.

The boys were arrested on Tuesday as, police testified, they tried to force their way into Brookline Pharmacy, 502 Brookline boulevard.

WATCH FOR JURY FIX ATTEMPT

Fearing that attempts might be made to influence members of the jury trying three alleged leaders of a conspiracy to wreck independent cleaning and dying concerns, a warning was issued in Criminal Court to the jurymen to refrain from discussing the trial and to report to the court any attempt to talk to them on this subject. The defendants on trial are Jack Diamond, 325 Melwood avenue; Louis Cohen, 5626 Callowhill street, and A. J. Roth, 6357 Glenview place.

Mrs. Harry W. Friedman of Braddock avenue charges that the three conspired to destroy the business of Harry W. Friedman, Isadore Rosenfelt and William Steinberg, dealing as the Liberty Cleaners and Dyers, Liberty avenue and Thirty-eighth street. Diamond is said to have come here from Chicago and to have attempted to force local cleaners into an organization whose object was to boost prices. Friedman refused to join the combine and was threatened. A short time later a cleaning machine blew up in his plant and clothes were destroyed by acid thrown on a truck.

ASK CHANGE AT FOSTER HOME

The appointment of a commission to have charge of the Stephen C. Foster home was asked in a letter presented to the Mayor yesterday by a committee of the Civic Club composed of Miss Marie Dermitt, Will Earhart and George Seibel. The committee also asked that the maintenance and operation fund of the home be transferred from the Bureau of City Property to the Mayor's office, and an ordinance effecting the change is being prepared.

3 VIEWERS APPOINTED TO ASSESS DAMAGES

Judge Thomas J. Ford of Common Pleas Court appointed E. Z. Smith, W. M. McJunkin and F. S. Haller viewers to assess damages and benefits arising out of the improvement of Plum way, Virginia avenue, Wilbur, Winsline, Gusella, Montana, Hetzel and Deely streets and Brandon road and Enter way in the City of Pittsburgh.

13 Plantabbs made this change!

One Plantabb a week for 13 weeks, 90 days, made the change in the above begonia. It was a healthy plant, but before being fed Plantabbs grew very slowly.

If you encounter difficulty in raising healthy plants during winter months you will find these little tablets invaluable. By replenishing the plant food in the soil, they make your plants grow more rapidly, keep them healthy, and strengthen them so that they can successfully withstand the cold winter nights and hot, dry furnace heat during the day.

Valuable Booklet FREE

Your Plants

A 32-page book, profusely illustrated and containing a wealth of valuable information, has just been prepared for users of Plantabbs. In it, Mr. F. F. Rockwell, nationally famous authority, tells how to keep your potted plants and flowers from withering and turning brown in winter, how and when to water, when to repot, how to take cuttings, how to fertilize, what to do when insect pests attack, and a hundred-and-one other helpful hints.

You can get this remarkable new book by purchasing from your florist, druggist or seed dealer, one 50c package or two 25c packages of Plantabbs. When you reach home, empty the tablets into another container and mail the empty carton to us. Mr. Rockwell's book will be sent to you immediately without any cost to you whatever. One Trip to the Tropics Fine for the Health

HAVE you ever visited Havana? If you have not been to Cuba you have missed one of the beauty spots of the earth.

This country is our nearest tropical neighbor. So quickly and easily is it reached that its luxuriant vegetation, gorgeous flowers and unfamiliar architecture, make it seem like a fairyland.

DR COPELAND

If it took weeks to reach Cuba and in traveling to reach its shores you passed many other countries, your eyes would grow familiar to the changing scenery. But going to it direct from New York, the contrasts are so marked and the beauties so enthralling, that its glories take away the breath.

Americans do not travel enough. We are so well satisfied with what we possess that it takes unusual effort to pry us loose from our familiar surroundings.

Of course no one can make us believe and certainly not admit, that anything can be better than North America. But we never love our own country better than after we have contrasted it with new lands.

In any event it does us good to travel a bit, widen our horizons and feast our eyes on what Nature and man have done to beautify and make more appealing the surroundings of our foreign neighbors. It makes us better citizens.

To steady application to business, trade or profession is likely to take the edge of alertness and the highest quality of human service. There must be variety in life or everything grows stale.

Just as the winds dry up the mosquito pools and drive away pestilence, so does the breeze of travel clarify the brain and dry up the stagnating ooze of dreary existence. It gives new thoughts, creates new ambitions and broadens the outlook on life.

The mental state has much to do with the circulation. If we are happy, cheerful and filled with zeal for hard work, then our hearts beat strongly and send the blood in cleansing streams to every part of the body. The stimulus of travel brings a stimulation of our muscles and increases our physical fitness.

Next time you are bored with yourself and the world, have lost your energy and appetite, and feel ready to lie down to die, try a ticket to Cuba. No matter if it has to be a third-class ticket, give your mind and body the luxury of a trip to a country where everything is different than it is at home.

You will enjoy every bit of your trip, will absorb unlimited quantities of new energy, and return renewed in strength and determination. Home will seem so good, too, that you will go about your affairs with a song on your lips.

Gay Rain Coats Safety Factor, Says Fay King

RAINCOATS AND RAIN SHOES ARE SOME SPLASH THIS WINTER - THE BRIGHTER THE BETTER!
MEN SHOULD ADOPT BRIGHT CLOTHES, TOO IT WILL AVERT TRAFFIC DANGER ON DARK DAYS!
HEAD LIGHT
FAY. KING

By FAY KING.

THE other day while ambling down the Main street, I suddenly observed a beauteous creature with shapely pins who it seemed to me had been unduly kicked in the shins.

What a pity, I thought. But observing more closely, I discovered that what I had taken to be welts of black and blue were really fantastic designs in black court plaster she had pasted on underneath her sheer hose!

Surely this is a day in which we can create and carry on our own ideas in fads.

Rain coats this Winter are certainly going to be bright spots on dark days! That's a good idea, too!

Men should adopt the same glaring combinations of red, green and yellow. It's safer in the traffic jam. The man at the wheel has a better chance to pull the brake and save your neck if he can see you a block away in a blazing rubber coat.

If the traffic jam gets any worse than it is now we will all have to dress like white caps.

In fact, I have thought seriously of trimming my hat with a head light.

I did buy a pair of white gloves to do my own traffic signaling after the traffic officer leaves his post, but I have not had the nerve to try it yet!

I am not so interested in transoceanic flying as I am in some invention like water wings that would float me over the traffic when I want to cross the street.

I wish somebody would get busy on a curb plane like that.

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

by HELEN ROWLAND

BE YOURSELF!

BE YOURSELF, O ye middle-aged generation!

If you must play around, play with somebody of your own age and generation. "Pick on somebody your own size"—and stop robbing the cradle! The cradle is bad enough without your encouragement!

Why is a woman of forty always so flattered when a youth in his twenties seems to find her thrilling and condescends to treat her like an "equal"?

HELEN ROWLAND

Why is a rotund, triple-chinned man of fifty so pleased with himself, when he has puffed around the dance floor a few times with a wisp of a flapper, who winks painfully at her Boy friend over his shoulder?

The middle-aged man, a little tired with the strenuous struggle of life, fondly fancies that if he can marry a girl half his age, he will miraculously renew his youth, be all pepped up, and get a companion who will always thrill him and never bore him.

What he gets is a spoiled child, whose young feet lead him a "dance macabre" that frazzles out his muscles and nearly pops his heart; whose caprices put wrinkles in his face and dents in his pocket-book; and whose indifference puts out the last spark of his vanity and shatters his last illusion about himself.

A young girl longs for the day when she will be so fascinating that she will drive men to distraction. An older woman longs merely to make some man happy.

A young girl loves to imagine that she can carry a man off his feet. An older woman hopes that she can keep him ON his feet.

What he needs is somebody who will rub his back, fix his bath-water, massage his scalp, find his glasses, overlook his belt measure—and at the same time call him "Boysy" and think of him as a Prince Charming. THAT kind of woman would keep him young forever!

Her crown of glory used to be a woman's hair, but just at present it seems to be the turban, of glistening metallic brocade, that matches the evening ensemble, which has a silver or golden glint. For dining, dancing and theater-going these softly draped metal cloth hats are quite the vogue.

TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE

Friday, November 18

VERY lively and enterprising conditions are forecast for business and employment on this day, with the "lights" and the fiery Mars inciting and sustaining initiative and bold moves.

Yet, there are certain portents of risk, making it advisable to consider thoughtfully in the outlay of money and other financial connections which carry hazards under a doubtful Jupiter. Social, artistic and affectional affiliations may be mildly pleasant and profitable.

Those whose birthday it is may find the year lively and enterprising, with the energies under fine stimulus to initiative and large undertakings, but there is a note of warning to be conservative in the handling of funds, as finances are under hazardous rule. Personal affairs are interesting and happy.

A child born on this day should be resourceful, active and enterprising and may succeed in many independent connections or in employment. But it should be taught prudence and conservatism in the management of its funds.

Tell Them How You Lost Fat

This is to people who have lost fat in the modern scientific way. And who have gained new beauty, new health and vitality by it. You are everywhere. Tell others the facts, as someone probably told you.

Some two decades ago, scientific men discovered a cause of excess fat. They learned why some are thin and some are fat, regardless of food and exercise. They found a way to fight that cause by supplying the body some elements required in nutrition.

Then came Marmola prescription tablets embodying that new method. They have now been used for 20 years—millions of boxes of them. You can see the results wherever you look. Slenderness prevails. All ideas of beauty, all styles in dress, are based on slender figures.

Users of Marmola are not forced to abnormal exercise or diet, though moderation helps. They simply take four tablets daily until weight comes down to normal. And new health and vitality comes with that reduction—in an amazing way.

The formula of Marmola comes in every box. Also the reasons for results. Thus you may know just why the good comes, and have no fear of harm.

People who are over-fat should start Marmola now. Order a box—before you forget. Learn all the facts about it, then watch results. When you gain your desires, tell your friends how to gain them. Don't wait any longer.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 per box. If your druggist is out, he will get them at once from his jobber.

Smile Often

Show clear white teeth, gums like coral now

RESTORING dull, off-color teeth to polished whiteness quickly is a recent dental achievement.

It's been found that dingy teeth come simply from a film that forms on teeth. A stubborn film old-type dentifrices did not successfully clear off. That's why brushing fails you.

Run your tongue across your teeth and you can feel that film now—a sort of slippery coating. Beneath it are the white teeth you envy.

It keeps your smile unattractive because it absorbs discolorations from food, smoking, etc. It invites tooth decay, gum troubles and pyorrhea because it breeds bacteria.

Now, in a new-type dentifrice called Pepsodent, a scientific combatant has been found. Leading dentists widely urge it. All druggists have it. Works wonders on dingy teeth. 10-day test sent free.

The Best Cough Syrup Is Home-made

Here's an easy way to save $2, and yet have best cough medicine you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this famous home-made cough syrup. But have you ever used it? Thousands of families feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will soon earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup. It tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, which has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

SHE WOUNDS SELF, BEGS FOR DEATH

By International News Service

WALTHAM, Mass., Nov. 17.—"She was in terrible pain. She kept gasping and begging me to finish it.

"'Finish me, finish me,' she cried until I couldn't stand it any more and finally I just had to shoot her."

This was the story told by Joseph Buckley, 23, of Weston, who is dying here in the Waltham Hospital, while his sweetheart, Miss Grace Mills, 19, of this town, lies dead with two bullet wounds above the heart.

The young couple, who met while both were in the employ of the Potter Press, a local publishing firm, have been engaged for almost a year. The girl's mother, Mrs. John Barry, and her stepfather refused to allow a wedding because of the heart disease from which Miss Mills suffered.

"They wouldn't let us marry," the young man continued.

"We met Tuesday afternoon and decided that if we couldn't live together, we would certainly die together."

"She wanted me to shoot her and I wanted her to shoot me," Buckley said, "but neither could bear to hurt the other. We finally returned to Waltham, arguing all the way, and then drove back again to Sudbury."

In this town, near Henry Ford's Wayside Inn, the girl made a sudden decision, he said.

She suddenly grabbed the gun her fiance had bought and shot—not him, but herself. She did not, however, die.

"She seemed to be suffering terribly," the young man continued, "and she kept begging me to shoot her and put her out of pain."

SALEM, Mass., Nov. 17—(INS.)—John Corrigan, local garage foreman, is going to New York November 26 to see the Army-Navy football game at the Polo Grounds. How he got the tickets is an epic in the annals of gate crashing.

Corrigan was in the Army during the World War. When he found that tickets to the game were almost impossible to obtain, he wrote to senators and representatives galore. But no luck came.

Finally Corrigan saw in the newspapers that President and Mrs. Coolidge would be unable to attend. He sent a note to Representative A. Andrew and remarked that if the President was not using his tickets he might send them to Salem. He got the tickets.

Shut Your Eyes to Find Why 'Still Life' Won

By ALMA SIOUX SCARBERRY.

Do you know what it is all about when you go out to the Carnegie Institute art exhibit? Or are you one of the ones who has shaken your head and feared you are entirely too hoi polloi?

This is how to find out why "Still Life" by Henry Matisse was given first prize in preference to many other paintings that seemed to the layman so much more worthy. Virgil Barker gave the tip in his lecture at Carnegie Institute last night.

Try looking at the picture intensely for two or three minutes. Don't sneak a look at another thing! Then close your eyes. Just see how much of that painting is still left on the retina of your eye, while the others will be gone.

There you are! But if you get dizzy and can see splotches on all of them, don't worry. For the famous Mr. Barker in his talk, "Preferences in Pictures," begged:

"Don't try too hard to understand them. It will do no good. The function of the painter in society is to see things freshly and newly. He is passing on his way of looking at things to us. Our attitude should be one of welcome even though we do not understand."

Mr. Barker is contributing editor of The Arts, and has a personality that makes you want to understand what he is trying to make you see. It is feared that a great many found it a hopeless task, for they crowded around to ask questions and left with a worried look.

Ten of the paintings from the exhibit hung in the hall. They are much discussed ones, and were selected by Mr. Barker for explanation.

Folks like the painting of the Hon. Percy Windham, a man sitting in a comfy-looking library. Because it shows man in a natural atmosphere, he explained.

"A Gitano," by Augustus John, he described as "A superb piece of painting. He has put the paint on the canvas to look almost as though it appeared there of its own accord. But the technique is subordinate to the character."

A queer looking landscape he chose because:

"It is designed in color spots. Not in line or shape. Note the relationship between the reds and the reds and the whites and the whites."

To an amateur it looks amateurish. A woman close by shook her head and whispered:

"It looks like a mass of barn paint to me."

"Yeats at Pettipas," by John Sloan, is composed of several oddly shaped human beings sitting around a table drinking. Mr. Barker said it showed

"Paint put on with a great deal of enjoyment. They are happy those people."

The lady beside us yawned and gave a little "tut tutting" sound.

When you see "Tulips" by Dasburg if you are like Mr. Barker you feel:

"They are just going to open up at any moment, when the eye gets up among the flowers. The lines that the flowers take give you that feeling."

That is another painting few people seem to have been able to see any particular beauty in. The majority say it leaves them just feeling they have seen a few artificial looking tulips sitting in a matter-of-fact bowl.

The "Portrait of an Abbe" is a stiff looking mechanical individual sitting up straight with straight hands and a wooden expression. The speaker explained:

"The artist Hofer has simplified that picture to give you the feeling of will power and fixity of purpose."

The "Two Nudes" by Karfior that received honorable mention have been openly laughed at by many. Mr. Barker was enthusiastic:

"There we see love of paint for its own sake. I get an emotional feeling of whistful immaturity. It seems that the feeling does not come from the painting itself, but from the tremulous coloring of outline."

A man said loudly:

"Boy, that first dame looks as though she had caught toothache from being out without enough clothes on."

"Sleep," by Proctor, is two figures that look more like sculpture. The critic closed his eyes:

"I get a feeling of sleep from the interweaving of lines back and forth and back and forth. Simply from the physical reaction of the eye you get the sinking sensation of sleep."

Mr. Baker defended Matisse as an artist and winner of first prize because he is:

"Often disliked and misunderstood. But he is master of himself in his new way of seeing things."

Then he urged the mechanical trick of closing the eyes after looking at Matisse's work for two or three minutes as a test of its power.

This year's exhibit, Mr. Baker declares is the:

"Most exciting exhibition I have ever seen. The prize winners here are but echoes of the new trend in art circles all over the world."

Radio Ruling Clears Stations Here

Little, if any, interference for KDKA. WCAE regains its former wave length of 461.3 meters.

These are the effects in Pittsburgh of the order late yesterday by the Federal Radio Commission, which shifted the positions of 69 radio stations throughout the country "in the interest of better reception".

In the order wave lengths, power and broadcasting hours were redistributed to clear of all interference 25 choice wave channels between 600 and 1,000 kilocycles, opening the way to clear local and distant reception.

WCAE, which since last June has been broadcasting on 580 kilocycles, is placed on the 650 kilocycle channel, and today began broadcasting on that frequency which carries a 461.3 meter wave length.

KDKA, which continues on its present frequency of 950 kilocycles or 315.6 meters, is not affected by the order, other than through the removal of nearby stations.

New Officers Elected By Hospital

A predicted change in the management of the Columbia Hospital took place at the meeting of its board of managers yesterday at which Mrs. A. M. Scott, a member of the board, was elected president, succeeding Mrs. George Sands.

The elections of Mrs. R. M. Douglas as recording secretary and Miss Mary L. McCance as financial secretary were two other changes in the staff of officials of the institution. The following officers were re-elected:

Vice presidents, Miss Emma Mahon and Mrs. W. A. Krebs; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Ira Gribben; donation secretary, Mrs. S. A. Taylor.

The change in management is said to revolve about the dismissal of Dr. John W. Dixon, a member of the hospital staff.

NEW BRIDGE OPENED -:- AT NEW KENSINGTON

CROWD BRAVES RAIN

Citizens of Westmoreland and Allegheny counties joined in dedicating the new span connecting the two counties.

HAS ARCHITECTURAL BEAUTY

The great steel structure replaces an old bridge that long was inadequate to care for the heavy traffic in the thickly populated industrial section along the Allegheny River. The new bridge cost $750,000 and is considered a fine example of architecture given much attention in the erection of new spans in the city and county.

MORE BEAUTY

Irene Connor, of New Kensington, held by Police Chief Lloyd Skinner, of New Kensington, cut the ribbon barrier.

MRS. JANE GIBSON EASTON

Forced to testify from a stretcher in the Hall-Mills case, where she was the state's star witness, Mrs. Jane Gibson Easton, the "Pig Woman," was carried from the courtroom last spring at conclusion of her testimony, apparently but a few days from death. She has just been discharged from the Jersey City Hospital, however, after a recovery which certain of her doctors regard as marvelous.

IT NEVER PAYS

By GILBERT ROGERS

Margie Sits in on a Duel Of Words, Shevlin and Martin Principals

BUT she was weeping frantically. "Mark, dear, that I should have caused anything like this!—but you know how things have happened. I—I'll do anything I can! Oh, what a cowardly thing to do, . . ."

The butler had come into the hallway, and it was Margie who remembered to preserve the proprieties.

"Mr. Trelaw has had a slip," she said in a crisp voice of warning for Carlotta, "I think he will have to be carried to his room."

She saw him lifted in the servant's arms, his eyes bitter and dark. She saw Carlotta, distressed, terribly upset.

And now for the first time Margie noticed Carlotta's dead white face and staring eyes. How could she be in love with a man who had done a thing like this? And as if in answer to that thought Carlotta said slowly:

"I guess I'm cured. Cured for good. I knew I was a fool to think you or anyone could help ...im back. But now—now ...ant him back any more! ...o see him hurt!"

...was no doubting the truth in her monotonous, almost lifeless tones.

CHAPTER XI.

...he rest of that day the ...g that had happened ...g like a pall upon the ...t.

Things went on as if nothing had occurred, yet somehow the house seemed to hold a spirit of something brooding as if it were a live thing.

Margie wondered what thoughts moved now in Mark Trelaw's brain. Or what Carlotta was thinking in her own room. Shevlin undoubtedly slept, untroubled by what he had done, unharmed.

But Margie could not rest idle. She even wondered why she remained. It was true that Carlotta seemed to want her near, had begged her not to go, but after all there was nothing for her to do, no real reason why she should stay.

And yet something, as vague as a feeling, made her want to remain as if she had not yet seen the end. She went out for a long walk. The summer was beginning to die, and the sense of autumn hung in the air.

When she came back, it was late. Mrs. Brooke met her almost at the door. Since the occurrence of the morning, she seemed like a changed woman. It was difficult to imagine her becoming hysterical, or becoming even jealous. There was a spirit of something remote about her, a spirit of dignity and peace.

She said to Margie abruptly:

"Adrian Martin got in today. He's coming here tonight. For dinner."

"Adrian Martin! Coming here?"

Mrs. Brooke nodded. "He found out," she said, and Margie did not have to wonder whom she meant. "He called him on the phone—I don't know what he's up to . . ."

"But why do you let him—now that you feel differently—"

"It's because I do feel differently. I don't want him to go now. I'm not going to rest until I make him go through a little of what he's made me suffer. I'm going to find a way—if I can."

Yes, it was a changed woman speaking, a woman possessed by an idea, a cold fury, and i.. full control of herself. Margie thought of all those varied moods in which she had seen Carlotta Brooke—frightened and weeping, or gay and careless and superficial. She lived always through her emotions, and now these had been touched at their deepest.

"How is—how is Mr. Trelaw?" Margie hesitantly asked.

Carlotta looked away. "He's better. He' staying in his room, of course. Margie, when I think of how I've used him. I feel ashamed . . . miserable. I'm going to make it up to him somehow. But what a cowardly thing it was to do—what that man did!"

Margie dressed, and when she came down again, it seemed strange to see how self-possessed Mrs. Brooke appeared. Know ng what she knew, it was hard to believe that this was not a casual little dinner part of four friends.

Shevlin, refreshed by sleep, and cool as ever, lounged in his dinner clothes, chatting with Adrian Martin. What a tangle of hates and bitterness was hidden underneath all this pretense of politeness!

Adrian Martin came forward and greeted Margie with a smile.

"It's sometime since we've met," he murmured dryly. But beyond that, he ...de no mention of that unforgotten night in his house on the Cliff Walk.

At dinner Shevlin was in high spirits. Even now Margie felt something of the fascination of the man. He drank champagne steadily, but it did not seem to affect the clearness of his brain.

He talked of South America and revealed a knowledge of his subject which astonished Margie. And Adrian Martin, with his heavy, sardonic voice, would now and then agree, or correct a point.

But once Margie intercepted a glance between the men, a glance without hatred but full of secret hostility. She had a feeling that underneath their casualness, each was only waiting for an opportunity to strike hard. They were well-matched.

It was to Mrs. Brooke that Adrian Martin directed most of his remarks. He seemed amused by the things she said, even ventured to flatter her once or twice.

"He likes her," Margie thought. "But I wonder why he came here. What can Shevlin want with him now?"

Whatever it was remained private. Excusing himself with an elaborate apology, Shevlin informed Carlotta and Margie that he had business to discuss with the guest. After dinner he went into the small library with Adrian Martin.

Margie felt restless. She got up suddenly.

"Carlotta, I'm going back to New York tomorrow. I've got to do something—I just can't stay on here, like this."

"I wish you'd stay, but I won't try to keep you. After all, I don't know what may happen."

The soft air came through the opened windows. Margie felt suddenly sad, without knowing why.

"I think I'll go out—take a little walk—it will be the last time. Won't you come?"

Carlotta shook her head. "Not now. I'd rather wait—I'd rather see if anything happens."

A strange patience seemed to have come over her. Margie sauntered to the door, wandered down towards the sea. She was remembering many things, and most of all, Jerry.

She saw herself years later thinking of him like this, recalling those golden days and nights that had once been so wonderful because of him.

"I shall be an old maid probably and grow sour and shrill. And keep a black cat. But I won't forget—I won't, because I can't ever forget."

Without knowing where she was going she turned into the avenue and found herself passing the big Farrington house. It was lighted brilliantly as always. She looked wistfully at the windows. As she did so, a car came up the street, and drew up before the gates.

A chauffeur jumped out, began to lift out bags, hatboxes . . . Then a slim girl followed. She caught sight of Margie and stopped. Margie was staring back.

It was Mabel Farrington—Mabel whom she thought was in New York with Jerry!

Margie felt as if her blood had turned to ice. She could not find her voice.

Then Mabel said hurriedly: "But I thought you were in New York—I thought you were there."

"No, I—I—" Margie stumbled helplessly. "Is he—better? If he all right?" she managed to ask.

Mabel did not answer for a moment. She seemed to be making up her mind.

"I've just gotten in," she said. "But I might as well tell you now. I might as well. Come inside with me."

Wondering and excited, Margie followed her into the blue ornate house.

CHAPTER XII.

WONDERING and afraid, Margie followed Mabel Farrington into the big house. Lights, voices, a servant hurrying to lift her bag, Mrs. Farrington, in a regal evening gown that merely made her look overdressed, coming out into the hallway. . . .

"Mabel, so you're really back . . . we only had your wire—"

"Yes, Mother," Mabel interrupted. "Yes, I'll be with you in a moment. But I have to see Miss Marsh—something important."

In a room decorated in the Chinese fashion with red lacquer cabinets and screens of gold insert, Madge found a chair for Margie.

From a dozen little lamps came a soft mellowness like the mellowness of twilight. It was very silent in there as if the fawn-colored rug had absorbed every sound in the garish, expensive room.

Margie's pulse was moving rapidly. She scanned Mabel's face. It must be news about Jerry, of course; and she struggled to check her impatience. Had something happened to him?

She could almost believe that, noticing Mabel's pallor, her look of tiredness, the strange, unhappy expression in her eyes.

"I tried to find you in New York," said Margie. "You weren't in the 'phone book, and I didn't know whom you knew. I thought if I came back here Carlotta Brooke could tell me."

"Yes," said Margie breathlessly, "yes—please tell me what you're going to tell me. Has anything happened?"

"Not to Jerry. No. Not to him. He's completely recovered—just a little weak. He told me that those fevers come and go like that. He thought he was through. He didn't expect another attack. . . ."

To Be Continued.

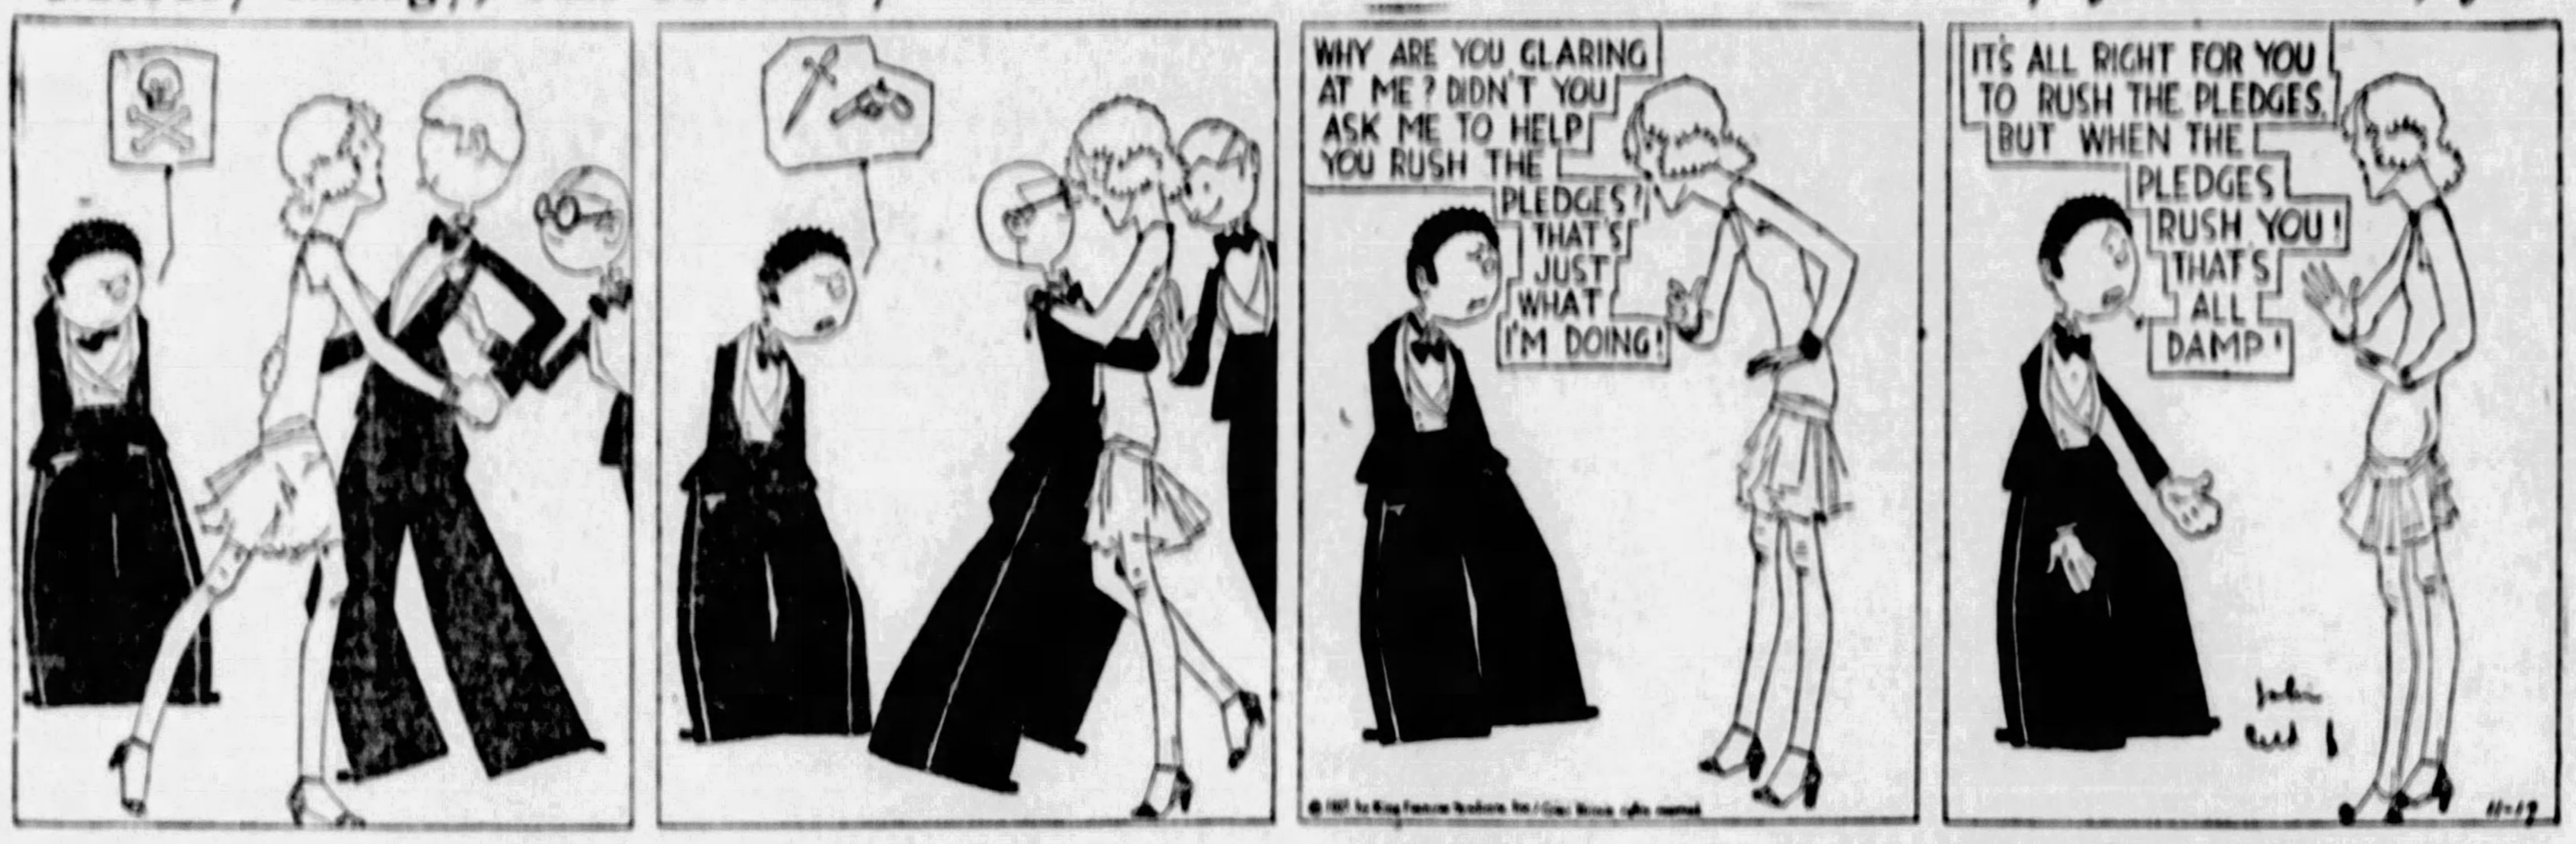
Merely Margy, An Awfully Sweet Girl

Story by Lloyd Mayer

By John Held, Jr.



WHY ARE YOU GLARING AT ME? DIDN'T YOU ASK ME TO HELP YOU RUSH THE PLEDGES? THAT'S JUST WHAT I'M DOING!
IT'S ALL RIGHT FOR YOU TO RUSH THE PLEDGES, BUT WHEN THE PLEDGES RUSH YOU! THAT'S ALL DAMP!
John Held Jr.

"Well, my dear, this DANCE at ARab and NOIsy's fraTERnity house the other night was SIMply KILLing, because all these odd FRESHmen who they are trying VIolently to PLEDGE were there, my dear, and I had a PERfect WHIRL, no less, because these strange bimbos simply RUSHED me all EVEning, my dear, and of course ARab was SIMply FUrious because every time he'd cut IN on me one of these FRESHies would sort of SLIDE up CASurally and cut him OUT—can you BEAR it? But I REALLY had a simply seRAPHic TIME, my dear, because SOME of these YOUTHS were REALLY too SWEET, my dear. I mean I HONestly aDORE these YOUNGer boys when they are the terribly CUNning TYPE, my dear, because they're so inGEnious and all, do you know what I mean? And all except this POISonous benny from BROOKlyn, who ARab and NOIsy are so THRILLED about, I think these FRESHies are' right CUTE as these SHEbas from VirGINia say, my dear, because they are just the AGE when they sort of conFIDE in you that they are DESp'rately in LOVE with you and ask you to eLOPE with them because otherwise their LIFE will be UTterly RUined or something—you know the type! But I honestly think it serves ARab RIGHT to be all hot and BOTHered about my not giving him any TIME at this DANCE because these cunning youths were CROWDing me so because I think it's SIMply riDIC'lous the way he imagines he ought to have monOPely on me or something—I ACtually DO!"

Love's Embers

Absorbing Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife"

By Adele Garrison

Madge Finds Herself in a Tight Plc e Wih Her Employer, Philip Veritzen.

THE rapid click of typewriters came to our ears as we reached the top of the stairs leading to the Veritzen offices. I drew a breath of relief and chided myself for my absurd panic of a minute before. If I were to occupy the high place in the professional world which Mr. Veritzen's work made possible for me, I reminded myself that I must not balk at keeping a business appointment with my employer, even if the day were Sunday and the offices deserted. But the welcome sound of the typewriters and the fact that Mr. Veritzen betrayed no astonishment when he heard them proved beyond any doubt that he had not meant our interview to be staged in a building with no other occupants.

"They're on the job, I see," he said in a low voice as we came into the room where four office assistants, three girls and a man, were busily at work. They rose at his entrance and returned his cordial greetings with evident pleasure at his return, even though it meant the spoiling of their holiday.

"Jim, will you please bring in the report I wired for," he said to Mr. Henderson, the solitary man of the group, who, I had been told, had been associated with the great man since boyhood.

"Immediately," Henderson replied, and indeed we hardly had reached the great producer's private suite of offices before Henderson came in, laid upon the massive mahogany desk a bundle of typed papers and noiselessly disappeared again.

"Will you please find something to read for a few minutes while I glance over this," he asked me, and, with a smiling nod of assent, I opened the bookcase, took from it the first volume on which my eyes rested, and sat down in a chair drawn close to a window in the farthest corner of the room, with my back to my employer. I knew well the idiosyncrasy which the request indicated. Mr. Veritzen never is able to concentrate upon any piece of work if he is conscious of any eyes upon him, and invariably asks anyone in the room with him to read or work while he gives his attention to the particular task before him.

For at least 15 minutes I sat perfectly silent, my eyes traveling over and over the page of the book to which I had opened. I did not turn a page, for I knew, as did every one else associated with him, Philip Veritzen's nervous reaction to any noise while absorbed in any task. Then I heard the sound of a chair pushed back, and looked up as my employer crossed the room to my side, smiling.

"Thank you so much for your perfect co-operation," he said, "and now let me tell you about my plan for our conference today. I am sure you agree with me that it is idiotic to work here in this hot office, this dusty, stifling city, when it is so easy to find some delightful setting for work. Otto is a driver of marvelous skill, dexterity in getting through traffic, and knowledge of the roads with the least traffic upon them. Suppose we motor up to a wonderful country inn in the hills overlooking the Hudson which I know about, with a balcony where we can work absolutely undisturbed, and where we can be served with that rarest of all things, a perfectly cooked dinner. Don't you think it would be far preferable to working here?"

I had to think quickly. I knew that this was the complication, the fear of which had troubled my subconscious mind ever since I had received my employer's wirelessed summons to a conference. I had feared that he had meant to inject a personal note into our interview, but had not known just how he would go about it. I knew that what I meant to say to him might mean the sudden ending of my work, but both my instinct and my judgment gave me no choice.

"I should love to go," I said, "but please do not be angry if I say that I cannot unless Mrs. Underwood can accompany us."

SPLENDOR AT WEDDING

effect. It was covered with a cloth of white satin and silver lace draped with silver tissue, and adorned with crystals, flowers and leaves intermingled with thousands of lilies of the valley, and huge marble urns filled with silver fruit.

As you know, the marquee is built on the site of the garden, and a part of the garden hedge, completely hidden with silver leaves, cuts off the crystal room from the remainder of the marquee. The ceiling was draped with deep blue satin dotted with silver stars, and the blue was repeated in the reflection on silver and crystal. The wedding cake, diamond-shaped in form, occupied the space in the center of the triangle.

Renaissance decorations were used in the marquee following out the idea expressed in the huge Moro tapestry which faced the guests as they entered. The lobby was in Italian Renaissance, with stippled gold and green pillars, while the triple terrace leading to the great hall was in French Renaissance. The hall, itself, in Spanish Renaissance, was hung with beautiful tapestries and mirrors, with huge brackets holding tall cathedral candles. At one end were the tent-like structures for the musicians, in jade green satin and gold cloth, topped with huge vari-colored ostrich plumes. Balconies hung with damask and green and gold leaves overlooked the hall, and at the end opposite the entrance was a huge window looking out on a garden in which blue and white lights played on a marble statue of Diana at the Hunt.

STATUARY IN GARDENS

Smaller rooms on either side of the great hall also looked out on gardens in which marble statuary held the place of honor. The tables, seating from six to 10 guests each, were covered with tomato pink cloths, with orange glass candlesticks and bowls filled with fruit. Twisted Spanish columns in jade gold and black added a gorgeous touch to the hall, and in all recesses were hung huge cages of parrots.

The rooms in the Mellon home were very simply decorated, the reception hall having standards of American Beauty roses, while in the drawing room were huge clusters of chrysanthemums.

The young Scaifes have left for a lengthy trip abroad, and when they return will live in Pittsburgh.

Miss Mellon became a bride on ground hallowed and sweet in Mellon memories—the former Negley farm, where her paternal grandmother was born—where her grandparents were married—ground that her father and uncles had given to the East Liberty Presbyterian Church at its inception.

The spot little more than 50 years ago was a farm, stretching over much that is the East Liberty district now. There the late Judge Mellon wed Miss Negley. There, in the childhood of the Mellon brothers, now internationally distinguished, Judge Mellon's children played.

Among those who came on from out of town for the wedding were Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon, Prince and Princess Lobkowitz, David K. Este Bruce, Dr. and Mrs. Carnes Weeks, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Tercy, Mrs. Goodhue Livingston, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Griscom III, Mrs. Nelson Slater, Mrs. Frank Heffelfinger, Miss Mary Ellen Selden and Mrs. Horace Schmidlapp.

LEWIN-NEIMAN EMPLOYES HOLD BENEFIT FUND DANCE

Nearly a thousand guests attended the fourth annual dance and card party given last night in the ballroom of the William Penn Hotel by the Lewin-Neiman Company Employers' Mutual Benefit Association. Seventy tables were placed on the balcony of the ballroom for bridge, 500 and euchre. A unique feature was the awarding of a prize to Miss Margaret Graham, voted the most popular girl in the organization. William Myers, a guest, made the presentation. The dance and card party is an annual affair held by the employes independent of the firm. The proceeds are placed in the association's treasury to be used as sick and death benefits.

The Coffee Tastes So Good Because The Flavor is Roasted In

GOOD coffee! The very thought of it, fragrant and tasteful, makes one long for a steaming cup. But there are so many coffee-making failures! How can a housewife be sure of good coffee every time—coffee which really brings to the table that ravishing aroma you smell round a roasting oven?

The Dwinell-Wright Company, producers and roasters of White House Coffee, have found the answer. As a result of 70 years of coffee-roasting experience, they have developed a coffee-roasting process that roasts the flavor in.

Special methods of control advance the roasting of White House Coffee without allowing the precious coffee oils to evaporate. These oils, developing in the "roast," produce the mellow fragrance and flavor that make good coffee so satisfying.

In the White House ovens, the natural coffee goodness is roasted to a definite "peak"—just enough to perfect the full coffee taste, but not enough to drive the life of the coffee out of the beans. Thus the flavor is roasted into White House Coffee and not out into the air.

If you want to serve coffee that tastes as goo[illegible]ffee smells when it's roasting, ord[illegible]hite House Coffee. The Flavor is Roasted In!

Birmingham Interests C. of C. Tourists

By MAX HENRICI.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 17.—"Birmingham," the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce tourists told one another as they left New Orleans, "Birmingham probably will be an anticlimax. The peak of the trip has been reached. There is little to learn in regard to waterway improvements at Birmingham."

They were wrong. The greater part of yesterday was spent on the Warrior River. A stream made navigable so recently that trees submerged by the water, as its level was raised by dams, have not all disappeared. It is now feasible to send barges from Pittsburgh down the Mississippi, then through various waterways along the gulf coast to Mobile, and thence up the Warrior to Birmingport, only 20 miles from Birmingham. It was a revelation to many in the party.

The Pittsburghers left their special train at Bessemer and were taken by automobile through beautiful woodland resplendent with the hues of autumn to Milners Camp on the Warrior River, where they boarded the oil burning towboat Demopolis. They proceeded up the Warrior 24 miles to Birmingport. A picnic luncheon was served on the boat. Locks and dams were inspected, but the Pittsburghers' attention was devoted mostly to the scenery. The Warrior runs between high rocky banks and unbroken forest. It resembles somewhat the Clarion River as it appears at Cook Forest in Western Pennsylvania, but the Warrior is very deep. No human habitations were passed except a few fishing camps. The only traffic in evidence was a sulphur barge from Galveston and another of cotton.

At Birmingport the Pittsburghers were taken by their Birmingham hosts aboard a special train placed at their service by the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company. They did not arrive in Birmingham until after dark. The city, lighted here and there by the glare from open hearth steel furnaces, reminded the visitors of Pittsburgh.

Some of the visitors desired to see Bud Peavey's pool parlor and the neighborhood made famous by Octavarus Roy Cohen's stories of Lawyer Chew and Florian Slappey, but there was no time for sightseeing in the city.

The business men of Birmingham entertained the Pittsburghers at dinner at the Tutwiler Hotel. Oscar Wells, president of the First National Bank, was toastmaster. The other speakers were Morris Bush, president of the Alabama By-Products Corporation; Gen. T. Q. Ashburn, manager of Inland Waterways; James Francis Burke, John F. Casey and Morris Knowles.

Mr. Knowles was made happy today by the action of the citizens of Birmingham in voting, two to one, to sell certain of their public utilities at a valuation fixed by him, which had already been accepted by the prospective purchasers. This was regarded as a tribute to the fairness of his appraisal.

Dr. Thomas S. Baker, president of the Carnegie Institute of Technology, had a long conversation today with Morris Bush, president of the Alabama By-Products Corporation, in regard to experiments that company is making in low temperature carbonization of coal and the use of pulverized coal, subjects which will be prominent in the International Conference on Bituminous Coal, to be held in Pittsburgh next year.

From Birmingham the Pittsburgh party goes to Cincinnati.

SHOTS and PASSES

The West Penn League schedule will open tomorrow when the Webster Hall team entertains the Knickerbockers of Lawrenceville. Beggs Snyder one of the best officials enrolled in the West Penn Officials' Association, will handle the game.

Saturday marks the official opening of the basketball campaign hereabouts. Three leagues are scheduled to open their campaigns, namely the West Penn, Central and Popular circuits.

Liberty Baking, a member of the Commercial-Industrial League, has signed Linn, former Kiski star, and Kerr, former St. Vincent's College veteran, to bolster its lineup. Players back from last year's team are Cyphers, Brewster, Connell, Baur, Thorn, Callahan, Esterle, Reynolds and Steiner.

TOMOSKY, RYAN AWAIT BELL

Two homegrown bantamweights fight it out in the main bout of 10 rounds at McKeesport's weekly boxing show in the Palisades Roller Rink tonight. They are Andy Tomosky, of Wilmerding, and Tommy Ryan, of Buffalo, and formerly of McKeesport.

Tommy gained his first fame in the McKeesport ring, but for something like five years has made his home in Buffalo and seldom returned here for battles. Tomosky has boxed all over the country, appearing oftener away from home than in this section. The pair appear well matched and the bout promises lively action.

Stanley Simmons, Lawrenceville heavyweight, and Dick Gibbons, of McKeesport, meet in the semi-final. Tiger Joe Randall, of Elizabeth, and Young Terry McGovern, of Chambersville, box the second bout and Tony Tortoise, of Elizabeth, and Charley Beverly, of McKeesport, meet in the first event at 8:30.

Six amateur bouts between the leading talent in these parts make up a card to be presented by the North Side A. C., in German Masonic hall, Madison avenue and Pressley street, this evening.

With the 10-round return bout between Tommy Crowley and Phil Goldstein, two eight-rounders and a six-round opener carded, the local fans should get a good run for their money at Motor Square Garden next Monday night. The first two Goldstein-Crowley battles were classics and there seems to be no reason why the third shouldn't be on the same order. Lynn Jordan of Johnstown meets Jack Horowitz of Charleroi in the semi-final. U. S. Carpentier and Patsy Gallagher, who fought a whirlwind battle at New Kensington a year ago last summer, box in the other feature preliminary and Monte Pirko of Oakland and Mickey Hart of New Kensington appear in the first bout.

Pitt Day's Leader In Roses Game Rumors

STANFORD, Cal., Nov. 17.—(INS.)—The Stanford and Pittsburgh football teams may be the principals in the annual game at Pasadena on New Year's Day, it was learned here today. It is understood that the Cardinals have been asked to consider such a game and will make a decision next week. Although Pittsburgh has not yet been announced as the eastern contestant at Pasadena, the Panthers are considered the most likely selection.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 17.—(AP.)—No selection has been made yet on the team that will carry the colors of the West to battle the East's representative in the annual football classic of the Tournament of Roses at Pasadena on January 1.

This was announced last night by Les Henry, chairman of the football selection committee for the tournament, commenting on an announcement credited to Alfred R. Masters, graduate manager of Stanford, that Stanford has been invited to play.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 17.—(AP.)—No invitation has been received by Yale athletic authorities for the Eli football team to meet the University of Southern California at the Tournament of Roses on New Year's Day, the Associated Press was informed today.

One prominent Yale athletic official said "We don't play intersectional games. Yale just plays her regular football schedule. We never participate in any post-season intersectional contests."

DEMPSEY SUIT POSTPONED

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 17.—(AP.)—The bell for round two of the legal battle between Jack Dempsey and his former manager, Jack Kearns, will ring Monday.

The former heavyweight champion and Kearns were even in the first round in federal district court yesterday. Postponement was necessitated by the illness of Dempsey's counsel.

TIGER FLOWERS CALLED BY DEATH

ROSE BOWL BID REMAINS IN AIR

SUN-TELEGRAPH SPORTS

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 17,

SPORT COMMENT

by

JAMES J. LONG

SUGGESTIONS coming from some quarters that a post-season football game between Pitt and Wash-Jeff be arranged for Saturday, December 3, for the purpose of playing off the scoreless tie of November 5 and possibly determining the championship of the East, are not being received with any noticeable degree of enthusiasm by conservative football men who have the best interests of college sports at heart.

Playing off ties in intercollegiate football, smacks too strongly of commercialism. It suggests taking advantage of an opportunity to rake in an extra gate, or in other words "going after the money," and the well-wishers and friends of Pitt and W. & J. would prefer to see them keep out of that class of colleges and remain true to the traditions of sportsmanship for which they are noted.

PITT has always been opposed to post-season games, or playoffs for titles, real or mythical.

About a decade ago, when Pitt finished a season with a fine record and was rivaled only by Cornell for the Eastern championship, a few overly enthusiastic Pitt men sent a telegraphic challenge to Cornell, defying the "Big Red" team to meet the Panthers in a post-season game.

Immediately the athletic powers at the University of Pittsburgh announced that the challenge had been sent without authorization and was not official. It was stated that Pitt was not in sympathy with any movement for post-season games and that the Blue and Gold's season had ended with the playing of the final game on the regular schedule.

The Panther leaders also frowned upon the playing of a post-season game here once between Carnegie Tech and W. & J., and made its views so clear to the Presidents that

"WATCHFUL WAITING" PITT, W.-J. PLAN

By JESS CARVER.

A POLICY of watchful waiting has been adopted by Pitt and W. & J., whose varsity football elevens are in line for the bid to represent the East in the annual Tournament of Roses game at Pasadena, Cal., on New Year's Day. While rumors from the coast have had both elevens ruling favorite with the Rose Bowl committee, no official word has come from that body, and until something definite does come out, neither the Presidents or Panthers are going to do any planning.

Manager of Athletics W. G. Theurer of W. & J. said last night that he had been approached by representatives of two transcontinental railroads, who told him that they had been advised by their coast offices that W. & J. was the team that would eventually get the bid, and urged him to start transportations arrangements at once.

Manager Theurer was uncertain as to whether or not the general policy of W. & J. to refrain from engaging in post-season games would be adhered to or not in the event that the Presidents are invited. He said that they had already turned down bids for post-season games with Georgetown and Geneva.

Although there has been no formal statements given out by those in authority at the University of Pittsburgh, it is understood from those in close touch with matters at the school that the Panthers will accept the invitation if it comes here.

Neither institution has made any overtures to the coast people with regards to the game and neither is contemplating any post-season game other than the Rose Bowl contest.

Both Coach Sutherland of Pitt and Coach Kerr of W. & J. are going ahead with their preparations for the closing games of their schedules, Pitt with Penn State and the Red and Black with West Virginia on Thanksgiving Day. Undefeated and each with a tie on their records, victories next week are far from certainties for either eleven.

TECH NEARS PEAK

With their own Western trip starting Saturday night, and with a tough ball game lined up for the afternoon with Detroit, Carnegie Tech is worrying little over which of their local opponents go to Pasadena and are attempting to dope out

TIGER FLOWERS

Former middleweight champion of the world, who died last night following an operation on his frontal bone in a New York hospital. Flowers won the title from the late Harry Greb of Pittsburgh and lost it to Mickey Walker, the present holder.

Tiger Prayed After Fights, Not Before

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Tiger Flowers, the "Praying Deacon," who died here last night after an operation, was fearful of the effects of pre-battle prayers upon his ring career.

He never prayed before a fight or never read the little black Bible which he carried with him everywhere.

He explained this by saying:

"I couldn't pray to the Lord for victory before a fight because I might meet a better man, a stronger man, and lose. Then I might think that the Lord hadn't answered my prayers and I might be tempted to doubt him. So I always wait and when the fight is over I thank God for the strength that brought me safely through, and then I read my Bible."

Hot Stuff! Here's the 1927 Pitt All-America Tackle Bet

BIG BILL KERN, STAR TACKLE OF LOCAL TITLE ASPIRANTS

Coach Sutherland says Bill Kern is one of the smartest tackles ever to don the Blue and Gold. He has played the finest sort of football in every game Pitt has played this season, and has outplayed every opponent. His defensive work is cool and calculated to upset the best laid plays of attack, and on offensive he is equally adept at smearing through and making holes for his own backs and getting down the field after punts and recovering fumbles. He weighs 180 pounds and is 5 feet 11¼ inches tall. He is playing his last year at Pitt. There's plenty of action even in the photograph of Bill.

Ruether, Shawkey Off Yank List

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Bob Shawkey and Walter Dutch Ruether, two widely known members of the Yankee pitching staff, according to reports, have been made free agents. Waivers recently were granted by all American League clubs, and it is said that both veterans now have been passed up by the eight National League outfits.

It is not the first time for Ruether to be waived out of the older circuit, for after the close of the 1924 season, the Brooklyn Robins gave their seven rivals a similar opportunity and when nobody claimed him, the big southpaw was passed to the Senators. The fact that they have been unconditionally released, does not mean that one or both of them may not be seen in the majors next season, for free agents have the privilege of signing up where they choose and of making their own terms.

Shawkey has figured in six world's championships and Ruether in four, while both hurlers have compiled brilliant records in their long careers. Shawkey took part in the memorable tie game of October 5, 1922, when Umpire George Hildebrand stopped play at the end of 10 innings on account of darkness at the Polo Grounds. Each side had scored three runs. Shawkey has participated in eight world series games, winning only one and being charged with three defeats. Ruether has won one and lost one, although he has appeared on the rubber in five.

Tech Grid Card Is Denied

DENIAL was made by Graduate Athletic Manager Clarence Overend that the Carnegie Tech football schedule for next fall will shape up as prematurely published today. Overend denied that Tech will play Georgetown at Forbes Field November 10, the day Pitt and Wash-Jeff are scheduled at Forbes Field, and also said the annual game

SPEAKING OF SPORTS

by HARRY KECK

SUN-TELEGRAPH SPORTS EDITOR

CARNEGIE TECH will start a green team against Detroit University at Forbes Field Saturday. Not exactly an inexperienced outfit, but one clad in the colors of the Emerald Isle. The Tech squad regularly uses red jerseys, and it happens that the Detroit eleven does likewise, so the Tartans will do a wearing of the green act on this occasion, just as Pitt had its helmets painted a light blue Saturday to provide a contrast against Nebraska's white headgear.

Tech will get its green jerseys from its freshman squad, which has finished the season. If the varsity plays half as well in the green as the freshmen did throughout the campaign, it will be good enough to win over the strong visiting eleven. And that's not meant as a dirty crack, either.

THE Tech Plebes were a ripping good aggregation, and will greatly strengthen the Tech varsity when they graduate to the main squad next fall. They literally mopped up all opposition and showed an array of exceptionally promising talent. Two of the best of the crew, who should go great guns on the varsity, were Eythe, the quarterback, and Karcis, the fullback. They will bear plenty of watching.

IF PHIL GOLDSTEIN and Tommy Crowley do not settle their feud in their third meeting in the main bout in Motor Square Garden next Monday night, it will be time to either take it for granted that they are off on one of those Patsy Brannigan-Young Zirringer, Benny Leonard-Johnny Dundee and Jack Britton-Ted (Kid) Lewis repeating tours or to amend the state boxing laws and let them fight it out to a finish. They've loaded up everything they have against each other twice over the eight-round route with the issue very much beclouded at the finish of each, and if 10 rounds won't do the work now it will be time to resort to drastic measures.

THE death last night of Tiger Flowers, former middleweight champion of the world, under conditions almost similar to the passing of Harry Greb, the Pittsburgher, just a little more than a year ago, marks one of the queer quirks of fate. Flowers was a thorn in the side of Greb from the time the pair first met, down in Ohio, when the Tiger was little regarded as a serious contender for the championship. He gave Harry such a hard fight that the argument over which was the winner still persists. Later they met in the new Madison Square Garden, New York,

OPERATION ON BOXER PROVES FATAL

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—With a prayer on his lips, Theodore (Tiger) Flowers, the "Praying Deacon" of the prize ring, died in a private hospital here last night after a minor operation.

FANS will be excused if they view circumspectly the current controversy between Gene Tunney, the champion, and Tex Rickard, the promoter. The kernel of the argument is that Tunney insists on boxing more than once next season, while Rickard insists that Tunney take part in but one bout.

Boxing championships in the heavyweight division have become affairs involving millions, as you know, and million-dollar enterprises cannot be taken care of with publicity extending over only a few months.

The public at all times must be kept aware of the fact that Tunney is the champion; that he may or may not box for Rickard; that he may box once or twice or three times next year, and so it is not surprising to note the current argument.

Even in the rush of the football season, when baseball, after a fashion, is content to sit back and bide its time for the sport page notices, Rickard, apparently a master publicist, is unwilling to let up a moment.

That Tunney should bear the bitterness he bespeaks against a man who has put him in the way of becoming a millionaire is difficult to believe. It is less unreasonable to assume that in the current controversy, at least half of the daily output of interviews are given with an eye to keeping interest stirred. That some of the publicity may be called bad does not alter the fact that it is publicity anyway. It is safe to assume that next summer will find Tunney boxing for Rickard, at which time there will be a statement that Tunney and Tex are good old pals with all misunderstandings cleared away.

NO matter where one's sympathies lie in the pugilistic whirl, one cannot help admiring the dash, enterprise and nerve of Doc Jack Kearns, whilom manager of Dempsey, who at last is to have his day in court over the contractual differences rising from the fact that Dempsey broke away from the dapper coast manager who brought Dempsey from nowhere into the international sportive spotlight, with financial trimmings amounting to several millions. Arrayed against Kearns are Dempsey, enjoying power and prestige, and Rickard, also powerful in his realm. Kearns makes charges against Dempsey and insinuations against Rickard. No one can say that Doc Kearns picks his spots, no matter what the final outcome. Kearns, in "going after" these two powerful figures of the boxing realm, both backed with heavy money, adds cogency to the report made to this writer by Mark Kelly, erudite sports editor of Los Angeles, who once heard Kearns say to Dempsey: "You big bum, you might be the champion, but right now you are no better than a two to one shot over me. Come on." In the record of Doc Kearns there may

VOCATIONAL GRID CHAMPIONSHIP GAME IS POSTPONED

Teams Groom For Big Tilts

By VERNON A. SWARTSFAGER

THE scheduled vocational school football championship game, slated between Allegheny Vocational and Ralston for the Oliver High School field this afternoon, has been postponed until Tuesday of next week, due to inclement weather and a muddy playing field, Coach Walsh, of Allegheny, announced this morning. The teams would have had miserable playing conditions had they played.

However, the poor weather was not enough to stop the grid squads of Westinghouse and Oliver High Schools as they warmed up and polished off for their City League championship battle at Forbes Field this afternoon. It begins at 2:30 o'clock. And Turtle Creek Union and Wilkinsburg are tuning up for their annual clash on Saturday at Graham Field.

It was anticipated today that the quartet of machines would be at least given a mud bath, so the coaches took advantage of present conditions to drill their proteges in handling a wet and slippery ball.

Fans in Turtle Creek valley and Wilkinsburg are looking forward anxiously to the clash between the machines of Foxy Miller and Carroll. Although both teams have been defeated, Turtle Creek having lost three games and Wilkinsburg one, a stern struggle is anticipated. Union has been unfortunate this season with a number of injuries, while Wilkinsburg has had few if any. Wilkinsburg will be outweighed slightly, the Union line averaging 163 pounds to the Holy City balance of 157. The Holy City crew has a slightly taller outfit, however.

It is anticipated that a capacity crowd will throng Graham Field for Saturday's embroglie, which means that 7,000 or more persons will attend the contest. The contest begins at 2:30 o'clock. The probable starting lineup follows:

Wilkinsburg.		T. C. Union.
Wilson	L.E.	Knabe
McKinney	L.T.	Titus
Antonoplos	L.G.	Tamarelli
Gilleland	C.	Uram
Pleneri	R.G.	Corteal
Parrack	R.T.	Straw
Raith	R.E.	Craig

CARTER, EICHENMILLER, GREENWOOD CUE VICTORS

Robert Carter, of Kalmer's rooms; Billy Greenwood, of the Ellis parlors, and William Eichenmiller, of Rudy's, chalked up victories last night in the opening matches of the new Pittsburgh Three-Cushion Billiard League. Carter defeated E. Z. Wainwright, of Rudy's, 45 to 36, in an exceptionally fast and brilliant match; Eichenmiller scored an upset in defeating Henry Jones, of Kenny's, 45 to 41, and Greenwood staged a great rally to nose out Eddie Smith, of Dimling's, 50 to 43. Smith was playing for 45.

Tonight at Dimling's, Smithfield street, Joseph Currie, of Ellis', plays George Pitfield, of Dimling's. Tomorrow night Jones meets Carter at Kenny's, Oakland.

GORMAN FIRST CHOICE

ST. JOHN, N. B., Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Charles I. Gorman, world's amateur skating champion, will be New Brunswick's first choice of skaters for the Olympic meet in Amsterdam in 1928, according to an announcement yesterday by Frank White, president of the New Brunswick Skating Association.

held the world middleweight championship, climbed up on the operating table in the sanitarium of Dr. W. G. Fralick to undergo an operation for a growth over his right eye.

As the anaesthetic was being administered the "Tiger," a deacon in his church at Atlanta, Ga., murmured:

"If I should die before I wake, I pray thee, Lord, my soul to take."

Without regaining more than semi-consciousness after the operation performed by Dr. Fralick, Flowers died suddenly at 8:30 p. m., when his heart collapsed after he had been thought out of danger. The surgeon pronounced his death due to status lymphaticus.

A little more than a year ago Harry Greb of Pittsburgh, who lost his title to Flowers in a decision bout at Madison Square Garden February 26, 1926, died under similar circumstances after an operation for removal of bone from his nose. Flowers lost his crown to Mickey Walker on a 10-round decision in Chicago December 3.

Dr. Fralick said that Flowers' death was "one case in 100,000." He said the boxer was in splendid condition before the operation and had rallied well. Death occurred so suddenly, Dr. Fralick said, that he was unable to reach the patient's side from another room at the call of a second physician before the end had come.

The colorful "Tiger," whose fistic career extended over nine years, had been a unique figure in ring history. A clever, speedy southpaw, with an attack that never once slackened despite setbacks, he fought 120 fights before winning the 160-pound title. He was 32 years old and fought all the leading middleweights of his time, many light heavyweights and a few heavyweights.

In the last year he fought 19 times without loss in a campaign to force Mickey Walker back into the ring for another title match. Only yesterday Madison Square Garden authorities served notice on Mickey Walker that he must agree to meet Flowers under terms of an old contract or legal measures would be taken to bring about the match.

Flowers wound up his career last Saturday night here with a four-round knockout of Leo Gates, Indian heavyweight. Only a few nights before he had fought Maxie Rosenbloom, New York middleweight, to a draw in Detroit.

Flowers is survived by his wife, a little six-year-old daughter, and two brothers.

TUNNEY TO ATTEND FUNERAL

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(INS.)—Gene Tunney, heavyweight champion of the world, felt keenly the death of Tiger Flowers, former middleweight champion, who died early last night as a result of an operation. Tunney sent a telegram of condolence to Flowers' wife and six-year-old child and added he would be present at the funeral.

and again the going was close. The two judges voted for Flowers and the referee for Greb, and the margin, if any, in the Tiger's favor was too close to merit the transfer of a world's title. When they met in a return bout in the same ring the desperate Greb had the edge, but once more the two judges found for Flowers, while the referee cast his minority vote for Greb.

Greb was heart-broken over his failure to regain his laurels and grieved until his death, a little more than a month later, while undergoing an operation on his frontal bone and a socket from which an eye had been removed. Greb died under the anaesthetic. Flowers rallied and then suffered a sinking spell.

BOTH Greb and Flowers were of the unorthodox school of boxers, yet each was good enough to be a student in his class. Flowers was a natural southpaw, who was stopped eight times during his early career, but kept trying until he became a good fighter and world champion. He lost his title to Mickey Walker on a questionable decision in Chicago and was on the verge of being rematched with Mickey when death overtook him.

The Tiger was a credit to the ring and the Negro race. He was a church deacon, who prayed after every fight and lived cleanly and contributed to worthy charities. His untimely passing from the picture comes as a distinct shock to the sporting world.

FOOTBALL

Tartan chances over the Detroiters Saturday.

Coach Waddell, putting the squad through the last hard workout of the week yesterday, feels that he has the team in proper trim for a hard game, and is certain that the Plaid will make a thrilling battle of its against the Middle Western invaders at Forbes Field. If defeat is to be the lot of Tech Saturday, it is going to be a glorious one.

The Tartans are not looking forward to a licking, however, and the morale of the team is high. Look for a hard ball game, against a team boasting a crack line and a triple threat man of real worth in the backfield.

Detroit will arrive in town early tomorrow morning and will drill on the Forbes Field gridiron in the afternoon.

Ten Tartans will make their last home appearance as varsity players in the Detroit game. These men are Capt. Purl Anderson, Paul Cooper, Newton Cowan, linemen; Wertenberger and Harmon, backs, and Allen, Dodge, McClelland, Voight and Mohrman, second string players.

with West-Virginia, October 6, probably would be played at Wheeling instead of here.

Tech's schedule will be as follows: September 29, Westminster at home; October 6, West Virginia, likely at Wheeling; October 13, game with a strong eleven new to the local fans, at Forbes Field; October 20, Wash-Jeff at Forbes Field; October 27, Pitt at stadium; November 3, permanently open; November 10, Georgetown, at Washington or elsewhere, but not at home; November 17, Notre Dame at South Bend, and November 24, New York University at Forbes Field.

The Pitt schedule follows: September 29, Thiel at stadium; October 6, Bethany at stadium; October 13, West Virginia at stadium; October 20, Allegheny at stadium; October 27, Carnegie Tech at stadium; November 3, Syracuse at stadium; November 10, Wash-Jeff at stadium; November 17, Nebraska at Lincoln, Neb., and November 29, Penn State at Stadium.

HOPPE LEADS REISELT

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—Averaging one billiard per inning, Willie Hoppe last night was leading Otto Reiselt, the world's titleholder, [illegible] to [illegible], at the end of the sixth block of their 600-point match, in three-cushioned billiards.

Runs of seven, sixes, fives and fours were scattered along Hoppe's score as he piled up his lead over the titleholder. Reiselt shot five billiards, scoring 17 points in 12 innings, but the shooting of Hoppe overshadowed him.

SPORT COMMENT

the latter played no more post-season engagements here and did not make an appearance in Pittsburgh apart from its Pitt game until the present campaign, when it met Carnegie Tech at Forbes Field on October 15.

IN ALL probability the local University authorities are as strongly opposed as ever to tie-game playoffs and post-season games with the suggestion of commercialism which they carry, and will not countenance anything of the sort.

Not only would the playing off of a tie game look bad now, but it would have a harmful effect upon football's interests in the future.

What if Pitt and W. & J. were to play another tie game in their regular meeting next year, for instance? That particular element, happily a small one, that is ever looking for or suspecting something crooked in sports, would immediately set up the cry that they were aiming for an extra game and an extra gate. When tie games are not played off, there is no room for any accusations of that kind, and thus the sport is kept above suspicion.

IF A play-off game were to be arranged between Pitt and W. & J. a good way to avert suspicion of commercialism and to prove that the only object was to clear up the Eastern championship muddle, would be to take out of the receipts only the actual expenses incurred in staging the contest, and to turn over all the other receipts to the sufferers of the North Side disaster.

Thus college football here could be kept free from a taint of commercialism and a good turn could be done for a most worthy charity. Otherwise a play-off of the tie game in a post-season contest could do absolutely no good, but on the contrary might do a great deal of harm.

HOWEVER, it is safe to say that the suggestion of a play-off will not get any farther than those who originally put it forward, and that the authorities of both Pitt and W. & J. will reject it as something not conducive to the best interests of college football.

But participation by Pitt, as is reported possible, in the annual Tournament of Roses game at Pasadena, Cal., on New Year's Day, is a vastly different proposition. That is not a play-off of a tie game, nor even a post-season game in the ordinary sense of the term, so much as a big special holiday feature in California, for which the Eastern team is selected to meet the champion eleven of the Pacific Coast.

IF PITT is invited to take part in that game it will be a great thing for the sport here all around. As the journey would be made during the holiday vacation period at the university, the players would not be kept from their studies for even a minute, and, besides, the trip would be a treat to them as a reward for their fine work during the season, besides adding largely to the prestige of the Panthers in the football world.

Let the Panthers have the coast trip by all means, if they can get it, but let there be no tie-game playoffs here unless the receipts above expenses are given to explosion district sufferers. Many football men, otherwise opposed to post-season games, would glady contribute liberally to such a game.

DETROIT WORKS HARD FOR CARNEGIE GAME

DETROIT, Nov. 17.—With freshmen using Carnegie Tech plays, the Detroit varsity was put through a long scrimmage in a driving rain yesterday that a defense aimed to stop the Tartans at Pittsburgh Saturday might be perfected. The 30 Detroit players who are to make the trip will arrive in Pittsburgh Friday night. A student delegation numbering about 200 will follow the gridders on a special train. Detroit's 30-piece band is to help the students lend moral support.

FIGHT RESULTS

At Philadelphia—Battling Levinsky defeated Matt Adgie, 10 rounds; Harry Pittman defeated San Sanchez, 10 rounds; Will Matthews knocked out Gunboat Williams, 4 rounds; Al German knocked out Jack Blackburn, 4 rounds.

At New York—Dominick Petrone defeated Eddie Anderson, 10 rounds; Izzy Grove defeated Patsy Barbara, 6 rounds; Sammy Offerman defeated Harry Scott, 10 rounds; Sammy Chernoff and Teddy Silverman drew, 6 rounds; Bobby Anderson knocked out Frisco Bautista, 5 rounds.

be a few things not altogether complimentary, but no one can say his nerve is not of the best.

ALL this winter publicity for boxing indicates the boxing men have taken a leaf out of the notebook of baseball's ballyhoo. The magnates have come to pretend they don't care a rap about it, but it is significant to note how the winter league meetings are arranged at a time to catch the sport pages without much else. Along about December, football has shot its main bolt, and along about December the baseball moguls quite cutely arrange their annual meeting, at which time the country is flooded with gossip of trades, stories of legislation proposed, and other propaganda to keep the national pastime in the public eye in the off season. These winter meeting stories are just about drawing their last breath when, in late February, more than two months before the start of the baseball season, the teams go into training—not so much to get training as to get the steam-up, the build-up, or the ballyhoo, for the coming campaign. Thus, in stirring a Tunney-Rickard feud at this time boxing simply borrows from baseball.

CHECKER TOURNEY OPENS

The state checker tournament opened at the Home Hotel here today, the event coming to a close Saturday. Matches are scheduled today, tomorrow and Saturday. George Rudolph of Scranton is the defending champion.

Business Men Will Teach ABC Economics in School.

By B. C. FORBES

MOST of us work and most of us want our children to work. The Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce, realizing this, is doing a wise thing. Capable business men are being selected to deliver talks to pupils in high schools to give them some idea of what awaits them when they enter the battle of life.

EACH speaker also outlines some of the opportunities in his own line of work. Pupils are encouraged to ask questions. As the plan calls for talks in every high school in the city, all the oncoming generation in this metropolis will get some idea of what awaits them when their school days are over. And thus young men and young women who already find themselves drawn towards a particular line of work will be able, through the Chamber of Commerce, to get information and insight of special interest to them.

THE American Bankers' Association, which has more than 20,000 members, located in every state, also inaugurated recently a similar educational movement. Bankers make talks before school, college, university classes. They present in simple language the A B C of finance and economics. They show how easy it is to call upon trained bankers for advice on any financial or business problem which may confront the pupils either before or after ending their schooling.

CERTAIN Socialists have expressed alarm lest the students be taught "bankers' economics."

Such objection is, of course, absurd. Bankers more than any other class, are interested in the teaching of absolutely sound economics. There is no such thing as "bankers' economics." There are sound economics. Unsound economics. Unsound economics mean only trouble in the end for bankers and for other business men.

It can be accepted as certain, therefore, that neither the bankers nor the Brooklyn business men who make school addresses will attempt to teach anything but practical, indisputable truths.

EVERY panic this country has experienced has been caused by indulgence in unsound economic action. The nation has suffered, also, from political action embodying unsound economic measures. The fundamental truth is that all genuine prosperity must be based on sound economics.

WHY has America outdistanced every other nation in prosperity and productivity?

One important reason during recent years has been the better understanding of economics acquired by our wage earners.

In Britain, for example, it is still not unusual for workers to frown upon labor-saving machinery. The notion is still clung to there that a ca' canny course—meaning the restricting of individual output—means more work for others, more jobs.

Happily, enlightened American labor has been educated beyond that primitive conception. It is now well realized here that the greater the output per worker, the lower will be the cost and the greater will be the amount of number of things workers themselves, as well as everybody else, will be able to buy and enjoy it. Thus has it come about that per capita production in the United States far exceeds that of any other country. Thus, has it come about, too, that our workers are able to enjoy an abundance of things not known by workers in other lands. By producing more, our workers reap more.

ALL this has been brought about by education.

It is extremely important, therefore, that the process of education regarding the actualities of business and banking and finance and earning a living be begun at the earliest possible age, preferably before young folks are thrown upon a workaday world which they too often feel, because of their ignorance, is callous, hard-hearted, even cruel. By getting some insight into what awaits them, and by being given opportunities to get practical replies to questions, disillusionment and discouragement may be avoided, or at least modified.

OTHER associations of business men throughout the country would do well to follow the example of the American Bankers' Association and the Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce. Since our children must work, why not do everything possible to prepare them for what they face?

W. & L. E. Directorships Refused.

Disapproval of the application of officials of the New York Central, Baltimore and Ohio and Nickel Plate to hold directorships on the Wheeling and Lake Erie, was recommended to the Interstate Commerce Commission by Examiners Burnside and Weed. The examiners stated the New York Central, Nickel Plate and B. and O. already own control of the Wheeling and interlocking directorates between the four companies would be premature if not illegal. Applications to hold directorships were filed by G. M. Shriver, Daniel Willard and N. D. Baker of the B and O., Walter Ross of Nickel Plate, and P. E. Crowley, W. S. Hamlan and A. H. Harris of N. Y. Central. Applications were protested by Taplin interests who control Pittsburgh and West Virginia and are likewise seeking control of the Wheeling to open up a new trunk line in eastern territory. The examiners recommended that the trunk lines involved should be required to retrace their steps immediately and in such manner as to secure the continued management and operation of the Wheeling as an independent carrier without trunk line affiliations. It is felt that the proposed interlocking directorates would adversely affect the public interest and denial of the applications would leave the matter in a satisfactory condition.

Chrysler Earnings Increase.

Chrysler Corporation reports net earnings of $16,321,146, equivalent to $5.54 a share of common stock for the first nine months of the year. In the corresponding period of 1926, the corporation earned $11,718,512, or $3.91 a share. Third quarter earnings equaled $2.09 a share against $1.27 last year. Exports were a substantial factor in the company's business, said Walter P. Chrysler, president, who predicted further increases in foreign sales. Export trade now comprises about 15 per cent of the corporation's total. "There are sound reasons for optimism regarding the future of the motor business," Mr. Chrysler declared, "and every indication that this corporation will continue to share in the further progress of the automobile industry."

—I—

Union Carbide and Carbon.

Union Carbide has been a feature of outstanding strength on the recovery from the October break. This stock has gained more than 25 points from last month's low and is now at the best levels on record. With approximately 30 subsidiaries, Union Carbide is interested in many fields and products concerning which the general public has little knowledge. Its wide ramifications create opportunities for extensive charge-offs, which have been steadily strengthening the position of the parent corporation. Despite this conservative policy, earnings available for dividends have shown steady expansion, irrespective of general business conditions. The balance for the stock grew from $4.49 a share in 1923 to $9.08 in 1926. Indications are that another new record will be seen this year, with a balance for the stock of close to $10 a share.

STOCK MARKET DEMONSTRATES STRENGTH

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(AP.)—The stock market gave an impressive demonstration of strength today. Buying was unusually broad in character, with bullish demonstrations particularly effective in the railroad equipments, low-priced motors, amusements, foods and some of the other recently neglected groups. Extreme gains in some of the high-priced specialties ran from 5 to 11 points, while 2 to 5-point gains were scattered over a wide list.

Steady accumulation of the high-grade investment issues, coincident with the strength of the bond market, indicated the existence of a strong reinvestment demand. Pools failed to be disturbed by reports of the imminence of gold exports, marking up more than a score issues to new peak prices for the year, or longer.

Lack of official confirmation of reports of an early announcement of plans to wipe out the accumulated dividends on Missouri Pacific preferred brought some selling into those issues after the preferred had attained a new peak at 118⅜, but Norfolk and Western crossed 195 to the highest price in its history and moderate gains were recorded by several other of the leading rails.

Reports of an increasing inquiry for freight cars and locomotives accompanied the bullish demonstration in the equipments, Baldwin rallying 4 points and American Locomotive and American Car and Foundry each advancing about 2 points. Shubert Theaters, with an early gain of 4 points to a new high, around 68, led the advance in the amusement shares. Express shares, American Can, Transcontinental Oil and Western Union also reached new high ground.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The cotton market opened easy today at a decline of 11 to 15 points under renewed liquidation and a little more selling believed to be for southern account.

Little or no attention was paid unfavorable weather reports from the South, and the market worked still lower in early trading, January declining to 19.52c and May to 19.60c, or about 20 to 21 points below yesterday's closing quotations. Spot houses were again buyers of December, but in most cases sold later months against it.

A private report issued before the opening placed the indicated crop at 12,900,000 bales and estimated ginnings prior to November 14 at 11,618,000 bales, representing 88 per cent of the indicated yield.

Private cables reported hedging and liquidation in Liverpool attracted by trade calling on the decline.

The market eased subsequently under continued liquidation and southern selling, which seemed to become a little more active after the publication of a private report from Memphis placing the ginnings prior to November 14 at 11,150,000 running bales and the indicated crop at 13,172,000 bales of 500 pounds. January declined to 19.43c and May to 19.73c, making net losses of about 34 to 37 points, and the market was within a point or two of these figures at midday.

A Pleasant Place to Bank

Many Pittsburghers frankly say they bank at the "Mellon National" because of the cordial, friendly atmosphere. Officers are always "in," never "too busy," never "offish." Tellers—twenty-five of them—are courteous, patient, affable. Uniformed attendants, stationed at convenient points throughout the great banking room, graciously direct the stranger to the proper window or office. In short, every individual in the institution seems to want to make it a really pleasant place to bank.

Local Share Prices Hold Steady

Trading was in light volume and prices were practically unchanged during the first half of the session on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today. Yesterday's upturns in Lone Star Gas and Standard Sanitary accounted for a fairly large turnover in those issues, but both were quiet in the early trading today.

Miscellaneous stocks were also quiet but prices were steady. Harbison Walker was handled at 175, the high record established 10 days or so ago. First sales of Standard Sanitary were at 104½ as compared with last night's close at 105. A small lot of Carnegie Metals sold at 12, unchanged from the previous price.

National Fireproofing preferred was firm and slightly higher, making the best level of the current recovery. This issue has been fighting its way up slowly since its drop to 19⅝ last month when rumors of adverse dividend action brought out a fairly large volume of liquidation. Recent action of the shares indicates return of confidence that directors will continue the 1¾ per cent dividend which has been paid on the stock ($50 par) for the past two years.

Arkansas Gas did not break out of the trading range of 9 to 9¼ in which it has been working for several days.

THE COLONIAL TRUST COMPANY, PITTSBURGH, PA., TRUSTEE

We summarize from a letter dated November 15, 1927, from Mr. C. A. Anderson, President of the Company, as follows:

BUSINESS

The business of the Pittsburgh Valve, Foundry & Construction Co., a Pennsylvania Corporation, had its inception in 1825 when A. Spear & Son was founded, and the Company as it exists today consists of A. Spear & Son, Atwood & McCaffrey founded in 1866, Pipe Department of Wilson-Snyder Manufacturing Company, founded 1885, Shook-Anderson Manufacturing Company, founded 1889, and the Pittsburgh Valve & Machine Company, founded 1898. These old Pittsburgh Companies were either merged or purchased from time to time and the present name was adopted and the present corporation formed in 1900.

The Company conducts a manufacturing business which is the largest of its kind between New York and Chicago. It produces valves for all pressures and all sizes; standard and special fittings for every requirement; a number of specialties in wide use in power plants; general castings of iron, steel, brass and special alloys; and fabricated piping for power and industrial plants. The Company has installed piping and piping systems in all parts of the United States and Canada.

Branch offices are maintained in New York, Boston, Cleveland, Detroit and Chicago, together with representatives in principal cities of the midwest and on the Pacific Coast.

The Company's trade mark and the brand name "Atwood" has been used for twenty-three years and is a recognized mark of quality.

PROPERTY

The plant is located at Pittsburgh, Pa., and covers the greater part of two city blocks, extending along the Pennsylvania Railroad, between 25th and 27th Streets, and running from the railroad to the Allegheny river, together with a plot on the opposite side of Railroad Street, extending to Smallman Street.

The plant and equipment are modern and up to date. Buildings consist of Gray Iron Foundry, Steel Foundry, Brass Foundry, Machine Shop, Pattern Shop, two Pattern Storage buildings, Blacksmith Shop, Pipe Fabricating Shop, Warehouse and Garage. Sufficient floor space exists in the present buildings to take care of future expansion. Machine tool and handling equipment are adequate to guarantee efficient operation. The plant is served by five sidings from the Pennsylvania Railroad, and one from the B. & O. Railroad.

SECURITY

This issue of $1,100,000.00 6% Gold Bonds, will be secured, in the opinion of counsel, by a first closed mortgage on all the mortgagable assets of the Company. According to the Company's balance sheet, as certified to by Messrs. Main & Co., net tangible assets, as of September 30, 1927, were $3,625,041.17 which is $3,295 per $1,000 bond. Net Current Assets alone were $1,165,773.87 which is in excess of this bond issue. The fixed assets, as shown by the Manufacturers Appraisal Company, after depreciation, were $2,294,288.21. Patterns, Moulds and Drawings, appraised by Manufacturers Appraisal Company at a replacement value of $1,075,000, are shown in these figures at $1.00. Current Assets were over 16 times Current Liabilities. The indenture will state that the Company must maintain net current assets of at least 70% of the amount of bonds at any time outstanding. The officers of the Company are to be insured for $100,000.00, payable to the Company in case of death. Fire insurance of $2,034,500.00 is carried on the plant.

EARNINGS AND DIVIDENDS

Since its incorporation in 1900 the Company has paid dividends on its Common Stock every year. The net income available for interest before depreciation and Federal Taxes, as submitted by Messrs. Main & Company, Certified Public Accountants, after giving effect to non-reoccurring items, for the last ten years has averaged $354,787.61, which is over 5¼ times interest requirements on these bonds. The earnings on the same basis for the last four years have averaged $197,954.12, over 3 times such interest requirements and for the last calendar year, earnings were $271,797. 81, which is 4 times interest charges on these bonds.

SINKING FUND

The indenture will provide that a fund of $100,000.00 will be set aside each year to be used for interest and sinking fund. This will operate as a cumulative sinking fund and will retire about seventy per cent of the bonds by maturity. Bonds acquired by sinking fund to be cancelled.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE

The proceeds of this issue, together with additional junior financing, will be used to purchase the real estate on which the Company's plant is located, to retire bank loans, and as additional working capital.

MANAGEMENT

There will be no change in the management, or in the policies of the Company.

All matters of legality pertaining to this issue will be approved by Messrs. Calvert, Thompson & Berger for the Company, and J. B. Orr, Esq., and Messrs. Rose & Eichenauer, for the Bankers. The books have been examined by Messrs. Main & Company, Certified Public Accountants, and properties appraised by the Manufacturers Appraisal Company.

Offered when, as and if issued subject to approval of counsel. It is expected that temporary [illegible] will be ready for delivery about November 28, 1927.

THE HOME-MADE WILL

A will need not be couched in phrases borrowed from law books to be a valid will. It must, however, be drawn in conformance with certain laws. The layman is not sufficiently acquainted with these requirements to risk drawing his own will. The home-made will, drawn without the aid of an attorney, is likely to omit some essential feature. Certain rules exist as to how the will shall be executed, how it shall be signed, how it shall be witnessed. Any one of these details, incorrectly attended to, may invalidate the will.

There are times, to be sure, when the necessity for drawing a will suddenly arises and no attorney is available. In that event, it is better to have a home-made will than none at all. But the best rule is, don't wait for the contingency to arise. Do it now, but let a competent attorney do it for you.

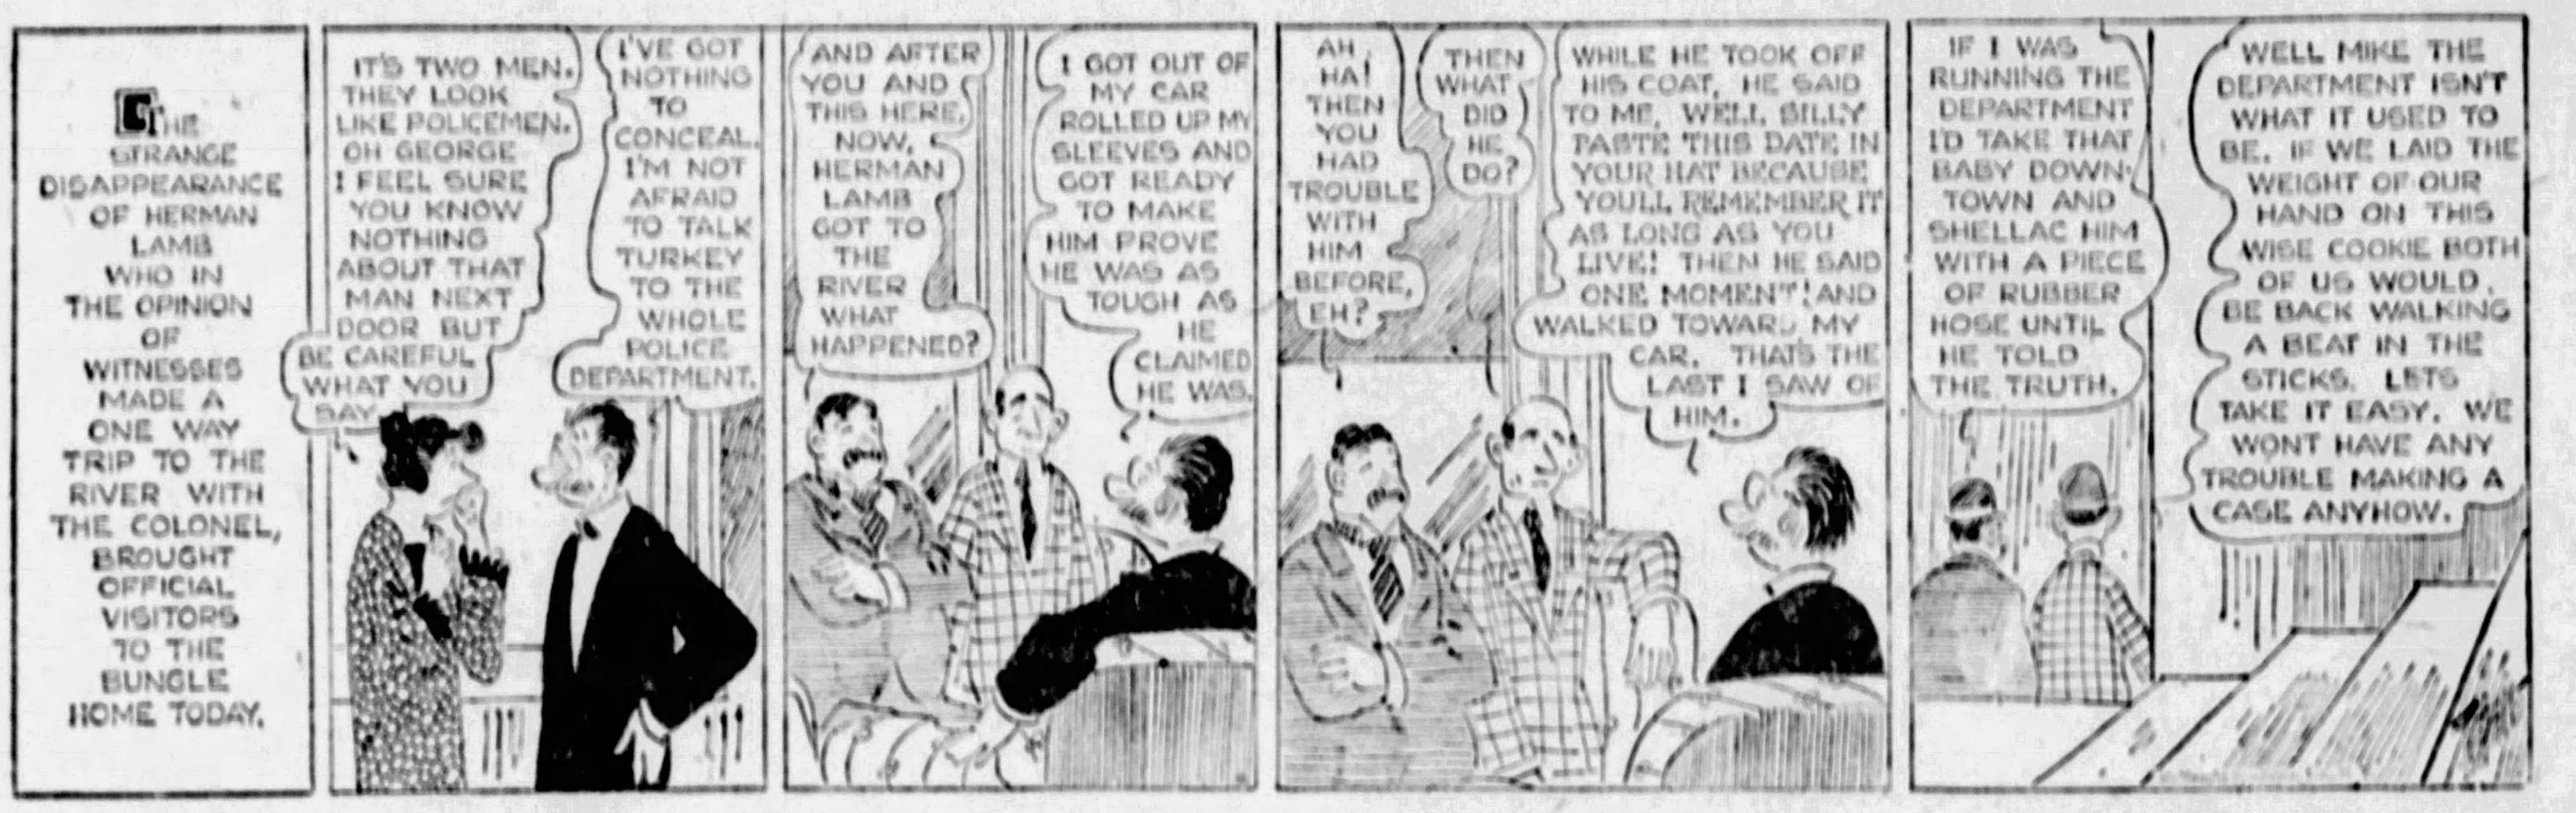
THE BUNGLE FAMILY

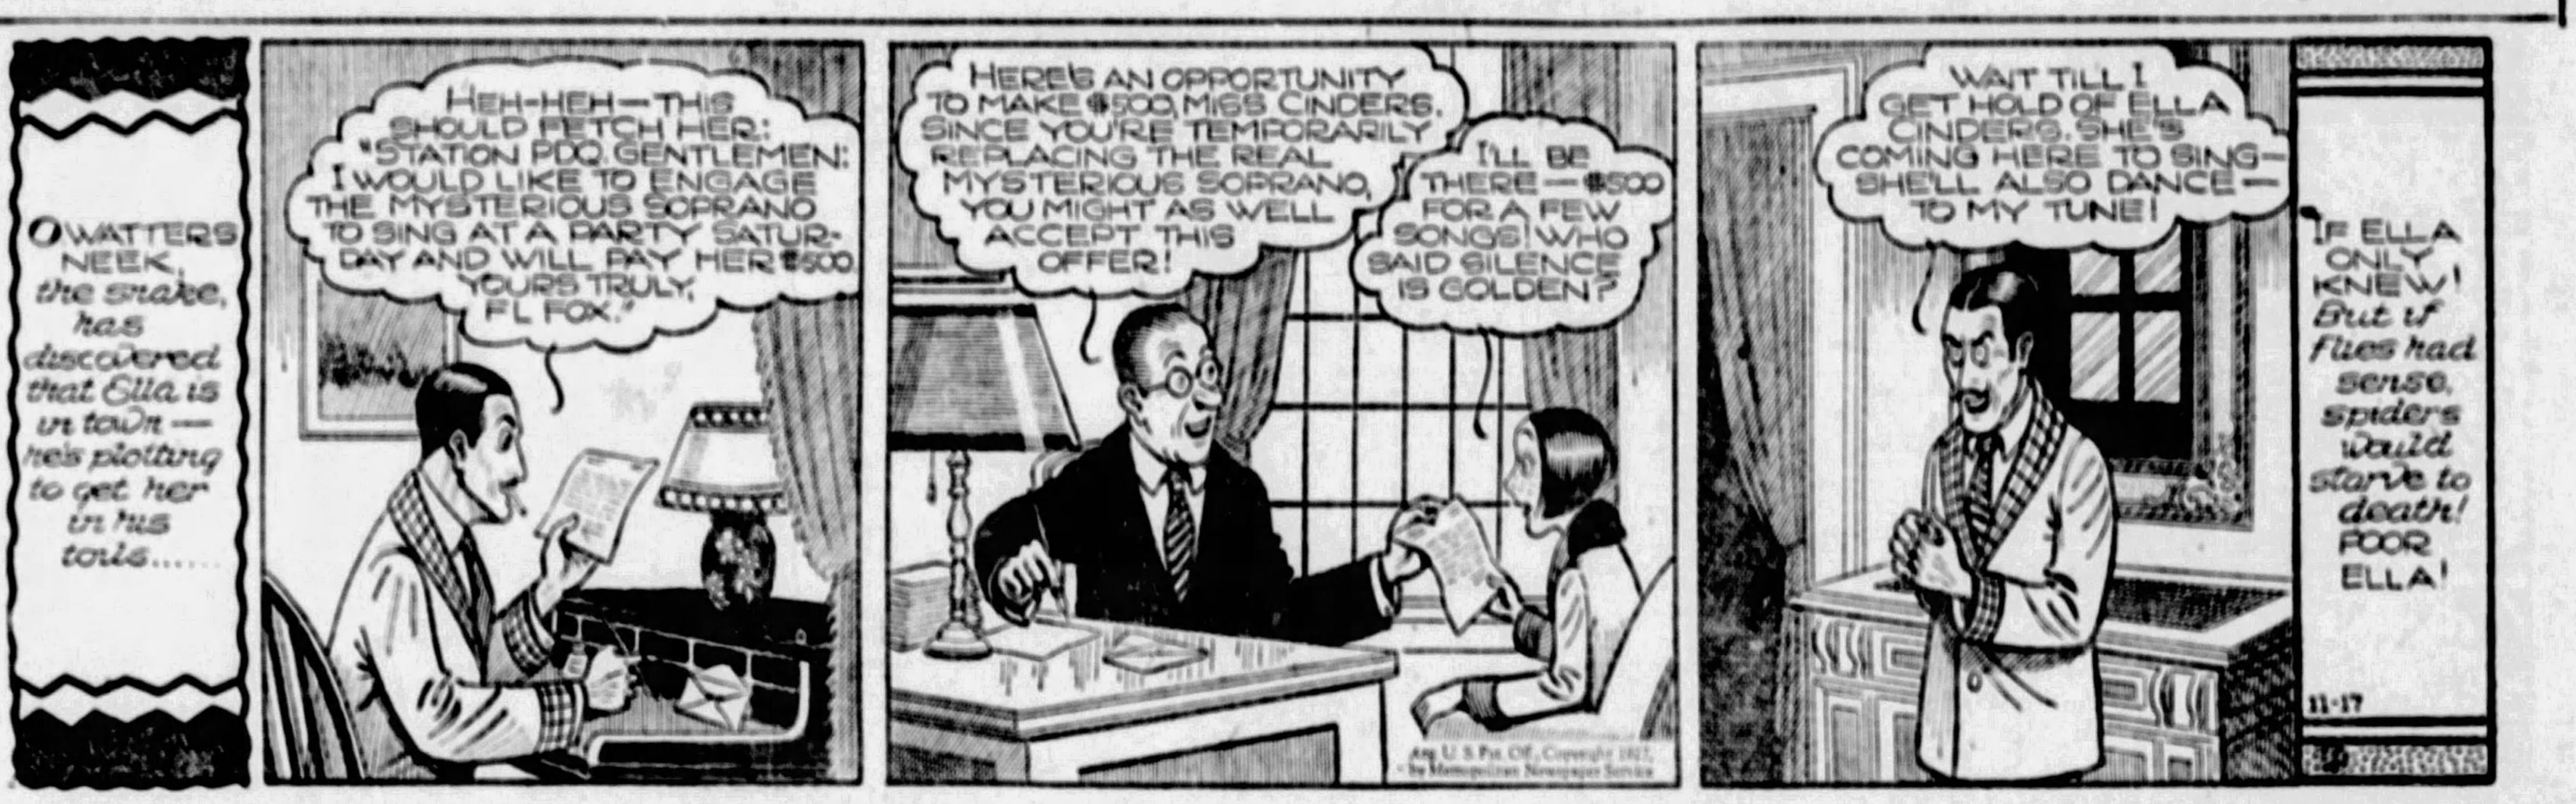
George Isn't Convincing



THE STRANGE DISAPPEARANCE OF HERMAN LAMB WHO IN THE OPINION OF WITNESSES MADE A ONE WAY TRIP TO THE RIVER WITH THE COLONEL, BROUGHT OFFICIAL VISITORS TO THE BUNGLE HOME TODAY.
IT'S TWO MEN. THEY LOOK LIKE POLICEMEN. OH GEORGE I FEEL SURE YOU KNOW NOTHING ABOUT THAT MAN NEXT DOOR BUT BE CAREFUL WHAT YOU SAY.
I'VE GOT NOTHING TO CONCEAL. I'M NOT AFRAID TO TALK TURKEY TO THE WHOLE POLICE DEPARTMENT.
AND AFTER YOU AND THIS HERE, NOW, HERMAN LAMB GOT TO THE RIVER WHAT HAPPENED?
I GOT OUT OF MY CAR ROLLED UP MY SLEEVES AND GOT READY TO MAKE HIM PROVE HE WAS AS TOUGH AS HE CLAIMED HE WAS.
AH, HA! THEN YOU HAD TROUBLE WITH HIM BEFORE, EH?
THEN WHAT DID HE DO?
WHILE HE TOOK OFF HIS COAT, HE SAID TO ME, WELL, BILLY PASTE THIS DATE IN YOUR HAT BECAUSE YOU'LL REMEMBER IT AS LONG AS YOU LIVE! THEN HE SAID ONE MOMENT! AND WALKED TOWARD MY CAR. THAT'S THE LAST I SAW OF HIM.
IF I WAS RUNNING THE DEPARTMENT I'D TAKE THAT BABY DOWN-TOWN AND SHELLAC HIM WITH A PIECE OF RUBBER HOSE UNTIL HE TOLD THE TRUTH.
WELL MIKE THE DEPARTMENT ISN'T WHAT IT USED TO BE. IF WE LAID THE WEIGHT OF OUR HAND ON THIS WISE COOKIE BOTH OF US WOULD BE BACK WALKING A BEAT IN THE STICKS. LET'S TAKE IT EASY. WE WONT HAVE ANY TROUBLE MAKING A CASE ANYHOW.

ELLA CINDERS

The Spider's Web



O. WATTERS NEEK, the snake, has discovered that Ella is in town — he's plotting to get her in his toils......
HEH-HEH — THIS SHOULD FETCH HER: "STATION PDQ. GENTLEMEN: I WOULD LIKE TO ENGAGE THE MYSTERIOUS SOPRANO TO SING AT A PARTY SATURDAY AND WILL PAY HER $500. YOURS TRULY, F.L. FOX."
HERE'S AN OPPORTUNITY TO MAKE $500, MISS CINDERS. SINCE YOU'RE TEMPORARILY REPLACING THE REAL MYSTERIOUS SOPRANO, YOU MIGHT AS WELL ACCEPT THIS OFFER!
I'LL BE THERE — $500 FOR A FEW SONGS! WHO SAID SILENCE IS GOLDEN?
WAIT TILL I GET HOLD OF ELLA CINDERS. SHE'S COMING HERE TO SING — SHE'LL ALSO DANCE — TO MY TUNE!
IF ELLA ONLY KNEW! But if flies had sense, spiders would starve to death! POOR ELLA!

BUGS BAER Says

SENATOR BORAH stirred up a nest of warm bees when he demanded that the Republicans tell where they stand on prohibition.

If the Senator is anxious for reform within the party he opened up the wrong keg of berries.

Prohibition is a ticklish questionnaire. If you have to tell your rum status to be a Republican that makes Democrats of a lot of us.

ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER.

This is not a fair demand by Borah. Way back in 1920 we agreed not to mention the subject again—in public.

If Borah wants to talk about it we will have to take him into a back room.

Neither organization has had a wet plank in its platform no matter how damp its candidates happened to be.

We hope that the Senator backtracks his demand for information until we find out how he wants to use it. If he wants facts we must give him the mumbles. If he wants telephone numbers and case rates, we can oblige him.

The rates for Republicans and Democrats are the same. One hundred a case for good drinking creosote guaranteed to be strong enough to nickelplate an iceberg.

Prohibition is one national subject which seems to be a private question.

It's impossible to view how Borah can expect a politician to stand up on the public forum and tell where he stands on booze.

You can't stand on the kind of booze that is a public question today.

Therefore, in the interests of goodwill and party harmony it is up to the Senator to table his resolution which can only result in a deadlock.

Even in case of a vote it must result in a tie. For while the ayes may have it, the noes know where to get it.

So we trust that Senator Borah postpones his solitary inquiry until the 1928 election is in the bag.

He pokes the Republicans in the ribs and makes the Democrats laugh. And unless he stops that filibustering the first thing he knows the Republicans will assign him to shore duty with Admiral Magruder.

The Way to Find People's Stand on Prohibition

Senator Borah is perfectly right in demanding an expression of the nation's opinion as to the prohibition amendment and the Volstead act.

It is, as he says, the burning issue of the day, overshadowing all others.

He is perfectly right in stating that:

"Under proper leadership, the people of the United States will enforce any law which they are unwilling to repeal. Under proper leadership they will repeal any law which they are unwilling to enforce."

Now, how are we going to find out whether the people want the law repealed or whether they want it enforced?

Senator Borah calls on the Republican party to stand four-square for the ruthless enforcement of the prohibition amendment as defined by the Volstead act. Then, he figures, the votes for and against the Republican party will be an expression of the nation's will for and against prohibition.

We cannot agree with Senator Borah as to his method of finding out the people's will.

In the first place, it is unthinkable that either the Republican or Democratic party will come out flatly for or against thorough and ruthless enforcement of prohibition by means of the army of Federal spies and detectives which would be necessary.

The Republican party is going to pussyfoot on prohibition because, among other things, it wants the votes of wets in big cities. The Republicans figure that they will get the votes of northern drys without a special effort.

Similarly, the Democratic party is going to pussyfoot on the subject of prohibition because, among other things, it wants the votes of western and southern drys. It figures that, without special effort, it will get the votes of wets in the big eastern cities.

Even if the impossible were to happen, even if one party were to come out for prohibition and one against it, the vote would not be a conclusive expression of the opinion of the American people. They would be voting on another thing as well as prohibition. They would be voting on farm relief, tariff, League of Nations, tax reform schemes, and all the other complications that are mixed up in party platforms.

There is just one way to get a definite, incontestable expression of the people on this question.

That way is to have a national referendum, in a special election, dealing with this subject alone.

Throughout much of the country the local authorities do not believe that the people want prohibition continued, so the authorities are not enforcing it. They will not enforce it until it is proved to them that the people do want enforcement.

Let's get this proof in a national referendum, and then proceed accordingly—either to enforce the amendment up to the hilt or to modify it so that it will be acceptable to the people.

Senator Borah could do a great national service if he would put himself back of this practical means of ascertaining the people's will.

A National Program Of Better Roads Needed

The Federal Government now contributes, in a piecemeal and haphazard way, to improvement of the highways of the nation.

What we need is the adoption of a nation-wide network of hard-surfaced roads as a program to which the Government is committed and to which it will annually make large appropriations.

The program to be adopted could profitably follow the lines of the Holaday Bill for Transcontinental Hard-Surface Highways, which was introduced in Congress last February. The Holaday bill provides that a connected and comprehensive system of hard-surface roads shall be built by the United States:

Right now, while we live;
On the straightest line practicable;
Of the best hard-surface type available;
Wide enough to accommodate the present and reasonably anticipated future traffic;
Strong enough to carry all proper traffic in peace or in war.

It is proposed that there shall be direct trunk line hard-surface roads from the national capital to each State capital and from each State capital to every adjacent State capital and between all large cities, and that there shall be great unbroken and direct transcontinental hard-surface highways.

These are fine suggestions for the ultimate great program to which Congress should commit itself. In addition, it should at once vote funds for the speediest possible completion of one hard-surface transcontinental highway. This will serve as a model and example of what the people will ultimately enjoy in nation-wide facilities for modern transportation.

Nobody needs to argue to the American people the productivity of such an investment by the Government. It will pay for itself many times in increase in trade and property values. It will pay for itself still more in the intangible advantages that will spring from the ability of the people to get about the country, to know its resources and its inhabitants and to drink from the fountain of patriotism by learning to appreciate this land of ours.

This year the Federal appropriation for roads is $71,000,000. In the good old days of the World War we were shooting off $34,000,000 of money a day. That is, our present annual appropriation for good roads would then have lasted only two days and a few hours.

We can afford more money for this most constructive of purposes. Let's spend it after agreeing upon a nation-wide Hard Roads Program to be achieved.

What of Boasted Freedom?

Louis Wolheim, famous caveman actor of the screen, hired a physiognomical landscape gardener to go over his face and make some improvements hither and yon. His face was not exactly his misfortune, but he thought he could see room for some sheik improvements.

Heretofore it has been the theory that a man's face was his own and he could do what he wanted to with it, but Louis has been enjoined by a company of film producers from making any changes whatsoever. Louis will probably join those who are now saying this is a heck of a free country.

Indians in Histories

Representatives of twenty tribes of American Indians have met and demanded changes in the published histories of the frontier wars. They claim to have been wrongfully pictured as murderous, wicked, ungrateful and irresponsible.

Inasmuch as they are really the only 100 per cent Americans numbered among our population, some attention will have to be paid to them. Another reason that they may receive some consideration now, if never before, is that many of them are oil millionaires.

A Job for a Girl

By DR. FRANK CRANE

OUT in Omaha there is a girl named Josephine Platner who is in charge of what is called "The Free Building Service."

She is the daughter of a lumberman and gives advice to people contemplating erecting houses.

One's interest is always intrigued by anyone who develops a new kind of business and walks in untrodden paths.

Miss Platner's occupation is certainly a new one. She is not working for her father's lumber concern and she is not seeking directly to make money.

Her services are absolutely free and her intention is to enable people to build better homes.

Of course such service will benefit the building trades eventually, but only very indirectly.

She consults with her clients as to the best plot of ground to buy, the best materials to use in the house, the plans of the house, the proper selection of an architect or contractor, the construction of an ideal kitchen, and so on.

Many of those who have been confronted with the problem of erecting a home are conscious of their ignorance and inexperience. They know nothing about real estate nor about the building of houses. House building is an old trade and one which has certain definite requirements.

The customer is at the mercy often of those shoddy builders who build houses merely to sell. By means of this bureau he is instructed as to the best tests for the proper house and is enabled to make use of valuable information as he sets about his task.

Miss Platner wanted to be an architect, but she gravitated into this business and is now of more use to the city and community by her efforts. Her father backs her. He considers that her endeavors in the long run will redound to the advantage of his lumber business.

People certainly need advice as to building houses. So many houses are put up that are useless and inefficient that every one ought to have access to the general information upon the subject.

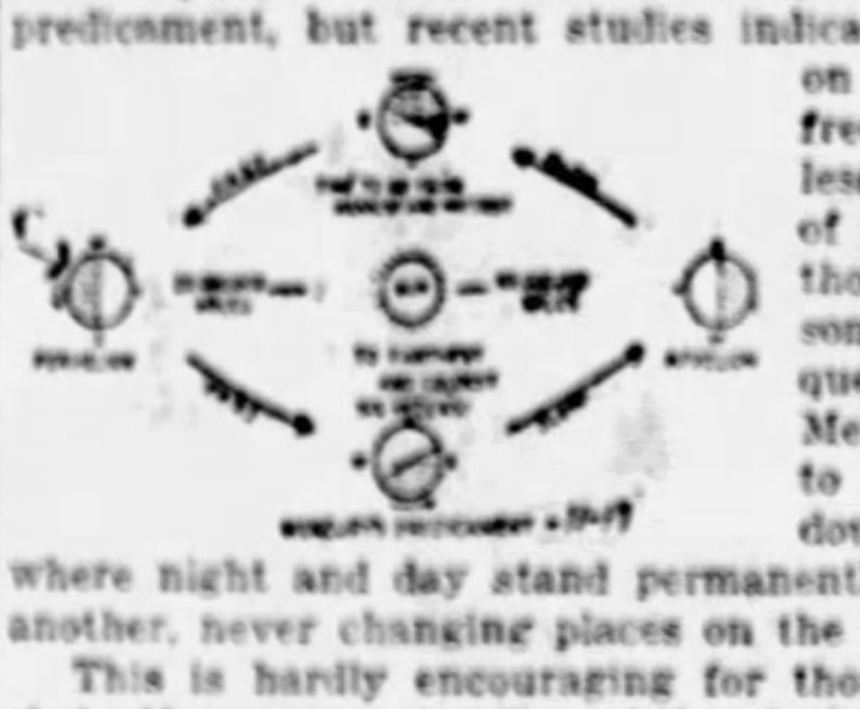
Garrett P Serviss Says:

Half-and-Half World

THE planet Mercury, which crossed the sun's disk on November 10, and so drew fresh attention to itself—though such transits are not excessively rare—has just been studied again by the French Astronomer Antoniadi with reference to its peculiar rotation on its axis. The length of its day, considered as the period of one complete rotation, accords with the length of its year, or the period of one complete rotation around the sun.

The inevitable result of this is that one side of the planet is forever in the sunshine and the other side forever in the shadow of night. It is a condition resembling that of the moon with respect to the earth; for the moon by turning once a month on its axis keeps the same side always toward the earth.



The planet Venus was once thought to be in a similar predicament, but recent studies indicate that she turns on her axis with a frequency more or less resembling that of the earth, although there is still some doubt on the question. But with Mercury there seems to be no possible doubt; it is a world where night and day stand permanently opposite to one another, never changing places on the planet's surface.

This is hardly encouraging for those who would include Mercury among the inhabited planets; although, to be sure, it is not for us, with our strictly limited experience of the possibilities of life, to say just where the principle of adjustment in this matter ceases to work. We see the worlds circling in space around us, but of their peopling we have no knowledge.

The predicament of Mercury is easily illustrated, and it affords an interesting geometrical figure, which shows us that, after all, there are certain regions that escape the fate allotted to the greater part of that planet's surface. This arises from the great eccentricity of Mercury's orbit, which causes the planet alternately to approach to about 28,500,000 miles from the sun and to recede to about 43,350,000 miles. And the change from one extreme to the other takes only about six weeks.

Now, the rotation of Mercury, like the earth's, is performed with a uniform speed, but the speed of its revolution around the sun varies greatly with the varying distance. The result is indicated by our diagram. Start with the planet in perihelion, and let the little cross indicate a fixed location on its surface, which at the time is directly under the sun. The planet moves around the sun from west to east and rotates the same way, but since it is in that part of its orbit nearest the sun its orbital motion is fast, and by the time it has rotated one-quarter on its axis, it has been carried more than one-quarter around the orbit, so that in its second position the cross is no longer directly under the sun and the region of daylight has swept considerably around toward the west. But as the planet continues on towar aphelion the orbital motion becomes slower, though the rotation continues, uniform, so that at aphelion things are readjusted, with the cross once more under the sun.

There is not space here to follow the planet by description all around its orbit, but the diagram enables the reader to do it for himself, and he will see how, and why, between aphelion and perihelion the daylight line is shifted toward the east, but when perihelion is reached there is once more accordance of the two motions with the cross again under the sun.

The result must be the existence on Mercury of two regions, one along the east, the other along the west edge, where the sun alternately rises and sets once during every revolution. These regions are lune-shaped, widest at the equator and vanishing at the poles.

Once Overs

Good Intentions

SOMETIMES you feel generous and helpful.

At other times you are downhearted and antagonistic toward those who have reason to think they should receive your help.

When you are in good spirits there seems to be much in life.

You bask in the pleasure you get from your joyful thoughts of what you would like to do and what you will do for others.

Your imagination has full play, but when it comes to carrying out some of these good impulses you become inactive.

Go ahead and do some of the things your better self prompts you to do and it will have a permanent effect on your joy.

There is always reflected pleasure in a good act.

The happiness you carry to others will create thoughts that will help you over many of the rough spots of life.

Most of us have not done enough good during our lives to bring us consoling and happy recollections at times when we need them.

And there are such times in the lives of nearly every person.

Tales that are Told

They Were Safe

MR. SCRINGER would persist in wearing his suits until the last possible moment, with the result that he found himself continually in argument with his wife.

Strolling down a fashionable thoroughfare one afternoon, they happened to pass a modern Beau Brummel.

"There!" exclaimed Mrs. Scringer. "Why don't you dress like that?"

"I am far too intelligent," replied her husband proudly.

At that moment Mrs. Scringer caught sight of a beggar and his wife in the gutter.

"Then thank goodness your intelligence isn't increasing," she snapped, "or we should be like those poor people."—London Answers.

Sheer Strength

ANGELA came in from the garden breathless with excitement and ran straight in to her father.

"Oh, daddie," she cried, "do come and look what I've done!"

She tripped out to the garden with her father following obediently. He was very fond of his little daughter.

"There," she said, "look! I pulled up that weed all by myself."

Her parent regarded his only chrysanthemum sorrowfully.

"You are strong," he ventured at last.

"Yes, aren't I?" enthused the little girl. "And the whole world was hanging on to the other end!"

Didn't Know Him!

A BARRISTER, who was extremely severe in his manner of tackling witnesses, often failed to bring out an appropriate answer because he did not put himself on the same verbal plane as his witness.

"Did you speak too jocosely?" he asked one man.

"I don't know him," was the answer.

The barrister repeated the question with increased severity of manner.

"Did you speak too jocosely?"

"I tell you," said the witness angrily, "I don't know Joe Cosely."—London Answers.

Salary for Mamma?

IN SEVERAL of the states this fall another jolt is being cooked up for poor papa, the old bird who has become so famous in song and story. The particular shock for him this time is a movement for salaries for housewives.

The old man has one grim satisfaction these days, and that is that his pay envelope will go only so far. By the time the various agencies get through with it there is, in most cases, no salary left for himself.

However, chivalry is not quite dead, and poor papa may, in most cases, prefer to pay mamma her salary and let the others wait.

New York Day by Day

by O.O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Times Square is supposed to be the most sophisticated strip of territory in Manhattan—and perhaps is. It is the open forum certainly for all the wise-acres and sure-thing boys who live by their wits. And is the pivotal point for winking ladies.

Every type of grafter—from the thimble rigger to the pompous promoter—may be found along its curbs. There are scores of those Bennies and Eddies so freshly barbered and certain the world is their oyster. Also, painted girls who publicly sneer at men they secretly support.

Times Square regulars talk in big terms. If they win a ten-spot playing the ponies, they tell the same evening of cleaning up "a grand." All know Lee, Jake and Flo "personally." In fact they slipped those producers most of their "wow" ideas.

The real guys to them are those millionaire kids who cut a swath until papas cart them off to play with spools in a sanitarium. Times Square, never spending, worships a spender. It is a hard-boiled area generously streaked with a mawkish sentimentality.

The denizens love to shed a few crocodile tears over a home-and-mother song in a soggy cabaret among these types to help some one over a rough spot and you will find they were that very morning "caught in the market."

Times Square is a paradise for those who look upon honest labor as the gesture of boobs. And there is no denying that somehow or other they manage to live year after year, eating regularly and wearing the niftiest of clothes without once turning their hands to toil.

They have no friends. Everybody is "a pal"—the sort that would go the limit just for them. There are people who, if they hang around the neighborhood long enough, acquire "the Times Square look." They are whetted to a certain sharpness that means no good for a sucker.

The celebrity banner game gyp has about passed out. Nobody wants to sit around and hear a lot of dull speeches about Mr. Whozis anymore. It was all right when good liquor was plentiful and men could tune up so that almost every speech sounded all right and it offered a good excuse for a night out. There were several men who made from $10,000 to $20,000 a year promoting dinners for whatever celebrity—real or near—who would stand for it. It is now a dead racket.

There is difficulty, too, in securing a capable speaker for the evening. Irvin Cobb will seldom appear anymore. Will Rogers is not here. Indeed New York seems to have only long winded bores left.

Perspective

IF YOU can see the world aright, its charity, its mirth, you'll find it far more glad, more bright, than is your thought of earth. If you can glimpse the boundless good stored up in countless hearts, your trials, long misunderstood, will lose their stings, their smarts. If you can only learn to know how brave your brothers are, you will not fear all winds that blow nor fret that joy seems far. Oh, turn your vision up and out, away from self always! Look on the world that lies about with eager, seeking gaze. And in the end you can not fail to catch the message there; how hope's bright banners must prevail, how life grows still more fair! If you can see your loss or gain as not too great, too small, be glad, for so you can attain some measure for earth's all.
